INDIANAPOLIS CITY WITHOUT LEGAL MAYOR

Duvall, Formally Sentenced, Refuses To Quit Post; Has Been Ousted, Prosecutor Says.

BONDS AND NOTES REGARDED AS VOID

Municipality Cannot Do Business, Must Borrow To Meet Pay Rolls; Mrs. Duvall in Line for Job.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 12.—(United News.)—Indianapolis was without a fully recognized mayor tonight, nor was there immediate prospect of straightening the legal tangle so that an undisputed executive could carry on necessary municipal business.

Mayor John L. Duvall was formally sentenced today to 30 days' imprisonment and $1,000 fine for violation of the state corrupt practices act. In addition, he lost the privilege of holding office until November, 1929.

Prosecutors claimed the sentence was equivalent to ousting Duvall from office immediately. His attorneys took the attitude Duvall could remain in office until an appeal to the state supreme court had been decided.

Will Not Resign.

Duvall announced he would not resign and the situation left the city with a disputed incumbent.

"No firm doing business with the city will accept contracts, notes or bonds signed by Duvall under present circumstances," John W. Holtzmann, special prosecutor, told the United News.

One city bond issue already has been sold and is still to be delivered and another was advertised today. The mayor's signature will be necessary if the bonds are to be valid and the controversy over who is to be mayor made it impossible to market the securities.

In addition, it is claimed the city would have to seek short time loans to meet its payrolls. Money cannot be borrowed from banks unless the notes carry the mayor's signature.

May Try Courts.

At a conference tonight, Prosecutor William H. Remy and his assistants announced nothing would be done immediately toward forcing Duvall from office. It had been proposed that they star quo warranto proceedings at once and get the case into court.

"We expect some action from independent sources which will bring results more quickly than we could hope for by going into court directly," Remy said. He refused to amplify the statement, however.

As far as the political aspects of the situation are concerned, it appeared to make little difference whether Duvall or his wife was mayor.

"If I take the mayor's office, I will naturally continue my husband's policies," Mrs. Duvall said. "There would be no basic change in the city administration."

Mrs. Duvall was appointed controller by her husband a week after he was convicted.

Denied Charges.

Duvall was specifically charged with bartering public office before his election as mayor in return for cash contributions to his campaign fund and political support. He denied the charge and while he admitted he accepted $10,000 from an Indianapolis politician before the campaign, he asserted he returned it because he could not accept the obligation it entailed.

Other witnesses testified that Duvall promised 85 per cent of his appointments to the Ku Klux Klan before he was elected and that he solicited money for making the appointments. Many of the state witnesses were men who said they had been promised jobs and did not get them.

Defense witnesses were, for the most part, city employes who denied they had been promised jobs before the campaign.

Murder of Three Members of Family Laid to Hayes Pair

MAY FACE TRIAL DURING DECEMBER

Early County Farmer and Wife, Kept in Separate Jails, Deny Poisoning Charge.

Blakely, Ga., October 12.—(AP)—Indictments charging Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hayes, prosperous 60-year-old farm couple, with murder in connection with the deaths of their sons, James and Amos, and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gladys Hayes, widow of Amos, were returned by the Early county grand jury today.

The true bills were returned after the grand jury had spent several days in investigating the deaths of the three persons in the Hayes household under mysterious circumstances within a few weeks.

Mr. Hayes is held in jail here and Mrs. Hayes has been held at Cuthbert, since their arrest some weeks ago, charged with poisoning Mrs. Gladys Hayes.

The prosperous couple were arrest-

BY DAVID DARRAH.

London, October 12.—Old Jabez Wolfe, veteran English channel expert, who trained Gertrude Ederle, doubts that Mercedes Gleitze and Dr. Dorothy Logan ever swam the English channel, he said today.

He has watched champion swimmers for years and trained many, and he declares it is unfair to claim that they have smashed the hard-won American records, as the Gleitze and Logan swims were conducted secretly, without officials or newspapermen present.

Wolfe says both Miss Gleitze and Dr. Logan are bum swimmers and that Trudie can give either one a start of several miles and beat them across the channel. He proposes in order to show that Miss Ederle's and Mrs. Corson's records were not smashed to hold a competition swim next summer, in which Miss Ederle and Mrs. Corson can show their superior mermaidship.

"No athlete likes to see records messed by a dubious performance" said Wolfe. "The same British press which did its best to try to discredit Miss Ederle's swim now accepts Miss Gleitze's and Dr. Logan's swims without question. It is unfair to claim smashed records under these conditions:

"1. Both Miss Gleitze and Dr. Logan admit that they were benumbed with cold, which, as any swimmer knows, contracts the muscles and prevents free movement;

"2. Neither had a representative of the press aboard, though both knew it was essential to authenticate the swim;

"3. One was seen to start but not to finish, while the other was seen to finish but not to start;

"4. One swam ten hours in the darkness and the other two hours in a fog;

"5. The air temperature was 30 degrees lower than the water temperature, 12 degrees lower than when Miss Ederle and Mrs. Corson swam;

"6. Both Miss Gleitze and Dr. Logan refuse to sign affidavits that their swims were bona fide, although Miss Ederle and Mrs. Corson did so readily."

W.C.T.U. TO SMASH PARTY SPONSORING WET, LEADER SAYS

Dr. Armor Declares at N. C. Convention That Balance of Power Is in Hands of Women.

Raleigh, N. C., October 12.—(AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance union, 10,000,000 strong, will "wreck any party" sponsoring a wet presidential platform or supporting a wet candidacy in 1928, Dr. Mary Harris Armor, national director of evangelism of the union, declared before the forty-fifth annual state convention here tonight.

"The women of this country hold the balance of power," she said, "and they will use it in this manner to gain their end, a bone dry nation. If any party nominates a wet man, the women will smash that party. We of the W. C. T. U. have set out to put the liquor business out of the government, the government out of the liquor business and the liquor business out of business, and we intend to do it if it takes centuries."

C. A. Upchurch, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League, in introducing Dr. Armor as the speaker of the session, declared his organization's opposition "to a wet for the presidency," not, however, designating by name any presidential possibility.

"If the wets of New York and the east," he declared, "and of other foreign centers throughout this country think for a moment that the decent dry democrats of the south will support a wet for the presidency in the coming election, then they absolutely have no conception of the true sentiment of our southern people on this vital issue."

LEAGUE CONVINCED SMITH IS CHOICE.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, October 12.—(United News.)—Some leaders in the Anti-Saloon League are going on the assumption that Governor Al Smith will be nominated by the democrats. They are preparing for the worst.

They would not, at this time, absolutely concede the nomination, but they have canvassed the field and find no democrat who seems strong enough to shut out Smith.

Some within the league favor making no further effort to prevent Smith's nomination. They would permit that to go through and then lay down the heaviest barrage they ever directed at a political candidate. They believe a showdown fight with Smith would in the end be the most decisive victory for prohibition since the enactment of the Volstead law.

Not Unanimous.

This sentiment for allowing Smith to be nominated by default is not entirely unanimous among the drys and this point of strategy is to be considered at the meeting of the league's executive committee in December. Predominant sentiment, however, seems to be that a fight against Smith in the convention is likely to

TRACK LOWERING BIDS SUBMITTED

Computation and Tabulation of 7 Estimates Received Completed; Meeting To Be Held Today.

Computation and tabulation of bids submitted Wednesday for lowering of railway tracks incident to construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts were completed late Wednesday night by C. E. Kauffman, city bridge engineer.

A meeting will be held at noon today to discuss various phases of the work. Members of the bridge committee of city council and Walter F. Shulz, of Memphis, consulting engineer for the viaducts, will attend the meeting.

The following bids were received:

Canton & May, Bessemer, Ala., $148,838, with items 14, 15 and 16 of the specifications calling for replacement of the station platform and reconstruction of certain sidewalks and roadways, omitted; Brooks-Callaway, Atlanta, $208,048; Hagedorn Construction company, Greensboro, N. C., $219,514.25; Gauger-Korsmo Construction company, Memphis, $246,810.31; MacDougald Construction company, Atlanta, $281,829.30; Reid & Lowe, Birmingham, $291,070.80, and Nichols Contracting company, Atlanta, $296,917.10.

100 FLOGGING INDICTMENTS ARE EXPECTED

GRAND DRAGON DOESN'T APPEAR

Esdale Ordered Before Probe in Crenshaw County Missing; Cyclops Also Not Present.

Luverne, Ala., October 12.—(AP)—More than 100 indictments that will result in "at least 100 convictions and prison sentences" will be returned by the special grand jury investigating masked floggings in Crenshaw county, Attorney General Charlie C. McCall said today.

The jury probably will report to Judge A. E. Gamble tomorrow, the attorney general indicated.

Today's session of the grand jury was marked by the appearance of four men said to have been members of whipping parties in Crenshaw county. J. P. Williamson, Shelby Gregory and Maxie and Phaxton Miller were taken into custody in Montgomery and brought to Luverne this morning to testify before the grand jury.

Mr. McCall would not verify a report that the four men confessed their part in a series of Crenshaw county floggings and turned state's evidence, implicating other persons in connection with masked violence.

Klan Head Absent.

James Esdale, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama, whom Mr. McCall said had been summoned to appear before the jury today, failed to appear. The attorney general said he understood Esdale was in Chicago. Inquiry at his offices in Birmingham failed to result in definite information as to his whereabouts.

The Rev. L. A. Nalls, a Baptist minister, said to be an exalted cyclops, who had been summoned with the klan head, also failed to put in an appearance. A warrant charging him with participating in the flogging of Miss Fannie Clements has been sworn out, and is awaiting service.

Several other witnesses were called before the jury today.

Seeks Felony Charges.

It is learned that McCall will endeavor to obtain conviction on felony charges. Recent state legislation makes the misdemeanor of assault and battery a felony when committed by masked persons. A majority of the warrants sworn out thus far, Mr. McCall said, charge felony, although in a few instances he expected to obtain kidnaping indictments.

Twenty-four persons were called before the jury yesterday. Among them was the Rev. Earl Hotalen, said to be an imperial lecturer of the klan, who has conducted a series of lectures recently throughout Alabama.

LITTLE VERDICT EXPECTED TODAY

After Deliberating One Hour, Jury Is Locked Up at Madison in Trial of Farmer.

Madison, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—After deliberating one hour tonight, the jury in the case of Lester Little, prominent farmer, on trial here for the second time charged with having slain John Herrin, a chain-gang warden, in May, 1926, was ordered locked up for the night by Judge J. B. Park and a verdict is expected in the case some time Thursday.

The principal witness for the state today was George Shaw, bookkeeper in B. S. Thompson's garage where the slaying took place, and who is said to have been the only witness to the shooting. Shaw testified that Herrin was walking toward the rear of the garage when Little, who was standing in the doorway, fired five shots at him. The witness said Herrin drew his own gun after Little had fired three times at him, but said an examination of the pistol of Lester showed that no cartridges had been fired.

Little's statement to the jury today was a feature of the trial. The defendant said that he shot Herrin in self-defense and after it was his belief that Herrin had drawn his gun and was trying to shoot him. He related the causes of the dispute with Herrin, saying that the trouble was caused by the warden employing a negro farm hand that was supposed to be at work on his (Little's) farm.

Both sides rested this afternoon after which arguments by the attorneys began. Colonel A. G. Foster opened for the state and was followed in order for the defense by Attorneys Joe Pottle, of Milledgeville; Orrin Roberts, of Monroe, and E. R. Lambert, of Madison. Solicitor General Joe B. Duke closed tonight for the state.

LABOR REFUSES TO MIX IN U. S. FOREIGN POLICY

Los Angeles, October 12.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor today frowned on attempts to interfere in the government's foreign policy in Latin America and China and recorded its unanimous approval of the Monroe doctrine.

The resolutions committee, in condemning a resolution introduced by John Sullivan, of New York, opposing "American interference in foreign countries" declared the measure itself "had no regard for truth."

"Concerning the general subject of relations with South America the committee is firmly convinced that a proper adherence to the Monroe doctrine is necessary for the best interest of the people of both Central and South America," the committee report said.

A copy of a resolution similar to the one condemned by the committee was found in the possession of Sidney Bush who was arrested while the convention was in progress and charged with communistic activities.

The report declared "it is unfortunate that the manner in which resolutions of this sort are frequently drafted for introduction in state federations of labor and city central bodies inevitably leads to the conclusion that their authors are more concerned in pointing the finger of criticism at the government than they are in ascertaining the facts regarding the subject they attempt to discuss.

"It may be that the Nicaraguan situation in Central America was considered sufficiently by the authors of the resolution to base the central charge with reference to the South American republics. The committee believes it proper to point out that President Green (William Green, of the federation) acting as president of the American Federation of Labor and president of the Pan-American Federation of Labor, has already taken the Nicaraguan situation up with the United States government in an effort to be helpful to the Nicaraguan people. That, however, is a subject which is before another committee which will doubtless report fully concerning it."

Cooler, Fine Weather Seen After Rain

Precipitation Wednesday Brings October Total to Normal Quota.

Stormy skies which accompanied Colonel Lindbergh to Atlanta Tuesday and precipitated .75 inch rainfall during the past 24 hours, will be bright and clear today, while local temperatures will drop several degrees, according to Weatherman C. F. von Herrmann.

Wednesday noon saw a heavy deluge of rain over the downtown section, but the total moisture, although it put October back on its normal precipitation quota, was not sufficient to dispel the drouth, meteorological records show.

Light westerly winds today will free the sky of the last vestage of storm clouds, Mr. von Herrmann thinks. Wednesday's temperatures ranged comfortably between 62 and 74 degrees, while today's are expected to vary between 60 and 70 degrees.

October's total rainfall to date is .88 of an inch, while that of the current year is 24.32, or 15.64 inches below normal. The year 1927 has been exceedingly dry so far, Mr. von Herrmann says, and there is little prospect of enough rain to bring the year's moisture quota to normal.

Records set up at the local bureau, however, are hard to break, Mr. von Herrmann pointed out, recalling an October in 1919 that brought only one-fiftieth of an inch in moisture to the state.

Temperatures so far this month have run six degrees above normal average of 62.6, while those of September were also far higher than usual.

22 JEWISH ACTORS INJURED IN TRUCK AND BUS COLLISION

Youngstown, Ohio, October 12.—(AP)—Twenty-two Jewish actors and actresses, members of the Metropolitan Theater company of Cleveland, were injured late today when a bus in which they were riding to Youngstown for a one-night engagement collided with a truck near Welchfield. Mickey Cohen suffered a fractured skull and was the only one seriously injured. Seven were taken to hospitals at Warren, near here, while the others proceeded to Youngstown after having their injuries dressed.

Lilliendahl's Wife

Visited by Brother

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Mays Landing, N. J., October 12.—While county detectives were obtaining affidavits today from two new witnesses in preparation for the forthcoming murder trial of Mrs. Margaret Thompson Lilliendahl and her supposed lover, Willets Beach, the accused pair received Columbus day visitors in the Atlantic county jail here.

Mrs. Lilliendahl was paid the first visit she has yet received from any member of the family of her slain husband, Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, with whose murder she and her 58-year-old trysting mate are charged. For more than an hour she chatted affably with Harry Lilliendahl, brother of the man she is accused of driving to his death in a lonely swamp near Hammonton, N. J., on September 15. She was pleased, she said later, that someone had finally visited her. Her brother-in-law's wife, Frances, in a telegram sent to the widow shortly after she was jailed last Thursday, indicated she might come here for a week-end visit.

Beach's wife, Amanda; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Beach, ing with him through the bars of and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Roy Beach, spent nearly two hours talk- his cell.

A denial of the report that Beach and Mrs. Lilliendahl would be charged with second degree murder in the event of a confession was made today by Assistant Prosecutor S. Cameron Hinkle. "The state will demand the extreme penalty," he said. "We have the evidence to establish a prima facie case of murder. There will be no compromise."

Detective Louis Ludovico, of the staff of Prosecutor Louis Pepetto, has obtained affidavits from a Philadelphia pawnbroker and an Atlantic City lawyer which are considered invaluable to the state's case. Beach, it is asserted in one of the affidavits, pawned two rings in a Philadelphia shop shortly before the murder. The rings have been recovered and today were identified, one as the property of the slain 72-year-old practitioner and the other as owned and worn by Mrs. Lilliendahl prior to the slaying. The recovery of the rings is held to establish proof of the state's contention that Beach, through Mrs. Lilliendahl, "bled" the aged physician of money for months before the murder, the state will contend.

T. H. BROOKE GRAIN WAREHOUSE RAZED

Contents of Big Marietta Street Structure Destroyed in Spectacular Blaze; Origin Unknown.

A spectacular blaze which raged for several hours practically consumed the warehouse of T. H. Brooke & Co., grain dealers, in the rear of 212 Marietta street, early Wednesday night. The building was owned by the King Hardware company and was leased to the Brooke company. Firemen, at a late hour Wednesday night, had been unable to discover the origin of the conflagration.

Firemen answered the alarm shortly before 7 o'clock. Within a few minutes a "help" call was sounded and more than a half dozen companies responded and fought the blaze for three hours before it was extinguished.

The contents of the building were practically destroyed, either by the flames or by water and smoke, department reports show. The building and its contents were covered by insurance, officials of the company stated. The loss was estimated at between $3,000 and $4,000.

The fire attracted hundreds of persons during the early part of the night but due to the location of the building near the railroad tracks, few persons were able to get a clear view of the blazing structure. The roof caved in within a few minutes after the first alarm was sounded and before firemen had had an opportunity to get the fire under control.

POLES ARRESTED IN MURDER PLOT

Warsaw, October 12.—News that Lithuania has arrested a number of Poles accused of plotting the murder of President Smetona caused a sensation in Warsaw today.

Poland is sending tomorrow an ultimatum to Kovno threatening serious consequences unless Lithuania alters its policy radically. One week's respite is given.

LITHUANIA AFTER CAPITAL IN POLAND.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

London, October 12.—The British minister to Warsaw reports that the Polish government has warned him that danger lurks in a continuation of the provocative policy of the Lithuanian government, which, after confiscating Polish estates and closing Polish schools, now intends to amend the state constitution by declaring Vilma the capital of Lithuania.

Since the city is in Polish possession, the Poles will consider such an amendment, if passed, as distinctly provocative and will consider energetic action. The British consider the proposed amendment proclaiming a town in Polish territory as the Lithuanian capital fraught with the gravest danger, and strongly advise dropping the plan.

NOVELIST WED TO MILLIONAIRE

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, October 12.—Repudiating her own declaration that she, as a love analyist "knew better than to marry," Pearl Doles Bell, of St. Joseph, Mo., novelist and screen writer, today became the wife of Gilbert E. Rubens, millionaire art collector.

Miss Bell had consistently denied reports of her engagement, protesting she had studied love and men so thoroughly she would never cast her lot with any man.

Mr. and Mrs. Rubens left immediately for a motor trip through New England. Rubens is president of the Havana Distilling company and a leader in both business and social life in the Cuban capital.

Miss Bell has been called the American Elinor Glyn. Her novels include "Sandra," "The Love Pirate," "Her Elephant Man," "The Love Link," and "Slaves of Destiny." After "Sandra" was published and made into a movie, the author said: "I am afraid of love and marriage for myself, because I know my Sandras so well."

Miss Bell has been reported at various times engaged to several notables, including Count Mazzavini, Count Armfelt and Wilbur Melbourne, brother-in-law of the famous dandy, Beppy Wall.

MIAMI FORESEES 1929 CONVENTION OF LEGIONNAIRES

Miami, Fla., October 12.—(AP)—Miami is already selected for the 1929 convention of the American Legion in all but a record vote which was barred by the rules of the organization, Joe Frank, leader of the Miami delegation, declared today. The Miamians returned last night from the Paris convention.

"If the question could have been settled in Paris we were assured of a 65 per cent vote," he said, "but the by-laws committee ruled against selecting the convention city two years in advance. We had the largest delegation. On the return trip we received a pledge of an additional 32 delegates from Iowa which next year should clinch the decision."

MOBILE FIGHTER SHOT RESISTING DEPUTY'S ORDERS

Mobile, Ala., October 12.—(AP)—Charles A. Bolling, 25, former prize fighter, was shot twice by Chief Deputy Sheriff Wade while resisting arrest late today. Chief Wade charges that when he told Bolling he had a warrant for him he struck him in the mouth without warning and they grappled and when Bolling continued to assault him he fired four times.

FLORIDA AVIATRIX TIMED TO ALIGHT AT 7 THIS MORNING

NO WORD SINCE SHIP DISPATCH

Low Pressure Area Off England and Lack of News Gives Pessimistic Tone to Venture.

Le Bourget Airdrome, Paris, October 13.—(Thursday) — (United News.)—At the glow of dawn today a small group of aviation enthusiasts and several automobiles filled with theater patrons who had driven out from Paris gathered here to await the arrival of Ruth Elder and George Haldeman in the trans-Atlantic monoplane, American Girl.

The beacon lights on the flying field blinked out at 5:30 a. m. and at that hour there was no news to indicate that the American Girl had completed even the ocean part of her voyage.

There was a slight fog but not sufficient to prevent a safe landing.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The next few hours should tell whether Ruth Elder, comely Florida aviatrix, has achieved fame as the first of her sex to complete a trans-oceanic flight.

While some misgiving was caused by the failure of any ship in the path plotted by Miss Elder and George Haldeman, her co-pilot, to catch a glimpse of their plane, "The American Girl," this lack was offset substantially by reports of exceptionally favorable weather in midocean and along the eastern shore of the Atlantic.

If all goes well, they should arrive at Le Bourget field, near Paris, around 7 a. m. (eastern standard time) but the direction of prevailing winds at any point along the course might delay or advance the speed so as to make an appreciable difference.

With the exception of one brief dispatch from the American Banker early yesterday, no report has come from "The American Girl" since she soared away from Roosevelt field, N. Y., Tuesday afternoon.

UNFORESEEN HAZARDS ARISE WITH STORMS.

Paris, October 13.—(Thursday)—(United News)—Unforeseen hazards developed in the path of pretty Ruth Elder's airplane flight from New York to Paris today a few hours before she and George Haldeman, her co-pilot, were due over the French coast.

THOMAS ON TRIAL FOR HOWELL DEATH

Eastman, Ga., October 12.—(AP)—Slumped down in his seat in a semi-conscious condition, Willie Thomas, negro, 20, confessed slayer of W. H. Howell, 66, of McRae, last week, went on trial here today for murder, after his ttorneys, appointed by the court, entered a plea of not guilty.

After the jury was selected introduction of witnesses took up the remainder of the day's session, and it was predicted tonight that the case will reach the jury around noon Thursday.

The negro escaped a mob's noose last week when he confessed the slaying and involved Tom Buchanan, a white man, whom, he declared, planned the slaying in order to get Howell out of the way, thus preventing the aged man from appearing against him in the trial of assault with intent to murder a policeman some months ago. This latter trial is scheduled to take place in McRae, 10 miles from Eastman.

A. R. Ross, of Eastman, and W. B. Smith, of McRae, were appointed by the court to represent the negro.

It is expected that the Tom Buchanan case will be called immediately after the trial of the negro has been concluded.

It was estimated that there were at least 2,000 people in Eastman today, as there was quite a lot of interest manifested in these two cases.

M'GOVERN REVEALS $500,000 BRIBE

Pittsburgh, Pa., October 12.—(AP)—Walter I. Dempsey, a deputy collector of internal revenue here, was named today by County Comptroller C. C. McGovern as the man who offered him $500,000 to quit the race for commissioner of Allegheny county as an independent in the November election. McGovern named Dempsey after County Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Joseph Armstrong had demanded that it be made public.

Former State Senator C. M. Barr, McGovern's campaign manager, in an address yesterday told of the offer and said that many witnesses heard it by means of a dictaphone. First he was offered $25,000 to leave the field, then $50,000 and finally $100,000 and a state political position, McGovern said.

Defeated for the republican nomination for comptroller, McGovern, a Pinchot appointee, entered the commission race as an independent. During the campaign he charged that the business of the county was being conducted loosely; that election pay rolls were maintained, and that many irregularities existed.

Called before D. B. Heiner, collector of internal revenue for the Pittsburgh district, Dempsey made a flat denial that he ever made such an offer as charged by McGovern and Barr. He said he was in McGovern's office on September 26, the day they said the offer was made, but declared he was there only a few minutes, not by previous engagement and that nothing of a serious nature transpired.

MASKED BANDITS HOLD UP VIRGINIA MOTORIST; GET $69

Roanoke, Va., October 12.—(AP)—Three white bandits, masked and armed with pistols, held up two motorists on Roanoke county roads last night and at the point of guns stripped the car occupants of $69, two watches and other articles, it was learned early today from Roanoke city and county authorities. The identity of the highwaymen is unknown, the authorities say and but little leadway is had on which to follow up the case. The victims were Roanoke men and women.

STEPHEN I. MILLER SUCCEEDS TREGOE WITH CREDIT MEN

New York, October 12.—(Special.) Stephen I. Miller, national educational director of the American Bankers' association and the American Institute of Banking, has been appointed executive manager of the National Association of Credit Men to succeed J. H. Tregoe, according to an announcement made by the credit organization.

STEPHEN I. MILLER.

Mr. Miller will assume his new position November 1, following Mr. Tregoe's retirement from the executive managership October 31. Mr. Tregoe has been executive manager of the association for 15 years.

Mr. Miller has occupied his present position with the American Bankers' association since 1923. He has been closely identified with banking and economics for many years. He is the author of several textbooks on banking and finance and has been active in business research and educational work.

Mr. Miller is a graduate of the law school of the University of Michigan and of Leland Stanford university. He spent two years at Heidelberg university, Germany, as a student of economics, government, philosophy and history, one year in graduate work at the University of Michigan and one year at Harvard, holding an Austin scholarship.

It is expected that he will make his first official visit to the Atlanta Association of Credit Men some time next January, though his future engagements are, as yet, uncertain.

BORAH ORGANIZES WESTERN BLOC

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—Western republican senators, belonging to the so-called progressive group, have announced their intention to unite "for solidarity of action" in consideration of presidential candidates and legislative problems of the next congress.

Disclaiming any threat of forming a third party, the western senators, with Senator Borah, of Idaho, as their spokesman, declared in a statement that their purpose of banding together was based on the theory that "the republican party is a national party and not an eastern party."

While Senator Norris, of Nebraska, a progressive leader, has not indicated his desire to enter the presidential primaries, the western senatorial group expressed unanimity to support him. Other members of the group included Senators Frazier and Nye, of North Dakota, and Brookhart, of Iowa.

Although the purpose of the group's organization was announced yesterday after a conference, it was stated that in connection with a presidential choice no action would be taken until other western senators arrived and participated in conferences.

Declaring that if they made their wishes known "in a proper way and with sufficient force," the westerners' statement continued, "they will be respected and considered by the party." When eastern members of congress confer upon problems of their section, they are regarded as "regular and sometimes as active and patriotic," it added, but western senators and representatives in a similar conference seem to be regarded as "irregular, insurgent and radical."

This view is based on the assumption, declared the announcement, among some easterners that "republican policies can only originate within certain territory and republican policies can emanate only from certain quarters." The western senators "do not desire to intrude unnecessarily upon this idea," it added, but "feel that a reasonable degree of solidarity with reference to western interests and problems will help for a better understanding."

The west has its problems, such as agricultural relief, it said, "which seem more vital to us than they are to the east." Senator Borah also declared that the conferences of the western group were not closed to eastern members of congress and on nonpartisan matters would be open to democrats as well as republicans.

While the organization of western senators was being planned, another senator from that section, McNary, republican, Oregon, announced at Portland, Oregon, that he will call a conference of farmers and eastern financiers upon his return to Washington to work out some practical plan for farm relief. McNary is co-author of the farm relief bill vetoed by President Coolidge at the last session.

Lady Bountiful Philanthropist, Dies in Cincinnati

Cincinnati, Ohio, October 12.—(AP) Mrs. Mary Muhlenberg Emery, 82, noted philanthropist, known as "Lady Bountiful," died at her home here last night.

She had been ill several months, the specific cause of death being given as bromidial pneumonia.

Mrs. Emery during her life had given away the greater part of her fortunes. Always reticent about her gifts, very few person knew of her benefactions, which were varied and extensive. The gifts were given with the understanding that no publicity attend their acceptance.

Her husband, Thomas J. Emery, died in 1906. In his will he told Mrs. Emery to give away their fortune where it would do the greatest amount of good.

The entire amount which Mrs. Emery gave away probably will never be known.

Mrs. Emery endowed hospital beds not only in Cincinnati, but in many communities throughout this country and elsewhere. She was a pioneer in the inauguration of new movements for social betterment and the prevention of social ills and evils.

Mrs. Emery's body will be interred in Spring Grove cemetery, this city.

COOLIDGE VISITS PITTSBURGH TODAY

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—Two successive nights of train travel are required of President Coolidge for his Pittsburgh trip and address there tomorrow at the Founders' day celebration of the Carnegie institute.

Departure from here tonight was timed for late in the evening to have the special train carrying the president reach the Pennsylvania city early in the morning. He will have breakfast and luncheon there tomorrow at the residence of Secretary Mellon.

The entire day will be given by Coolidge to his visit in Pittsburgh, which is an unusually long time for him to spend on a speaking engagement away from the capital. Mellon was in the presidential party tonight and Secretary Davis, of the labor department, also a resident of Pittsburgh, will join Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge there tomorrow and return with them tomorrow night.

After speaking at the institute in the afternoon Coolidge will return again in the evening to have dinner as the guest of the trustees of the school, leaving late at night in time to return to the capital Friday morning.

An automobile trip about the city is on the president's program tomorrow morning. He also will visit the international exhibition of paintings.

COOLIDGE'S DAY IS BLOCKED OUT.

Pittsburgh, October 12.—(AP)—President Coolidge's visit to Pittsburgh tomorrow will include a trip to the blockhouse of old Fort Pitt, strategically located by military pioneers at the "forks" where the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers meet to form the Ohio.

Coolidge will be the first chief executive ever to visit the blockhouse, although George Washington, as a provisional colonel, was at the blockhouse on several occasions before he became the nation's first president. Fort Pitt was erected in 1759 and the blockhouse in 1764. The fort no longer exists.

President Coolidge, who comes here to make an address at the Founders' day exercises at Carnegie institute, will go to the blockhouse in company with Mrs. Coolidge, Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, several European diplomats and members of the local reception committee.

RICHMOND PILOT TO ESCORT LINDY IN VIRGINIA TRIIP

North Carolina University Fetes 134th Birthday

Chapel Hill, N. C., October 12.—(AP) One hundred and thirty-four years ago in a setting of primeval forest a little group of educators and students first marched into what is now Chapel Hill and founded the University of North Carolina.

Today another scene was presented. Through a thriving college town and up a campus surrounded by costly buildings devoted to the education of the state some hundreds of educators and officials from all parts of the state students, from the university and alumni marched in some counterpart of the scene of October 12, 1793.

In that first procession for the laying of the original cornerstone were William Richardson Davis, William H. Hill, John Haywood, General Alexander Mebane, John Williams, Thomas Blount, John Spruce McKey, men who had worked long and hard for education.

The gathering heard Dr. Frederick M. Hanes, of Winston-Salem, criticise present-day educational methods as "superficial" and characterized the present-day college graduate as a "Jack of all trades." He urged selectivity in education, asserting that he believed that "human minds can be classified as well as horses at a horse show."

JERSEY TO GIVE NORTH CAROLINA CAPTURED FLAGS

Trenton, N. J., October 12.—(AP)—As a gift from New Jersey, Governor Moore will send Governor McLean, of North Carolina, two tattered flags captured in the civil war from North Carolina regiments at Manassas junction and Chancellorsville, Va.

The flags have been in the custody of New Jersey since the close of the war. Adjutant General Frederick Gilkyson, Frank G. Cole, former state commander of the G. A. R., and Lieutenant Edwin C. Lanigan, of the New Jersey national guard will take the flags to Raleigh within the next ten days.

26-YEAR PRISON SENTENCE GIVEN VIRGINIA SLAYER

Luray, Va., October 12.—(AP)—Thomas Short, of Luray, was convicted of second-degree murder here today by a Page county jury for shooting to death Miss Essie Buracker near here two weeks ago. He drew a sentence of 26 years in the state penitentiary, the maximum penalty obtaining in this state for second-degree murder.

The jury deliberated four and a half hours.

Short, a widower with 13 children, received the sentence with no show of emotion. Defense counsel made no motion for a new trial.

Dull, listless, out of sorts, feeling half-sick

IS it a cold coming on? Is it over-eating or what can it be? Probably it is Nature warning that your system is not functioning properly.

When you feel this way you should follow the treatment that has helped many, many other people. Even two weeks of it will make a difference in the way you feel.

A prominent New York physician says, "When my patients have that dull half-sick feeling I always prescribe Nujol and recommend at least two weeks' continued usage. Why? Because Nujol absorbs and clears away the toxic intestinal poisons that in most cases are the cause of the trouble. Further, Nujol is absolutely harmless and can be taken by young babies or old people."

Not like medicine

Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. It's a natural substance unlike anything else. Can't hurt you. Others have benefited from taking it, why not you?

This remarkable product is sold all over the world. Go to any druggist, get a bottle of Nujol and see for yourself what it will do. Only—don't delay. Do it now. Insist on the real Nujol. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

ARMY WILL HAVE 1,800 AIR FIGHTERS BY 1932—DAVIS

Dayton, Ohio, October 12.—(AP)—The United States will have an army air force of 1,800 efficient and highly developed military airplanes by 1932, Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis declared in his address dedicating the new Wright field today.

The dedication of the large field, the largest in the world and station of the materiel division of the army air corps, marked, speakers said, the opening of a new epoch in American aviation progress.

The afternoon program of stunt flying and airplane races was called off on account of bad weather conditions.

SLEEPS 87 HOURS AND DIES; DOCTORS CAN'T FIND CAUSE

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—Samuel S. Dalton, 53, died here today, after sleeping without interruption for 87 hours.

Death followed a mysterious illness which doctors had been unable to diagnose definitely. They were of the opinion, however, that it was neither sleeping sickness nor paralysis; and that an abscess on the brain might have been the cause.

FAIR AT MACON TO OPEN TODAY

Macon, Ga., October 12.—(Special.) Everything was in readiness tonight for the opening of the Georgia State exposition, Thursday. There are 15 departments in the show, which promises to be the largest in the five years' history of the present organization. The fair will continue through October 22.

While something of special interest will be on the program each day of the exposition, perhaps one of the biggest days will be on Wednesday, October 19, designated on the tentative program as Governor's day and Atlanta day.

For the first time in the history of the fair there will be a rabbit show. Rabbits began arriving here last night from as far away as British Columbia, and these will be on display throughout the entire show.

The poultry division will not open until next Monday, October 17.

The dog show, being held in connection with the exposition for the first time, will be held on October 19-21.

Governor Al Smith, of New York, was invited to attend the exposition, but in a letter he has declined the invitation, stating that it would be impossible to make the trip.

It is planned to have both of Georgia's United States senators, W. J. Harris and Walter F. George, and many other men of prominence here on Governor's day. A barbecue will be served to the distinguished visitors on the grounds.

Convict Recaptured.

Tallahassee, Fla., October 12.—(AP) The recapture at Toomsboro, Ga., of Wallace Collins, negro, who escaped from a road camp near Lamonte, Fla., while serving a six-year larceny sentence from Broward county, was reported today at the state prison bureau.

HOGANSVILLE DOCTOR DIES WHILE HUNTING

Hogansville, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—Dr. A. J. Fowler, a prominent physician of this section, died suddenly this morning while out fox hunting, a sport of which he was very fond. He was 70 years of age.

He is survived by three sisters, one living at Hogansville and two at Waverly, Ala.

:: LITTLE FAMILY MACHINE DECLARED MENACE ::

Of Home Movie Projector

New York, October 12.—(AP)—The little home movie projector has become the greatest single menace to the motion picture theater business, exhibitors agreed today, and proposed that films produced for the general market be withheld from "home consumption" for at least two years after their original release.

The proposition took the form of a resolution before the subconference of exhibitors of the motion picture trade conference. The resolution was ordered redrafted to make its provisions still more stringent. Many exhibitors demanded that home consumption be prohibited altogether.

Five resolutions adopted by the subconference condemned as unfair delay in shipment of films already shown to the next exhibitor, payment of gratuities to distributors' representatives to obtain special favors, "dicycling" of films from one theater to another when rental has been paid for only one, the making of false reports to distributors of results of percentage bookings, and the purchase of more films than can be shown to keep them from competitors.

The conference, in which exhibitors, distributors and producers are participating, was called by the federal trade commission for the purpose of drawing up regulations concerning fair play in the industry.

When Food Disagrees

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug-store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—(adv.)

Atlantic Silence Hides 'American Girl'

RUTH ELDER FLIGHT HIDDEN IN SILENCE

favorable that even should their monoplane American Girl complete the ocean span of 3,600 miles without mishap, there was every indication that the daring aviators would run into storms in the region of the English channel.

Forebodings of trouble were seen in weather reports from England, Ireland, France and Portugal. Meteorologists at Queenstown said conditions in portions of the Atlantic ocean were distinctly unfavorable, while aviation experts pointed out that a thick fog along the Irish coast, which has not lifted for a week, would militate against success should the plane be taken out of its course.

Sea Becomes Rough.

British air ministry officials said the sea was somewhat rough and visibility only moderately good. The French predicted a fog over the French coast at dawn. Reports from Lisbon indicated a heavy storm had struck the south Atlantic, somewhat off the course of the American Girl.

All these reports, coupled with the existence of a great low pressure area off the coast of England and France and the lack of news concerning progress of the flight, gave a pessimistic tone to the speculation over the outcome of the venture.

At 3:04 a. m.—10:04 p. m. eastern time—29 hours had elapsed since the American Girl left Roosevelt Field, L. I.

Five and a half hours after they were sighted by the liner American Banker, 560 miles off the Atlantic coast, flying at an altitude of 1,000 feet.

No Word Since.

And not a word since then.

If they were still in the air, they had covered approximately 2,900 miles, with only 700 miles separating them from the French coast and an additional 400 from Paris.

But 100 vessels plied along the straight-line path which Miss Elder and the polit had deliberately chosen in order to be in the ship lanes, and although the monoplane carried a radio with a 25-mile sending radius, no vessel reported hearing from it.

What had happened in the dark broad stretches over the turbulent ocean was unknown. It was possible they had not been seen by ships because of the fog and haze, for a plane, after all, is but a speck in the sky. British and French engineers pointed out the plane carried a Wright whirlwind motor which carried Lindbergh and Brock and Schlee across the Atlantic.

Prayers in Paris.

Paris went to bed with a prayer for the safety of the girl and with the expectancy of giving her a tremendous welcome at Le Bourget airdrome, where Lindbergh landed, some time today.

Suites have been reserved for Miss Elder and Captain Haldeman at exclusive Hotel Lotti. M. Renevoisier, civil commander of Le Bourget, Prefect of Police Chiappe and Inspector Le Fils have made complete arrangements for the landing of the first girl to complete a trans-Atlantic flight.

All Paris will awake this morning and blink its sleepy eyes into the western skies for the American girl—the plane and Ruth Elder.

BY WILLIAM RICE.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, October 13.—Although 100 ships were reported in their intended path, Ruth Elder, flying Florida flapper, and her co-pilot, Captain George Haldeman, were not heard from tonight.

But friends of the couple, although increasingly worried as the hours passed without news of them, felt that they were safe on their way to Paris in Ruth's Stinson-Detroiter monoplane, the American Girl. They felt that dawn would see the pair step victoriously from the plane at Le Bourget field, near Paris, with the world at Miss Elder's feet in adoration of the first girl to cross the Atlantic by plane.

It was 10:35 p. m., Tuesday night that the plane was sighted from the decks of the American merchant liner, American Banker, 405 miles off Ambrose light, latitude 41; longitude 65:04.

The plane was flying speedily at 1,000 feet, according to Captain H. A. Peterson. Weather conditions were ideal, he radioed, and a bright moon silver-tinted the sea. As the plane sped on its way a light was flashed several times from it.

Tonight the American Girl was scheduled to pass the greyhound of the seas, the Leviathan, some 2,600 or 2,700 miles out from New York. Slight miscalculation, a dark night, or storm might have prevented the plane and liner greeting each other.

Pilots and mechanics at Curtiss field, Long Island, thrilled by her takeoff late on Tuesday as not even Lindbergh's getaway had thrilled them, were confident that Miss Elder and Haldeman would make Paris.

They expressed great faith in the ability of Captain Haldeman, the rather glum, ever-serious little fellow at the "stick." They liked the way he took the heavily-laden ship off the runway and frankly said so, and predicted that with even fair luck he would set the plane down in Le Bourget field.

Mrs. Haldeman Nervous.

As the day drew to a close with no further word from the American Girl, Captain Haldeman's wife, Mrs. Virginia Haldeman, nervous and almost hysterical, was awaiting news of the plane at the Waldorf-Astoria, as also were T. H. McArdle and H. E. Cornell, two of the backers of the venture. They had been confident that the numerous steamships in their path would offset to a considerable extent the hazards of the unusual course Haldeman selected.

When no news beyond that from the American Banker and the knowledge that at nightfall the unreported plane, if still aloft, should be heading into the chief storm-swept area of the voyage, they became increasingly anxious, although maintaining their faith was intact.

From mid-Atlantic on toward the British Isles, according to the British air ministry, southerly winds of from 15 to 25 miles an hour are prevailing, with occasional rains. The British Isles themselves today were still shrouded in a heavy fog with visibility consequently extremely bad. This fog had not raised for a week but there was reported to be promise of improvement tonight.

While the plane, if it maintains its 100 miles an hour cruising speed, will be due to land at Le Bourget field around 6 a. m., tomorrow, real fears for its safety will not be felt until late in the afternoon as the gas supply is counted great enough to carry them, barring engine trouble, for from 44 to 48 hours.

Still Many Ships.

While several ships in the plane's intended course have radioed that they did not sight the American Girl, there are still many large liners still in its path. These include, west bound, the Leviathan, President Roosevelt, Ryndam, Belgenland, Aurania and Cameronia. East bound are the Mauretania, Tuscania, France, Pennland, Olympic, Minnetonka, Carinthia, Nieuw Amsterdam, Celtic, Caledonia, Gripsholm, Stuttgart and DeGrasse.

It may be that none of these liners will sight the plane and yet it will be safe. Lindbergh was unreported for nearly as many hours before he appeared near the British Isles.

That no ships sighted the plane today may be due to Haldeman's having changed his course on entering a stormy area, although no serious conditions were reported by ships, and instead of coming back to his course, continued on a parallel.

ELDER SHOULD HAVE PASSED LEVINE SHIP.

New York, October 12.—When Clarence Chamberlain and Charles A. Levine flew over the Atlantic they passed the cruiser Memphis, bringing Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh back from his triumphant flight. In the path of Ruth Elder and Captain George Haldeman lies the United States liner Leviathan, which is bringing Levine back after his long stay in Europe.

MRS. GRAYSON DELAYS FLIGHT.

Old Orchard, Maine, October 12.—(AP)—A howling wind rapidly approaching gale proportions tonight indefinitely held up the Sikorsky plane, the Dawn, in which Mrs. Frances W. Grayson and two men aviators had planned to hop off at 5 o'clock for Copenhagen.

RUTH'S MOTHER NEAR COLLAPSE.

Anniston, Ala. October 12.—(AP)—Mrs. J. O. Elder, mother of Ruth Elder, now on a trans-Atlantic flight to Paris, is on the verge of a collapse at her home here, worried over the plight of her flying daughter.

Mrs. Elder became nervous Tuesday when she learned that her daughter had started the flight to Paris and has been in a nervous condition since. She has not been confined to her bed yet, however.

FRENCH FLIERS DELAYED IN AFRICA.

Saint Louis, Senegal, October 12.—(AP)—A soggy flying field prevented Dieudonne Costes and Lieutenant Joseph Le Brix from carrying out their project of landing their plane, the Nungesser-Coli, at Buenos Aires four days after their take-off from Paris Monday. Torrential rains had so softened the field that the take-off scheduled for tonight was impossible and had to be postponed until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

This new medicated liquid is more than three times as effective as creams or paste, for being a liquid it goes into every skin pore and wrinkle and destroys the infection. If it fails, get your money back.

Sit-i-cide is perfectly harmless and does not blister. Sold by all drug stores at 50c for a large size bottle or direct from laboratory when stamps or cash is sent with order. Sit-i-cide Company, Desk 5, Commerce, Ga.—(adv.)

IN DESPAIR OVER PIMPLY, RED SKIN

ITCHED AND BURNED—UGLY TO LOOK AT

Healed at last, quickly and easily

Charlotte, Mich., Oct. 21:—"I have been a sufferer from a most unsightly skin disorder, my face being full of pimples and blackheads and my complexion was very muddy. It was very ugly to look at as it was red and firey and it annoyed me by itching and burning. I tried many treatments, but got no relief. When I was a small baby I had eczema on my body and my mother used Resinol Ointment on it and she recommended it to me at this time. In desperation I decided to send for a sample of Resinol. After using the sample I bought more Resinol as I was convinced it was a splendid remedy. After I had applied it four times, the pimples began to heal and at the end of two weeks they had entirely disappeared. Now, I have such confidence in Resinol Ointment I would not be without it." Pennsylvania Head Calls Atlanta Gotham of South

The same forceful personality that dictates the policies of the Pennsylvania railroad Wednesday night swayed an audience of local business men to spontaneous laughter and applause.

The occasion was a dinner tendered General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania systems; Elisha Lee and J. L. Eysmans, vice presidents, by the Traffic Club of Atlanta.

More than a hundred prominent railroad executives and shippers of this district attended the meeting, at which Governor L. G. Hardman, of Georgia, Mayor, I. N. Ragsdale, of Atlanta, and George West, president of the chamber of commerce, delivered brief addresses of welcome.

With Ivy Lee, publicity advisor, the three easterners arrived in Atlanta Wednesday afternoon in the course of a good-will tour of the south and west. As expressed by General Atterbury, it is the desire of the Pennsylvania railroad to establish a closer contact with prospective shippers and intermediate carriers of this section.

"Just now our railroad is enjoying the best of business, and in casting about for new territories to conquer our eyes turned first to the south."

"What New York is to the east, Chicago to the middle west, Atlanta is to the south," Mr. Atterbury said, "we know your city to be one of the most important transportation centers of the country and the Pennsylvania railroad is going to make an aggressive bid for your business.

Mr. Lee told his audience that the seven years which have passed since his last visit here have brought an almost unbelievable growth and development here, while Mr. Eysmans declared that the greatest industrial development America has seen since the war is now going on in the south.

T. B. Curtis, president of the Traffic club, was toastmaster, while the reception committee included Colonel B. L. Bugg, chairman; R. B. Pegram, J. W. White, G. W. Forrester, R. B. Coleman, C. E. Wright, B. S. Barker, J. E. Skaggs, George L. Morton and H. B. Wey.

The committee on arrangements was headed by J. A. Strever, and included B. G. Brown, S. P. Stringfellow, H. M. Williams, C. J. Quinn, M. M. Emmert, R. A. Foxvog, C. W. Chears, A. J. Young and O. D. Keown.

Dainty handkerchiefs that cost you nothing

Handkerchiefs, silk stockings, a boutonniere, etc., with the money you save by using Listerine Tooth Paste instead of costlier dentifrices that accomplish no more. The average saving is $3 per year per person. Think how that increases when the family is large!

Now-at 25¢ the large tube -the ideal tooth paste

There are many excellent dentifrices on the market selling at a trifle above or below 50c—but is it necessary to pay that much? Why not a first class dentifrice at 25c—scientifically correct for all types of teeth?

Believing this to be a sound price, we created Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. It is the result of more than fifty years' study of tooth and mouth troubles. Now it is sweeping the country. Everywhere it is supplanting older and costlier dentifrices that accomplish no more.

Due to the presence of an amazing new and gentle polishing agent, it keeps teeth gleaming white with almost no brushing. Included in it are certain ingredients we have found most ideal in keeping the mouth and gums fresh and healthy.

We ask you to try this paste not only for the marked saving (quite substantial in a large family) but for its delightful and speedy cleansing. Get a tube at your druggist today. Try it for a month. See how it makes teeth gleam. Note how good your mouth feels after using it. Compare it with any paste you have ever used and judge by results alone. And then reflect that these results are costing you about half of what you would ordinarily pay. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

LINDBERGH DAY.

Now that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has come and gone, having been the central figure in the most elaborate reception program ever arranged in Atlanta, it is worthy of note that the various features of the program were perfectly coordinated, and that there was not a hitch, nor a delay, nor an embarrassing incident, from his arrival until the Spirit of St. Louis took the air Wednesday morning for Spartanburg.

For this the mayor and his reception committee, headed by Mr. Hallman, general chairman, the various sub-committees, and the police and fire departments, are to be commended.

Commendation is also due the tens of thousands of people who thronged the parking areas at Candler field, the thoroughfares of the city, and later Grant field, for the perfect order they maintained, and for their individual and mass cooperation with the authorities and committees in preventing congestions, removing hazards, and in expediting the program.

It is a fact, to be remembered and appreciated, that in the busy activities of the day the hero of the occasion, Colonel Lindbergh, was at the various places visited at precisely the minute the program provided.

At Pershing Point, following the placing by Lindbergh of a wreath on the memorial to the heroes of the world war, an especially touching incident occurred. Colonel Lindbergh, a son of Minnesota, was honored by the Daughters of the Confederacy. General David B. Freeman, commander of the Confederate veterans, rested upon one shoulder a hand in which there was a Confederate flag and in the other hand, placed on the other shoulder, there was the flag of a united country—the Stars and Stripes—and then, in the spirit of national devotion, pinned upon the hero of the day a suitable decoration provided by the U. D. C. There was scarcely a dry eye in the assemblage.

All in all "Lindbergh day," which was fortunately not marred by accidents of any kind, was a great success in every sense, and the intrepid young aviator further endeared himself to all the people.

BORAH WITH INSURGENTS.

He has voted independently on various occasions. He has been regarded as leaning toward the radicals. He was with Senator Johnson, of California, and other of the obstructionists who fought the ratification of the Versailles treaty. He wanted the United States to recognize the soviet government of Russia. He recently set up a "state department" of his own, as chairman of the foreign relations department, and opened independent correspondence with the Calles government of Mexico. And yet he had never hob-nobbed with the real insurgent group.

Now, however, the Idaho senator is in the same camp with Brookhart, of Iowa, and Nye, of North Dakota. A conference of the three has been held in Senator Borah's office within the week to arrange a broader conference, into which will be invited Norris, of Nebraska; Howell, of Nebraska; La Follette, of Wisconsin; Frazier, of North Dakota, and perhaps one or two others. The object is to overthrow the administration, if it does not do their bidding.

Borah counts for a great deal in the senate. He is abler than any member of the group. He holds a whip hand in committee assignments. It is not difficult, with the two parties in the senate practically evenly divided, to forecast that he sees the force of a "balance of power," and is relied upon by the insurgents to become the manager of this "balance."

Any two votes can throw the democrats in control of the organization, or in control of legislation.

Borah is honorable but he is smooth. December is near. It is easy, therefore, to read the purpose of the new alliance.

In this the democrats should be guarded.

"Beware of the Greeks who bear gifts" should be kept ever in mind.

NO HATREDS OF ANY KIND.

There is no good ground for the expressed apprehension on the part of the bishop of London that the children of the United States are being taught to hate Great Britain.

The revolutionary war left some bitter memories that were reflected in some of the earlier histories, as did also the war of 1812. Such books, however, have been long since put out of use or circulation.

There is the strongest friendship existing between Great Britain and the United States. The fact is, the statement is frequently made, but without foundation, that in international affairs there is a strong pro-British sentiment. There is no stronger sentiment for Great Britain than for any other of the friendly powers.

Our tariff laws apply to all nations alike. Our treaties are in the open, or certainly so in so far as diplomatic prudence warrants. They are all predicated upon conditions involved on a basis of justice to all.

There is much in common between the English-speaking nations. They have the will and the determination to get along friendly together, but this government has the same will and purpose as to other nations.

The United States is too deeply concerned in domestic progress, and in living peacefully with the world, to cherish international hatreds.

TOASTMASTER BLACK.

The crowning feature of Atlanta's reception to Colonel Lindbergh was the magnificent formal banquet in the civic hall of the Ansley hotel.

With the governor and mayor, high federal and state military officials at the speakers' table, and 400 prominent men and women at the tables, with continuous martial music, and an atmosphere of exultation in keeping with the great triumph of the honor guest the occasion will go down as an outstanding event in the history of Atlanta.

The master of ceremonies on a great history-making event such as this has, under normal conditions, a difficult role to enact. On this occasion the task was more difficult because of the military precision under which the affair necessarily had to be conducted, due to fixed time limitations.

Mr. Black, as always, was equal to the circumstances. Despite the elaborate menu, and the speeches of the evening, the guest of honor was in his apartments at the Biltmore before 10 o'clock, as had been agreed.

In his introduction of the governor and mayor, who delivered warm words of welcome, the toastmaster was pleasing, but in his more extended introduction of Colonel Lindbergh, he was not only happy, but forceful, inspiring and eloquent.

He moved his auditors with his pathos, swept them into laughter with his wit, and held them spellbound with his logic in holding up the example of the young American who had first conquered the ocean from the air—who dared and won—as representing the highest ideals in manhood, and worthy of emulation.

Toastmasters are "born, not made!" And Eugene R. Black is a born toastmaster, and without a peer in the state.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL SHOW.

The National Electrical and Industrial exposition, which has been held each year for the past twenty in Grand Central Palace in New York, illustrates at each successive opening the marvelous progress that it being made in electrical science.

It is a far way in development when one compares the comparatively few appliances shown 20 years ago with 25,000 appliances shown today. Now they represent the best in man's new servant that is taking over the drudgery of the earth.

The expositions opens its doors Wednesday, October 12, and plans have been made for 200,000 visitors, representing all states.

A man arrested in Washington, weighing 586 pounds, couldn't be lodged in a cell and the officers allowed him to go on his recognizance. If the cell wouldn't hold him why didn't they use the cellar?

The thirteen-month year has bobbed up again. If there is to be any change in the calendar we would appreciate it very much if they left out the the "first" of each month.

National Anthems.

Not since 1919 have so many national anthems played on very diverse occasions, been heard in Paris as during the visit of the American legion. The "Marseillaise" and the "Star Spangled Banner" have been played on every possible occasion. But the practice can be carried to excess, as was shown the other evening in a dancing-hall of Montmartre. Seeing a large number of legionnaires, the conductor struck up the "Marseillaise" and then its American counterpart. Observing he had made a good impression, the conductor then gave the signal for "God Save the King" after which the dancers considered it was time for a Charleston. The first gay notes were sounded, but the orchestra stopped suddenly. An Italian had asked for the Italian national anthem, and the request was, of course, complied with. When at last the orchestra broke into lively fox-trot nobody dared to move, fearing that it might be another national anthem. At the close of the night session the orchestra being members of the red "syndicat" played the "Internationale."

A Bald St. Joan.

Those who are producing the "Joan of Arc" film in Paris are evidently determined to insist upon the sort of artistic conscientiousness which made the actor black himself all over to play the part of Othello. They had engaged Falconetti for the principal character, and made her understand that she must cut her hair short. In the present state of fashion that is no great hardship; but when it was represented to this charming actress that for the scene of the burning she would have to shave her head completely, she began by refusing. Negotiations were then opened with Marie Bell, who has not, like Falconetti, yet left the Comedie Francaise. It was explained that nobody need be told, and that she could wear a wig in private life until her own hair grew again. But Marie Bell is engaged and will shortly be married, and she refused to give her future husband such a shock. Eventually Falconetti consented, and nothing will now be wanting in her performance of the part. The difficulty does not seem to have occurred to Bernard Shaw or Sybil Thorndike.

Pioneers.

It is now thirteen years since Dr. Albert Schweitzer gave up all his brilliant musical, theological and philosophical prospects in Europe to devote himself to his medical missionary work at Lambarene, in French Equatorial Africa. The first years of this work he has described with much charm and force in his book "On the Edge of the Primeval Forest." He has now to tell the world how he has been spending his time since he returned to Africa at the beginning of 1924. This man alone, has fought sleeping sickness and has so far had a signal success. He has built hospitals all over the interior and travels up and down over the big rivers, inspecting, healing and building. His reputation in Africa's darkest wilderness is something that approaches the supernatural. Yet he is but one of the thousands of men who work unseen by the world and without hope of reward. Too little attention is paid the lone pioneers of civilization. Many of them are doing far more valuable work in the scale of humanity than the utterers of pompous phrases and the sword rattlers.

Want Us To "Snap Out" Of Central Standard Time

Editor Constitution: Kindly permit a few remarks in regard to all of the "ballyhoo," despair and excitement apropos of the contemplated time change for our city.

Central time always has been and will be, as long as it is employed, absurd for Atlanta. Eastern time is absolutely the only practical time for us to operate under. We are out of step entirely with all of our business relations in the east, besides our folly of wasting so much morning daylight and in the afternoons working into the night.

In the winter, it is dark at 4:30 p. m. Atlanta time. Isn't that ridiculous? In the summer we derive little benefit from the long afternoons when we sleep all morning. It is amusing how opponents of eastern time bemoan early rising, and do not, for an instant, consider the extra hour of daylight we would have in the afternoons for recreational advantages which the majority of us job slaves are so sorely in need of.

We are too late starting everything. For example, there are thousands of us who wonder why our football games are started so tardy that they are finished up in the dim twilight. Central time is the cause; eastern time is the remedy. Let's snap out of it.

MURDER OF THREE LAID TO HAYES PAIR

ed when an examination of the viscera of Mrs. Gladys Hayes showed traces of poison. Following their arrest, suspicion was cast on the deaths of their sons and their bodies were disinterred and an examination of the vital organs showed traces of poison.

Investigation of the deaths of a daughter of the couple and Mr. Hayes' mother within the past year and a half also was supposed to have been undertaken by the grand jury, but no indictments were returned in this connection.

James, younger son of the couple, was the first to die, succumbing to a supposed natural illness late in July. Amos, who at that time resided in Detroit, came here to attend his brother's funeral and stayed a few days to visit with his parents. He was stricken and died of supposed natural causes. Before his death he confided to his nurse that he had been married in Detroit without the knowledge of his parents and asked, in event of his death, that his parents be asked to take care of his wife and an infant son.

Following the death of Amos, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes sent to Detroit for their daughter-in-law and grandson. A short time after the young Mrs. Hayes arrived here she was stricken with a malady similar to that which James and her husband suffered, and, despite efforts of physicians, died.

A Detroit welfare worker was appealed to by the young woman's parents, and the worker, becoming suspicious, wrote a minister here to investigate. Her letter came into the hands of a local physician and the post-mortem examination of the young Mrs. Hayes' body was made. The state chemist made an examination of the viscera and reported traces of poison.

The aged couple were arrested and held without bond pending a hearing. In the meantime the similarity of the illness of the two sons and that of Mrs. Gladys Hayes was recalled and on a court order the bodies were disinterred and an examination disclosed that their viscera contained traces of poison.

Throughout their incarceration Mr. and Mrs. Hayes have stoutly maintained their innocence and today after the indictments were returned, Mr. Hayes denied all knowledge of poison having been administered to the three while ill.

Trial of the couple will probably take place here at an adjourned term of the Early county superior court in December, Judge M. D. Yeomans, announced early tonight.

LOOKING AND LISTENING

BY SAM W. SMALL.

The Congressional Apportionment Problem Is Worrying Party Managers.

Leaders of both parties, looking forward to the campaign of next year, are beginning to sense the necessity of dealing with the congressional apportionment question in the coming session of congress.

There has been no distribution of representatives in the house since the census of 1910. Every congress that has sat in the last six years has refused to make a new apportionment according to the census of 1920.

The constitution provides that such apportionment shall be made after each census is reported, but there is no way provided to make congress obey that constitutional requisition. Only the people in the districts can do that by refusing to reelect their congressman who has refused to vote for the redistribution.

Since the issue of "nullification" of the constitution has been raised in connection with the fourteenth, fifteenth and eighteenth amendments, the latter especially, what shall be said of these congresses that have boldly and notoriously "nullified" the constitution itself in this reapportionment matter?

The Most Mooted Question.

The important question that has come up every time the subject has been broached in congress is whether to hold the house to its present membership of 435, increasing the quota of population in the districts, or to maintain the present ratio of representation and increase the house membership accordingly.

In view of the fact that the house chamber is now well crowded and that desks for the members have been eliminated and only seating room for them remains, the idea of increasing their number is fairly impracticable.

During the sixteen years, since the 1910 census report, the population of the 48 states has so increased and shifted as to seriously disturb the equities of representation in the house.

Some few districts now have considerably fewer population than the legal ratio and many have far more. One district in Chicago has three times as many and one in California has four times as many as the existing apportionment act calls for. The consequence is that some districts are over-represented and many are actually under-represented.

* * * *

States That Gain and Lose.

Should there be a reapportionment on the basis of the census of 1920 it could not take effect until the congressional elections of 1930. That year a new census will be taken and on the basis of it a new apportionment would be immediately due.

Because of these facts it is now strongly argued that the present status should be continued and the duty to reapportion for another ten years be shunted over upon the congress that shall be chosen in 1930.

If a new deal were now made on the basis of the 1920 census and the membership held to the present total of 435 certain states would gain members and other states lose them.

For instance, California has grown in population since 1910 so greatly that she would gain three additional members of the house. Michigan and Ohio would gain two each, while Connecticut, New Jersey, North Carolina, Texas and Washington would gain one each. Missouri would lose two of her present members, and one each would be cut from Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Vermont.

* * * *

They Fight to Stay In.

Of course the delegations from all those states that would lose members fight against any apportionment involving such loss. No one of them can surely figure that he would not be the loser when his state was redistricted.

Under the existing act each congressional district is assumed to be composed of 211,877 population, approximately; but under the 1920 census and the house kept at 435 members, each district would be calculated on a basis of 218,986. And under the census of 1930 the ratio will surely have to be much larger than that.

Should the next apportionment increase the membership in proportion to the increase of population, the house would be swelled to 483 members, at least.

In that case 23 state delegations would remain unchanged, and 25 would be increased, as follows:

Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Georgia, Maryland, Minnesota, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin would each gain one member; California would gain five; Illinois three; Massachusetts two; Michigan four; North Carolina two; New Jersey two; New York four; Ohio four; Pennsylvania four, and Texas three.

* * * *

The Future Effects.

The older and more experienced members of the house greatly deprecate any increase of its membership. They say it is unwieldy now and no practical good to legislation could be hoped from increasing the load of "dead wood" that the body has to carry.

The effect of reapportionment on the electoral votes for president and vice president has also to be taken into account, and careful calculation made to keep party interests as intact as they are, if possible.

OBREGON SAYS UPRISING IS OVER

Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, October 12.—(AP)—General Alvaro Obregon, reelectionist candidate for the presidency of Mexico, declared today on his arrival here from Mexico City, that the recent unrest centered there could "not be termed revolution because revolutions are made by the people and but afew disloyal soldiers took part in this simple riot."

"There are no two factions of public opinion as is supposed," Obregon said, "because if there were, the revolution would be in the entire national territory. The generals who revolted do not represent by any means any political force and their failure is proof of their lack of backing.

"There are no revolutionnaires in the republic so there is no answer to the question whether or not I will take the field against the rebels.

Sees No Followers.

"In no one state of the entire republic have any followers seconded the revolutionary movements of Generals Serrano and Gomez. The whole country condemned their acts and President Calles daily received telegrams of fidelity and allegiance to the government from people representing all social classes."

The battle scarred Mexican general, whose presidential candidacy now is unopposed as the result of execution of General Serrano and the asserted failure of General Gomez revolt, declared his candidacy has the support of the majority of the people of his country.

"Only one group of military men, who dreamed to hold power by means of violence without accepting a democratic fight, revolted with a very small number of followers and failed. In no one state of the republic has these leaders any following. To the contrary I have a deep pretension to assume that my candidacy is a better guarantee of peace in my country. This belief was the main reason for my return to political life.

Respect for Laws Demanded.

"I purpose to demand from Catholics and other religious denominations entire respect to our laws for the purpose that those religions will not enforce any influence in any way nor intervene in governmental affairs as Catholic priests have done. This is what President Calles is doing. His policy has the sanction of the majority of the Mexican people.

"I do not think that high officials of the Catholic church have given any support to the generals who revolted against the administration of President Calles. But it is very evident that many Catholics supported the last movement from under cover. We know that many Catholics of my country instigated General Gomez in his hostile policy toward the government.

"There is not any possibility of arriving at an understanding with those who were of the old regime and again seeking power because their tendencies against new governmental programs and aspirations of the great Mexican family toward fulfilling the right to be treated with spirit of equity and fraternity.

"This is why the people know how to set aside these politicians who lack in moral and material support and who depart their country and from foreign lands conspire against the government. There can be no meeting of minds of the so-called factions."

Obregon Greeted.

General Obregon, asked if he had any message for the American people, said he had only one of friendship. He added jokingly that if he became president, he would "correct the errors of the past with those of the present."

The strident notes of a Mexican "orchestra Tipica" toots and blasts of automobiles horns, and the screeches of fire sirens greeted General Obregon when he alighted this morning on a regular passenger train from Mexico City.

Obregon was the first off the train, attended only by his bodyguard, Homo Bono Marguez, who has followed his chief through all his political campaigns.

Aurora Borealis Has Great Time Crippling Wires

New York, October 12.—(United News.)—Telegraph and telephone wires over a large section of the world went "jazz mad" today and from London to Shanghai and from Berlin to New York communication was hampered by an impish interference of electrical phenomena.

Communications officials in the United States laid the trouble to the Aurora Borealis, or northern lights. Scientists inclined to the belief that sun spots, already blamed by some observers for a sporadic outbreak of volcanic activity, earthquakes and unseasonable weather, also caused the wire trouble.

Cables deep in the ocean bed seemed no more immune than telegraph wires strung from poles in open country.

Press association wires, telegraph and telephone lines were greatly interfered with in the United States. Invisible and unidentified currents of electricity charged the wires and garbled the messages.

Similar experiences were reported from abroad. London reported the difficulties in the Great Northern company's network of cables extended even to the Far East. Trouble started during the night for Western Union cable operators who experienced difficulty in reaching London, Paris and Berlin. Canada was affected.

Professor Michael Pupin of Columbia university advanced the sun-spot theory. He said sun spots, obstructing the light rays from the sun, caused an increase in the density of both air and water, which are conductors of electricity. The resulting increased current of natural electricity, he believes, leaked into communication wires.

With the return of Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, there was renewed talk of Newton D. Baker and Owen D. Young as possible democratic candidates. Glass favors either one although his state probably will stand with Governor Byrd, its favorite son, in early ballots. Senator George, of Georgia, one of the rising figures in the democratic party suggested by some as an ideal keynoter for the next convention, is said to be favorable to Young. The General Electrictric chief has some enthusiastic supporters here but they have done little to get their candidate in the open yet.

Reed Most Vocal.

Senator James A. Reed continues to be the most vocal of the democratic candidates. Apparently he feels it is the duty of a candidate for the highest honor of the party to take the voters into his confidence and tell them what he stands for. This policy once was almost universal but of late the majority of candidates keep their views secret as long as they can. Nobody knows how Smith stands on national questions except that it is reported by his friends that he once insisted that a world court plank go into the state platform. Smith has refused all attempts to draw him out on national questions.

Coolidge really set the fashion in this silent type of candidate and it is something new in American politics, at least for this generation. One effect of it is to deflate public interest in political questions, and this may have something to do with the apathy of the voters which has been a chronic complaint of late.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

The special affinity of the virus of this disease for the covering membrane (meninges) and the substance of the spinal cord, medulla and sometimes the brain; the serious paralysis that so often remains; and the uncertainty about the nature and cause of the disease all combine to make it a dreadful one, and especially for families with young children. I hope it is not unkind to give such parents the best knowledge possible about the manifestations of this disease and the best advice we can give regarding prevention.

With the onset there is a fever and as a rule some digestive disturbance such as loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting or diarrhea. The patient has much the same general malaise or simple sore throat or various other forms of the cri—headache, restlessness, irritability or drowsiness. After a day or two the patient shows disinclination to move or be moved, as any movement seems to give discomfort. Then there is a stiffness felt about the neck or the upper part of the back of spine, and perhaps actual pain when the neck or spine is bent. If the illness is infantile paralysis the group muscles affected will become flaccid on the third or fourth day, and generally the patient complains of some pain in the affected muscles before the paralysis is noticeable.

Doctors who have had the opportunity to study the disease believe that in a considerable number of cases no paralysis occurs, but the feverish illness nevertheless confers immunity upon the lucky child. Dr. W. H. Frost, an authority, suggests that infantile paralysis or rather acute poliomyelitis, is probably as prevalent as measles, but only in a few cases produces definite paralysis so that we recognize the nature of the illness. It may be that many cases of "simple sore throat" or "grip" or "stomach upset" are in reality of this nature.

Having no specific remedy, either for immunizing children or treating the illness, we can only recommend that now is the time to keep the children at home and avoid all unnecessary traveling about or visiting or personal contacts outside of the usual environment. And now is the time for the health and school authorities to stiffen up their policy in dealing with alleged "colds" and excuse or exclude from school every child who has any such condition. Likewise parents should be especially vigilant just at present to note signs of such minor illness and promptly isolate the affected individual or keep other individuals outside of the range.

JOHN DILLE.
National Newspaper Service.

Physicians may be able to make a diagnosis of poliomyelitis before or without the paralysis, by lumbar puncture and examination of the cerebro-spinal fluid.

The best treatment for the acute illness before paralysis is the same as the treatment for cri generally—rest in bed, and if or after paralysis develops, rest is still the best remedy. Massage or manipulation of any sort is harmful at this stage. Intelligent massage will be useful six or eight weeks after the actute illness, in dealing with the residual paralysis. Even now, ignorant manipulation of the spine or unscientific efforts at massage may make an otherwise favorable outcome impossible. The victim of infantile paralysis surely deserves the benefit of qualified medical or surgical advice and care, to insure not only the things that should be done but also to save the patient from the ultimate development of deformities.

TRUSTEES TO MEET IN AUBURN PROBE

Montgomery, Ala., October 12.—(AP) Complaints of students that conditions at the Alabama Polytechnic institute are "deplorable" will be aired Friday at a called meeting of the board of trustees, over which Governor Bibb Graves will preside. The governor issued the call for the meeting after a delegation of students had called upon him to investigate conditions. Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the institution, also appeared at the governor's office and asked that the meeting be called.

The resignation of Coach David B. Morey last Friday night kindled the flame of unrest which has been in evidence on the Auburn campus for several weeks. Previous to Coach Morey's resignation meetings of the various classes had been held indorsing the action of the senior class in drawing up a petition to present the governor asking that existing conditions at the college be probed.

Five students appeared before the governor as representatives of the student body and placed before him a list of charges against the present administration. The list included the charge that there was a lack of discipline at Auburn, and that this condition was brought about because there was no mutual understanding between President Dowell and the students. The petition said that Dr. Dowell does not have the love and respect of the majority of the students.

The petition also said that the freshman class was 20 per cent smaller than last year, charging that such a condition did not exist in any other grade A college in the south.

The delegation told the governor that for the past two weeks members of the senior class each morning before daybreak went about Auburn tearing down placards aimed at Dr. Dowell. They said that further disorder had been averted by the action of the senior class in assuring the underclassmen that they would go before the governor with the petition asking an investigation.

The fight on the present administration dates back to 1924, when a movement was started to oust Dr. Dowell. These students at this time along with the board of trustees indorsed Dr. Dowell and the issue was dropped. In the present movement the students have voiced a desire "to go beyond the bounds of the state and "get a president not connected with 'politics.'"

No organized disorders have occurred on the Auburn campus during the past week and students have attended classes as usual, despite reports that the student body was disorderly.

Dr. Dowell today declined to comment on the situation. Governor Graves also said that he had nothing to say at present.

Betrayal of Edith Cavell

:: DESPISED, CONVICTED QUIEN SEEKS FREEDOM ::

May Be Heard in Court Again

BY RALPH HEINZEN.

Paris, October 12.—(Copyright, 1927, by United News.)—The world's most despised man, Georges Gaston Quien, emaciated at 50, with a haunted look in his eyes, may tell to the courts his story—that he is innocent of the betrayal of Nurse Edith Cavell.

The lawyer Quien believes has deserted him, Maitre Henri Darmon, announced Wednesday he has begun efforts to obtain presidential grace, either on New Year's or July 14—Bastille day.

At the same time, the League for the Rights of Man, convinced that a miscarriage of justice sent Quien to prison for 20 years for the betrayal of Miss Cavell, has begun a campaign to free him. The league charges Quien was hastily condemned, despite conflicting evidence, at a time when the passions of war still were at their highest pitch, and the world still remembered vividly how Nurse Cavell was sacrificed on the altar of patriotism.

Emaciated to the point where his angular body appears lost in the flabby prison clothing, his eyes sunken, his hair gray—Quien may yet lose the stigma that attaches to his name.

Hounded Animal.

M. Roc, prison director at Clairvaux, believes with the League for the Rights of Man that Quien should get another trial.

Since the alleged denunciator of Edith Cavell was condemned to death in September, 1919, he has lived the life of a hounded animal, despised by his fellow prisoners who contend his crime of treachery to a patriotic woman was greater than murder, robbery or rape.

Lawyer Darmon, discussing his efforts to reopen the case, told the United News:

"We cannot assert definitely that Quien is innocent but the prosecutor never was able to produce absolute proof of his guilt. The court showed its doubts when, reviewing the case, it dropped the death penalty and substituted 20 years of imprisonment.

"We are now seeking to obtain grace. Later we will ask a revision of judgment."

Warden Roc is one of Quien's strongest supporters. Convinced neither of the man's guilt nor innocence, he believes Quien is a changed man and deserves another chance for a living life—not his present life of hell which finds the man shunned even by the lowest felon.

Therefore, M. Roc will renew attempts to obtain a pardon for Quien through the minister of justice, although previous efforts of the warden have met with failure.

Years Are Numbered.

Quien himself regards the future with a sort of fatalism, realizing that his years are numbered.

Once an abnormally large, strong man, more than six feet six inches tall, Quien now is wasted away.

Even as he spoke to the United News correspondent who found him in Clairvaux prison, Quien was so weak that he slipped across the top of the warden's desk. With an effort he lifted himself and apologized:

The warden's opinion of this man is indicated by the fact that he uses Quien as a bookkeeper in the prison hospital, although he has been convicted four times for theft, embezzlement and fraud.

"I have just about abandoned all hope, but I am an innocent victim of mistaken identity. I had a double in Brussels who was the real betrayer," Quien said.

"I am anxious, however, to get a revision of judgment rather than grace to clear my name in memory of my parents who died heartbroken."

PUBLIC TO DEMAND DRY ISSUE--BUTLER

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER,
As Interviewed by Robert Barry.

If the "professional political managers" seek to evade or ignore the prohibition issue in the general elections of 1928, the American people will take the campaign out of their hands, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York, has concluded after his study of the potential issues.

"The people will shape the campaign to suit themselves," he added, referring to the abortive attempt by the republicans to evade the free silver issue in 1896, only to have the tariff issue dropped and forgotten by August 1.

Dr. Butler does not often find himself in agreement with William Gibbs McAdoo. They are at extremes on most questions of political philosophy and practice. They are at opposite poles on the prohibition issue.

Yet the president of Columbia university, speaking for the militant foes of the eighteenth amendment, agrees with the aggressive champion of the dry act that irrespective of what the professional politicians may do in 1928 to compromise the prohibition issue, the American people will demand specific declarations. Both are convinced that if evasion be attempted in the name of "smart politics," the American people will decide otherwise and override the politicians.

Must Declare Themselves.

No candidate for the presidency will be permitted to be evasive on the issue, Dr. Butler, republican wet, declares, and Mr. McAdoo, democratic dry, echoes "aye."

"To declare merely for law enforcement, the facts being what they are," Dr. Butler added, "is to declare for lawlessness and for a continuous and organized assault, under official protection, upon the foundations of our government."

In response to the direct question regarding the likelihood of an overwhelming majority of the republican national delegates favoring a declaration for enforcement of all laws, Dr. Butler declared such was the purpose of the "professional political managers," but that, irrespective of them, the American people would demand something more specific from the party nominees, "either before or after the conventions."

Three Great Issues.

"The three matters uppermost in the public mind," Dr. Butler said, "and whose prompt and wise settlement is demanded by the public interest, are the eighteenth amendment and the problems which it raises, agricultural relief and development, and international cooperation for the establishment of international peace.

"Since all three of these matters cut directly across the two existing political parties and divide them sharply, the professional political managers and the professional office-holding class are determined that no one of them shall be frankly dealt with by the platform declarations to be made in June next, if that can possibly be avoided.

"Their interest is to elect candidates to office without raising any important public issue if that be possible. The public interest demands the contrary course. So does political courage and political capacity.

Liquor Question Uppermost.

"So far as the eighteenth amendment is concerned, it is uppermost in the minds of the voting masses in almost every state, and no matter what part it is permitted to play in the national conventions it will play a very large part in the campaign."

"Meaning?"

"No candidate for the presidency will be permitted to get very far, either before or after the conventions, without being called upon to answer the question I put in my debate with Senator Borah at Boston last April; namely:

"'Are you for the federal union established by the constitution or against it?'

"'Are you for the forbidden eighteenth amendment which has been forced into that constitution or against it?'

"'Are you for the declarations of the bill of rights or against them?'"

Dr. Butler was asked what he thought of a platform declaration merely for law enforcement.

Cannot Hide.

"No party and no candidate will be permitted to hide behind a pusillanimous declaration of law enforcement," he said. "If by law enforcement is meant the just and equal enforcement of all laws, then the eighteenth amendment and the legislation built upon it are unenforcible, since they conflict with the fundamental principles of the constitution and of the bill of rights at every point. Such a declaration is, therefore, a fraud and a conscious fraud.

"If on the other hand, by law enforcement is meant the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the legislation built upon it regardless of the fundamental principles of the constitution and all other laws, then a declaration for law enforcement is a declaration for lawlessness and for a continuous and organized assault, under official protection, upon the foundations of our government. Let any candidate or any party try to content themselves with a general and plausible declaration for law enforcement and they will have to face that dilemma and either answer these questions or dodge them."

Won't Permit "Evasion."

"Who might raise the issue, that is from a republican standpoint?" was urged.

"A very large body of American citizens are dead in earnest on this fundamental subject and they will not permit evasion, or generalities, or suppression of debate," Dr. Butler replied. "Indeed they believe the foundations of the government to be at stake, and they will not be denied the expression of their earnest and profound convictions."

"Are not the wets in a minority in the republican party?"

"Fortunately everything that has happened and is happening makes for the early and just settlement of this great question. Evidence multiplies that total abstainers by the thousand, who had thought national prohibition by constitutional amendment was the wisest way to deal with the evils of the saloon and of the private liquor traffic, have seen what a terrible mistake was made, and are now among the most earnest in the demand that the eighteenth amendment be repealed in the interest of the temperance movement itself.

Quebec Cited.

"It is perfectly possible to abolish the saloon without bringing into existence the speak-easy, and it is perfectly possible effectively to regulate, or indeed, to make impossible, the private traffic in intoxicating liquors. The experience of the province of Quebec, and of the Scandinavian countries proves these facts conclusively. Neither of these ends can be reached, however, by the eighteenth amendment, or without its repeal."

"Yet declarations for law enforcement have been acceptable to republicans in previous presidential campaigns?"

(The next interview will be with Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas.)

TORNADO HITS TOWN, 4 KILLED, 22 INJURED

Blytheville, Ark., October 12.—(AP) Four persons are dead, 22 injured and more than a score business buildings and dwellings were in ruins tonight as an aftermath of a tornado which dipped into the northeastern tip of Mississippi county last night and vented its fury in the village of Dell, 11 miles southeast of Blytheville.

All of the dead and most of the injured were crushed under falling timbers of their homes in Dell. Two negroes were injured when the storm struck a suburb of Blytheville and several others were hurt on plantations between this city and Dell.

W. P. Winn, a justice of the peace at Dell, and his wife and Austin Hardin and his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. A. Hardin, were killed.

The injured include John Hardin, husband of the woman killed, and three other members of the Hardin family and six members of the family of J. T. Green.

The property damage was estimated at $100,000.

The Hardin home, directly in the path of the storm, was demolished and the bodies of the two persons killed there were carried about 100 yards from the wreckage of the house.

Among the more substantial buildings wrecked or badly damaged were the plant at Dell of the Phoenix Cotton gin, the Dell schoolhouse and the Stevens gin near Dell.

A. Rittenberry, constable at Dell, described the storm as heralded with a terrifying roar. "When the crash came it sounded as two tornadoes meeting," Rittenberry said. "I have been in storms before but this one was the worst. At the end of Main street, where the greatest havoc was wrought, the sight which greeted rescuers was horrifying. The dead were lying among the debris and others—men, women and children—were crying for help. Small fires were burning and where there had been substantial homes, only scrap heaps remained. We worked all night extricating the dead and injured from the tangled mass of wreckage.

Of the injured John Harbin and Allen Harbin, his son, five years old, are the most severely hurt. Their recovery is regarded as doubtful.

ROWS AT HOME LEADS VIRGINIAN TO SUICIDE

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—Leaving notes suggestive of domestic troubles, a man identified by acquaintances as Jerry Poston, about 48 years old, formerly of Vienna, Va., was found drowned today in the waters of Rock Creek, beneath an old bridge in Georgetown.

One note, scribbled in pencil on a collar, said: "Notify Virginia Poston, 1541 Ramsey street, Baltimore, Md."

U. S. COURT HEARS PLEA OF SWAIN, DOOMED TO DEATH

Final arguments in behalf of James A. Swain, under sentence of death for the slaying of J. Walter Johnson in Bibb county during December of 1924, were presented Wednesday before the United States circuit court of appeals.

Swain has exhausted every possibility of a new trial in the state courts, and his last plea, offered by Attorneys W. O. Cooper, Jr., and J. R. Terrell, of Macon, seeks a review under his constitutional rights as a citizen of the United States.

The death sentence was pronounced in the Bibb county superior court in February of 1925, and subsequent appeals for a new trial have been turned down by higher state courts.

T. R. Gress, assistant district attorney, represented the prosecution. A decision will not be reached for several weeks, it was indicated.

The court of appeals will clear its calendar here today and will remove to Montgomery, La., for a three-day sitting.

Skinny Women

Don't Stand a Chance!

Gain pounds of weight with New YEAST and IRON

Pleasant to take—Quick results—or pay nothing

You don't want to be underweight, nervous and always tired—an object of pity to your friends. Start IRONIZED YEAST now and put pounds of good flesh on those bony arms, hollow cheeks and scraggy limbs. See ugly lines give way to graceful curves. Feel a new vitality and healthy strength that you haven't known for years.

How Yeast Builds Weight

IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

This yeast is treated with iron taken from fresh vegetables—spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it most effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

IRONIZED YEAST brings pounds of weight in astonishingly quick time. Letters say: "10 pounds gained in 3 weeks," "one full treatment added 7 pounds," "11 pounds and better health." The blood is toned up, too, because the iron adds strength and richness to the blood, clearing up the complexion and increasing your vitality. IRONIZED YEAST comes only in pleasant-tasting tablets—60 to a bottle. Safe for everybody. Does not upset the stomach nor cause gas or bloating.

First treatment gives results —or no money

Ask the druggist now for a full course treatment. It will prove that you can gain many pounds, or your money will be refunded. If inconvenient to buy at the drug store, send $1.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 2C-W.

Night's Rest Disturbed

Is Nature's way of telling you "Danger Ahead." A Healthy Bladder Does Not Act At Night.

Mrs. G. W. Bushong, 1012 South East St., Bloomington, Ill., says in her own home paper, the Bloomington Pantagraph: "Lithiated Buchu tablets relieved me of bladder weakness. Was disturbed 20 to 25 times a night. I feel I am well. I tried many treatments, submitted to operation and much torture. In one week after taking Lithiated Buchu I could notice improvement. I will be glad to tell or write my experience."

Lithiated buchu is not a patent medicine. The formula is on the bottle. It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Jacobs Pharmacy Co., fourteen stores in Atlanta.—(adv.)

HOLDER'S SALARY LEGAL, IS RULING

John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, is legally drawing his salary in that office, and the board has the right to employ on salary a special attorney or special attorneys, according to an opinion rendered Wednesday by Attorney General George M. Napier. The opinion was rendered by the attorney general at the "verbal request" of Governor L. G. Hardman. The question of the legality of the payment of the salary of the chairman of the board and of the special attorney was raised recently by Judge Newton A. Morris, of Marietta. The opinion was given to the governor Wednesday but the governor had no comment of any kind to make concerning it, according to an announcement by his secretary.

Attorney General Napier studied the question for several days before reaching a decision. He summed up his opinion, which consisted of seven typewritten pages, in the conclusion.

Napier's Opinion.

"It is therefore my conclusion," said Mr. Napier, "after exhaustive study and research, and with deep concern to express a correct opinion with respect to the various laws now governing the state highway board, in conducting the manifold items of business which involve many phases of legal construction, and absolutely require the expert assistance of attorneys; and that, under the laws fully set forth above, and clearly decided in the Hawkins case, 156 Ga., 188, the salary of the chairman of the highway board, determined and fixed by the board itself, would constitute and remain throughout the term of the chairman of the highway board a legal and proper charge against the funds of the state highway department."

Mr. Napier's opinion said that an act of 1919, providing for an "attorney to the state highway board" was repealed "by the act of 1922," but says that under Section 4 of the act of 1925, the "highway department may sue and be sued or make settlement of all claims presented to it under oath."

"Since the highway board is authorized to sue and be sued and to be vouched into damage cases, and to condemn rights of way, it is obvious that the board could not function in these particulars without legal assistance," the opinion said.

Could Employ Attorney.

"While not authorized to have a salaried officer to be denominated attorney for the highway board, it appears to be within the province of the board to employ an attorney or attorneys, either at the regular home office of the highway board, or in various counties and in connection with divers suits throughout the state," the opinion continues. "The board could no doubt employ an assistant who might combine other work for this board in connection with legal advice and services to be rendered. It would not be in conformity with the acts of the general assembly now of force to call such an official attorney for the highway board."

Mr. Napier quoted section 1 of the act of 1925, in which he says, "we find this provision:

"That the state highway department of Georgia reorganized and reconstituted hereby, shall consist of the state highway board and such other subordinate employees, including the chief engineer and other assistants, as the highway board may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this act."

"As to the authority of the chairman of the highway board to draw salary," the opinion cites section 2 of the act of 1922, in which "there is a mandatory provision that the highway board—'shall determine the number of employees, designate their places of labor, prescribe their duties, fix their compensation and also the salary of the chairman, including the year 1922, who shall devote all of his time and attention to the discharge of the duties of his office,' etc."

EMORY FOUR GIVES PROGRAM TONIGHT FOR UTAH COMPANY

Tonight at 9 o'clock the Utah Radio Products company, of Chicago, and McDonough Brothers, the sales representatives of Atlanta, will present a special radio program broadcast over WSB, the local station.

The program will be given by the Emory Four quartet, with Herbert Goode at the piano. This quartet has won wide fame, not only as a college vocal organization in this country, but in England also, where they sang with the Emory Glee club on the famous invasion of the concert halls of that country during the summer of 1926.

The Utah Radio Products company are manufacturers of the Utah radio loud speakers. The local sales representatives, McDonough Brothers, maintain their offices at 212-213 Red Rock building, and will be glad to receive criticism of or suggestions regarding their radio programs.

Winter Song, Bullard—Quartet.
Yesterday, Wilhite—Ed Kane.
Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, arranged—Quartet.
Sleepy Hollow Tune, Koontz—Quartet.
If You Would Say "I Love You," Hodge—George Baker.
Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing, Nutting—Quartet.
(a) Kammiennol Ostrow, Rubinstein; (b) Waltz in C Sharp Minor, Chopin—Herbert Goode, piano.
A Little Close Harmony, O'Hara—Quartet.
Laughing Song, Abt—Quartet.

LOCAL GROUP TO HEAR NATIONAL CREDIT HEAD

Members of the Atlanta Association of Credit Men will be host to George J. Gruen, national president of the association and vice president of the Gruen Watch Manufacturing company, of Cincinnati, when he arrives here to make a special address to the local group at the Atlanta Athletic club at 6:30 o'clock Friday night, October 21, it was announced Wednesday.

Mr. Gruen is a veteran member of the credit men's association and has served as a national officer for many years. He is regarded as an authority in credit problems. Mr. Gruen last visited Atlanta during the convention of his organization here, at which time he formed many personal acquaintances with credit men in this city. The meeting, which is to be designated as "Presidents' Night," will be presided over by Herbert E. Choate, as toastmaster. As honor guests, in addition to the distinguished visitor, have been selected all past presidents of the Atlanta association. Members of the association from Savannah and Macon have also been invited.

GEORGIA TECH MEN PROVE SUCCESSFUL IN DIVERSE FIELDS

R. J. Thieson, Georgia Tech alumni secretary, announced Wednesday that his office is receiving much news of successful graduates of the school, representing many fields of endeavor.

Ceylon B. Blackwell, graduate of 1918, is one of the candidates for the mayorship of Memphis. Blackwell has taken an active part in the affairs of his home city and has been elected to the presidency of the Memphis Georgia Tech club.

E. B. Newell, Georgia Tech graduate of 1916, who has for some time been with the Westinghouse Electric company, has been appointed head of the control engineering department. Newell is a graduate in electrical engineering.

After being assistant manager of the Gillican Chipley company, at New Orleans, for over five years, Lloyd B. Griffith has organized his own company, the Manufacturers Agents & Brokers of New Orleans.

Five Tech men hold places with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., according to a recent letter. They are C. V. Heck, H. K. McGavach, F. D. Lovette, H. S. Purnell and J. L. Smith.

POLICE SEEKING MUSICAL THIEVES WHO STOLE 'SAXES'

City detectives Wednesday were straining their ears for unharmonious sounds in effort to locate thieves who broke into the Edico Piano company, 263 Peachtree street, on the previous night and made away with two saxophones and musical instruments valued at $800, according to reports filed with police.

Other robberies attributed to the excitement occasioned by Lindbergh's visit to Atlanta include theft of a purse containing $175 reported stolen from Mrs. E. A. Chaunnes, of 375 Frankfort, Ky., told police he was watching the Lindbergh day parade here when a light-fingered member of the crowd picked his pockets of a purse containing a railroad pass and other valuable papers.

Police were also informed of the theft of clothes from two automobiles during the parade. The complainants were R. E. Blanchard, of 293 Sixth street, N. W., and R. H. Richard, of Sterling street; D. B. Reading, of Marshallville, Ga.

C. J. Bowen, city building inspector, was struggling with the crowd at Candler field in a vain attempt to inspect Lindy's plane on its arrival there, when he was "spotted" by pickpockets for another victim, he reported. His stealthy assailants relieved him of $3, which they took from his pocketbook, leaving the purse on the ground.

CHATTANOOGA SHRINE WILL ATTEND SESSION

News was received Wednesday by Potentate W. W. Brooks, Jr., of Chattanooga, that all four organizations of Alhambra temple, together with the potentate, his divan and a large number of nobles will attend Yaarab temple's big ceremonial session to be held in Lafayette, Ga., on Friday, October 28. Attendance of a large caravan from Alhambra temple, with the large number from Yaarab, will make this northwest Georgia meeting of Shriners one of the biggest events of the kind ever held in the state.

Applications for membership to be conferred at this ceremonial must be in possession of Recorder Argard on October 20, accompanied by a check for $112. Full information about the special Shrine train will be given in a special notice to be sent out October 21 to all nobles with the list of applications.

Coca-Cola Prize Of $10,000 Won By Stenographer

Ten thousand dollars is a lot of money to win, but an Indiana stenographer, Miss Mabel Millspaugh, of Anderson, Ind., has a check for this amount to show that it can be done. Miss Millspaugh is the first prize winner in the recent Coca-Cola $30,000 cash prize contest.

The other major prize winners, like Miss Millspaugh, are every-day folks who gave just a little more thought, effort and study to Coca-Cola advertising and the contest than the thousands of other entrants. Miss Katherine Brennan, who won the second prize of $5,000, is a young trained nurse in Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Mildred Seigwarth, who received third money, $2,500, is a housewife, living in Dayton, Ohio. Fourth came Miss Vivian Kressh, a college girl still in her 'teens, residing in Brooklyn, N. Y., who won $1,000. The only man among the first five winners was Harry H. Ward, a soda dispenser of a Kress store in Enid, Okla., whose fifth prize netted him $500. The remaining 630 prizes varying from $100 to $10 were scattered broadcast throughout the country.

Day laborers, bankers, millworkers, architects, housewives, lawyers, stenographers, soda, dispensers, students, teachers, the church, the army, the navy and many others are represented among the thousands who sent in entries.

Entries came from every state in the union, as well as from Alaska, Panama Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines; from every province in Canada; from Mexico, Cuba, Isle of Pines, Haiti, Jamaica, Bermuda, Brazil, Peru, the Barbados, Spain, Switzerland, France, South Africa and Australia. The interest in the contest was world-wide.

Since its first announcement in May, the Coca-Cola $30,000 cash prize contest has created great interest, especially the announcement of prize winners which is just appearing in magazines and newspapers. According to Robert W. Woodruff, president of the Coca-Cola company, "the contest has well proved its worth. It was quite different from the usual contest. People had to search for and study Coca-Cola advertising appearing in magazines, newspapers, on walls and bulletins, and in dealers' stores in order to find the six keys to the popularity of Coca-Cola and to answer two simple questions required. It has illustrated to a remarkable degree the power of observation of the public. The number of answers received and the time and effort of which they are evidence show the interest taken in Coca-Cola and Coca-Cola advertising, and the number of real friends belonging to our product. We congratulate the prize winners."

SOLOMON ISLES NATIVE UPRISING AGAIN REPORTED

Suva, Fiji Islands, October 12.—(AP) Reports by mail from the Solomon islands in the southwestern Pacific ocean today told of additional attacks on foreigners, including whites, there.

A fatal attack by a native laborer from Malaita island on a white overseer was included in the report along with an account of the murder of a Chinese by a native laborer.

The British cruiser Adelaide is en route to Malaita now as a result of recent murders there by natives, including one general massacre. Wireless reports from the Solomons last week told of an uprising by natives in Malaita which resulted in the killing of all native members of the crew of the steamer Auk, a British government vessel, and the wounding of four officers. Reports yesterday via London told of an attack by natives on two missionaries, resulting in their death. The cause of the outbreaks has not been determined.

New-Born Babe, Found On Corner in Basket, Is Cared for at Grady

A newly born babe, found in a market basket, apparently abandoned by some grief-stricken mother at Pratt and Armstrong streets by a city employee early Wednesday morning, showed no ill effects from its lonely adventure in the chill rain after nurses at the Grady hospital administered motherly and professional attentions.

Patrolmen Claude Carroll and Charlie Maddox brought the nursling to the hospital after being summoned to the scene, where the basket crib was found. The child immediately won a warm place in the affections of the Grady nurses, so much so that some dissention has grown out of the selection of a name for the foundling.

A mother's instinct for the protection of the babe was shown by the painstaking care taken in shielding the child from the harshness of the night. The basket used for a crib was covered with oilcloth on top, while underneath the baby were two bath towels to prevent the rain from soaking through. Many embroidered fineries were found beside the child in its crib.

FATHER OF MRS. M'RAE SUCCUMBS IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Floyd McRae, Jr., wife of the prominent Atlanta surgeon, left for Chicago Wednesday afternoon in response to a message from relatives there disclosing the death of her father, Frank D. Spout.

According to the message received by Mrs. McRae, Mr. Spout died suddenly Wednesday at his summer home in Wisconsin. Mr. Spout was a well-known resident of Chicago.

Noted Art Critic Here To Direct Museum Showing

Gordon Allison, famous art critic of New York, arrived in Atlanta Wednesday to stay here until October 25, while the collection of paintings, sculpture and etchings remains on exhibition at the High Museum of Art on Peachtree at Fifteenth street.

Mr. Allison will be in charge of the exhibition, which was sent here by the Associated Dealers in American Paintings for the first showing outside of New York.

Greater interest than ever before shown in an Atlanta exhibition of art has been displayed by the general public in this collection. Many hundreds have visited the museum and expressed keen appreciation of the collection of approximately 200 works of art by American artists.

The collection includes not only the works of living Americans, but those of the famous masters of the past 50 years, many of whom are now dead. Paintings by such men as John Singer Sargent, George De Forest Brush, David Inness and others are included.

In connection with the exhibition a "popular vote" contest and an essay contest, in which the general public is invited to take part, are being conducted, with three of the finest etchings in the collection offered as prizes.

The exhibition is open daily from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays remains open until 9:30 at night. Sundays it is on view from 2 to 5 p. m.

SEVERE TEMBLOR PRODUCES PANIC IN JOHANNESBURG

Cape Town, October 13.—The most severe earth tremor experienced in Johannesburg in recent years occurred last night, accompanied by loud rumbling. Buildings shook, walls cracked, furniture and crockery crashed and people rushed to the streets in panic. The tremor ceased after a few minutes. It was the third in Johannesburg in two months.

A violent storm lasting two days is reported from Vryheid. Lightning killed two men.

TILLMAN RECALLS SAM JONES DEAD EXACTLY 21 YEARS

The Rev. Charles D. Tillman, singing evangelist, who was associated with the late Rev. Sam D. Jones in the last years of his nation-wide evangelistic campaigns, called attention Wednesday to the fact that Georgia's great evangelist died on October 12, 21 years ago.

"It is fitting as we celebrate the feat of the illustrious hero of the air that we think also of one illustrious hero of the Cross, who is spending his 21st anniversary in heaven," said Mr. Tillman.

SWINDLE CHARGED BOCA RATON OFFICIAL

West Palm Beach, Fla., October 12.—(AP)—Anderson T. Herd, former general manager of the Hizner Development corporation, developer of Boca Raton, is under arrest in New York on charges of obtaining $100,000 under false pretense in a real estate deal from H. C. Bartholomew, of this city.

Sheriff R. C. Baker said today that papers were being forwarded to New York to bring Herd back here for trial.

JAPAN'S VOLCANO ASAMA BURSTS INTO ACTIVITY

Tokyo, October 12.—(AP)—With a thunderous roar, Asama-Yama, active Japanese volcano, erupted this morning, emitting an immense volume of thick black smoke and covering the countryside with a white ash.

Farmers at work in the fields were compelled to use umbrellas as a protection from the ashes which fell as far distant from the volcano as Utsonomiya, 70 miles to the east.

(Asama-Yama is about 80 miles northwest of Tokyo. Its last great eruption was in 1783, while subsequent eruptions have produced only showers of ashes and occasionally stones.)

BABY BOY BORN TO LOST DOLE FLIER'S WIDOW

Dallas, Texas, October 12.—(AP)—A six-pound baby boy was born today to Mrs. William P. Erwin, wife of the missing pilot of the monoplane Dallas Spirit, which was lost in the Pacific ocean when the Dallas aviator and his navigator went in search of the missing Dole prize fliers.

Mrs. Erwin was taken to a local hospital late last night.

The mother and baby were reported as "doing nicely."

Lindbergh Hops Off for Spartanburg, S. C.,

Bearing Atlanta's Tokens of Good Will

When Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Atlanta Wednesday morning he carried with him a few mementoes of his short visit here. At the top is shown a silver plate once owned and used by George Washington, which was presented to the flier by J. M. Elliott, of the Biltmore antique shoppe. At left is an illuminated scroll bearing the address of Mayor I. N. Ragsdale made at the banquet in Lindbergh's honor at the Ansley. Right is a page of a vellum book bound in morocco, bearing the insignia of the flying service, which was presented to the air hero at the same banquet.

Having swept Atlanta by storm, Charles Lindbergh Wednesday morning sped away on the wings of the wind in his famous transoceanic plane, "Spirit of St. Louis."

Hopping off from Candler field at 10:15 in the morning, Lindbergh pointed the nose of his ship over the city and drummed low over the Biltmore hotel, where he had an apartment during his visit here. He circled, thrust a head from a cabin window to wave farewell to watchers in the garden below, and then set his course for Spartanburg, S. C., the next stop in his nation-wide tour.

That the city was sold on commercial aviation, as demonstrated by the aerial visitor, who arrived on schedule and left on schedule with all the precision of a modern express train, was apparent from the spontaneous reception he received here.

Following Lindbergh's plane from Candler field, his escort ships took the air, and these were accompanied out of the city by two Pitcairn planes. Both of these plan to remain with the Lindbergh party until it reaches Philadelphia, headquarters of the Pitcairn company.

Among mementos presented to the visitor by admirers here was a silver plate from the household effects of George Washington. The offering was made by J. M. Elliott, of the Biltmore Antique shoppe, a few minutes prior to Lindbergh's departure.

Mr. Elliott accompanied his gift with an interesting account of its history since Colonial days. The well-known dealer here had purchased the piece from a direct descendant of the Washington family, and its history is closely allied with that of the American republic.

The visitor was also presented with a leather-bound volume containing the welcoming speeches made on his arrival here, together with signatures of notables who participated in the ovation acorded the flier in Atlanta. The city of Atlanta contributed this memento.

Among Lindbergh's decorations is a tiny emblem bearing the crossed flags of the United States and the Confederacy pinned on his lapel Tuesday afternoon at memorial exercises before the tablet to Fulton county dead of the world war. Ranking officers of the Confederate veterans' organization officiated at the ceremonies.

Leaders Thanked.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Wednesday addressed letters of thanks to Henderson Hallman, Governor L. G. Hardman, General H. O. Williams, commandant of Fort McPherson; Dr. M. L. Brittain, of Georgia Tech; James L. Beavers, chief of police; William B. Cody, chief of the fire department, and many others who assisted in staging the mammoth reception accorded Colonel Lindbergh.

The letters pointed out that cooperation of committees, individuals and organizations was responsible for the clock-like precision with which the program moved.

Mr. Hallman, who was general chairman of the reception committee named by the mayor, was busy Wednesday sending out letters of thanks to all members of the committee.

LINDY IS GUEST OF CAROLINAS.

Spartanburg, S. C., October 12.—(AP)—The world famous "We" today became the guests of the Piedmont Carolinas and tonight Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the human partner, was the guest of South Carolina, while thousands from both the Palmetto and Old North states cheered him to the echo.

While the human unit of the team was being feted and dined the mechanical partner, "the trans-Atlantic plane Spirit of St. Louis," carefully groomed and under guard of an entire company of national guardsmen, rested at the local airport. It will remain there until Friday, when Colonel Lingbergh will hop off for the Tricities airport near Greensboro to be feted at Greensboro and Winston-Salem.

Colonel Lindbergh landed at the local airport promptly at 2 o'clock, after having hopped off from Atlanta at 10:19 a. m. En route he passed over Athens, Ga., and Greenwood, S. C., dropping a message of greeting at the latter place and formally opening the Piedmont fair.

The colonel arrived over Spartanburg soon after 1:30 p. m., but it was not until he had dipped and circled for 15 minutes did someone recognize the Spirit of St. Louis, and then whistles, sirens and bells cut loose and for 15 minutes all was bedlam as the colonel piloted his mount to the airport and landed.

Cheered by Thousands.

Colonel Lindbergh, after inspecting the air field, was taken to the stadium where he delivered an address on "Commercial Aviation." As he left the hangars at the airport the thousands lining the road and streets let loose a cheer that was continuous until he reached his destination.

At Duncan park, Colonel Lindbergh was officially greeted on behalf of the state by Governor John G. Richards and on behalf of the city by Mayor Ben Hill Brown. Tonight he was the guest at a civic dinner.

In his address at the park Governor Richards welcomed Colonel Lindbergh "as a man not only of national fame and greatness, but a man who stands out gloriously in the administration of all the nations of the earth."

"The occasion we celebrate," the chief executive said, "is not only one of the most remarkable in the history of the city of Spartanburg but of the state of South Carolina."

CORN-HUSKING BEE INTRODUCES NASHVILLE DEBS

Nashville, October 12.—(AP)—Harking back to the days of their great grandparents, Nashville's 14 debutantes of the 1927-28 season made their first formal bow to society at a husking bee held at a local hotel last night.

The occasion was the annual harvest ball of the auxiliary to the Nashville post of the American Legion.

In one end of the ballroom, a log cabin had been built and from the doorway of this cabin, set before a grove of evergreen and trees in autumn foliage, the debutantes entered.

Gathered about a pile of corn were the girls' escorts, and the man who was lucky enough to draw the red ear of grain led the grand march. With this honor went the privilege of kissing the girl whom he brought to the ball.

These leading parts were played by Miss Martha Coles and Marshall Shepherd.

MARION DAVIES HIRES DETECTIVES TO SEEK NIECE

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, October 12.—Hiring of detectives to search the breadth of the land for 7-year-old Patricia Davies, niece of Marion Davies, revealed today that relatives believe the girl was kidnaped by George Van Cleve, her stepfather.

Van Cleve, husband of Rose Davies, vanished from his Beverly Hills, Calif., home with Patricia, a Japanese servant and a motor car, according to his wife.

The Davies' family tangle came to light here when operatives of the Val O'Farrell agency were hired to search for Van Cleve and the child. He was the second husband of Patricia's mother. The three, until recently, lived happily together at Beverly Hills, where Van Cleve was engaged in moving picture scenario work.

RHEUMATISM

may be relieved by rational treatment—
it can not be rubbed away.

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S.S.S. is the best." Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tennessee.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

From youth to later years S.S.S. is a proven tonic—give it and take it when a tonic is indicated.

BEACH, LILLIENDAHL WIDOW BALK STATE

Mays Landing, N. J., October 12.—(United News.)—Refusing detectives permission to photograph or fingerprint them in their cells, Mrs. Margaret Lilliendahl and Willis Beach maintained a defiant attitude today and lent fresh strength to rumors that the state's case charging them with the murder of Dr. William Lilliendahl is weaker than has been admitted.

Prosecutor Louis Repetto did not comment on a report that the state has offered to allow the young widow and her alleged lover a chance to plead guilty to second degree murder provided they confess, and that the two had refused.

Edison Hedges, Beach's lawyer, said his client would stand trial on the first degree murder charges. Hedges said Beach would produce witnesses to prove that he was in his South Vineland home at the time Dr. Lilliendahl was shot to death nearly 20 miles away. Mrs. Lilliendahl continued to insist her husband was shot by two men, presumably negroes.

NEGRO IS INDICTED ON MURDER COUNT BY FULTON JURY

Eugene Henderson, negro, was indicted Wednesday by the Fulton county grand jury on a charge of murdering Will Peavy, another negro, who was stabbed to death on October 8 at the Railroad Y. M. C. A.

W. T. Peavy and J. A. West, Jr., were named in an indictment charging burglary, returned Wednesday by the grand jury. The true bill alleges that the duo participated in the burglary of the Virginia avenue station of the Georgia Railway and Power company rom which they stole copper wire amounting to approximately $127.50.

West, according to information from court officials, is now serving a prison term for automobile theft and Peavy was recently taken in custody.

PHILIP A. PAYNE'S WILL IS PROBATED

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Jersey City, N. J., October 12.—The will of Philip A. Payne, managing editor of the New York Daily Mirror, lost with Lloyd M. Bertaud and James Hill, pilots of Old Glory, when the airplane crashed at sea on its attempted non-stop flight to Rome, has been filed for probate in the office of Surrogate Norton.

The value of the editor's estate is not revealed. Specific bequests total $11,600, in addition to holdings of newspaper and realty stock and the unspecified residuary.

According to the will, Mrs. Dorothy Hughes Payne, of Brooklyn, Payne's widow, a former bathing beauty contest winner and Follies girl, receives a cash bequest of only $5,000. Mrs. Flora Jurich, a sister, of Astoria, L. I., receives $5,000 in cash, and Miss Kathryn Coyle, of Jersey City, Payne's secretary, receives $1,500.

Joseph P. Moran, of Brooklyn, a life-long friend, gets all the stock Payne held in the Elizabeth Daily Times. Thomas Payne, the descedent's father, of St. Petersburg, Fla., receives holdings in the Bayou Heights Development corporation, of Florida.

The residuary estate goes to Mrs. Margaret Bechtold, of West Newark, N. J., mother of Payne's first wife.

The will, executed August 16, about three weeks before the flight, will not be admitted to probate until Supreme Court Justice Kinkead hears testimony to prove formally Payne is dead.

INSURANCE TO PAY 5 MILLION STORM LOSS IN ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, October 12.—(AP)—At least $5,000,000 will be paid out by insurance companies on damage claims as a result of the tornado here September 29, H. W. Russ, of New York, general adjuster for the national board of fire underwriters, estimated today. He said not more than 35 per cent of the value of buildings in the tornado area was covered by tornado insurance.

How to Get Rid of Colds and Catarrh

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There are many people suffering from chronic catarrh who would like to know how they can stop catching cold after cold. They realize that sooner or later this may lead to deafness and other serious troubles.

Dr. Blosser, for years a specialist in catarrh, was the discoverer of a pleasant, direct method that can be used by women and children as well as men. His remedy is made from medicinal herbs, flowers and berries which you smoke in a small pipe or cigarette, and inhale the vapor into the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs, carrying medicine where sprays, douches and salves cannot possibly reach. It contains no cubebs, tobacco or habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is effective in all forms of colds, catarrh, catarrhal headaches and ear troubles that may lead to deafness. You will breathe better and feel better after using it.

If you suffer from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or, if subject to frequent colds, you should try Dr. Blosser's Remedy. Get one of the pocket size packages from any drug store and prove for yourself the pleasant, beneficial effects.—(adv.)

'Columbus Day' Is Observed By K. of C. at Dinner-Dance

Cultivation of the cardinal principles of Americanism was the keynote of the principal address delivered by James A. Hollomon, associate editor of The Constitution, at the "Discovery Day" dinner-dance of the Knights of Columbus Wednesday night at the roof garden of the Ansley hotel.

Four hundred and thirty-five years ago Wednesday, in 1492, Christopher Columbus sighted the shores of America and dedicated his discovery to his God and country. The organization which bears his name in sacred memory, Wednesday, fittingly observed the anniversary.

C. L. McGowan, president of the Atlanta council, of the fraternal order, introduced L. F. Gordon, formerly of New York, but who recently moved to this city, and Mr. Gordon acted as toastmaster of the occasion.

The principal speaker was presented to the more than 250 members of the local council and their wives, sweethearts and friends, who attended the elaborate banquet, by Mr. Gordon.

In a brief address in which he paid glowing tribute to the courageous and daring exploit of the conquering knight of Spain, Mr. Holloman defined the true meaning of Americanism and urged his hearers to cooperate in upholding the lofty ideals of the bill of rights and the constitution, from which it was formed. Unity in religion, cooperation, service and thrift was stressed by the speaker as the means of maintaining America the greatest of all lands.

Service of the Knights of Columbus units in the world war was lauded by Mr. Hollomon as he drew vivid word pictures of the K. of C. "rolling kitchen" and the huts on far-away battlefronts, welcome sights to tired doughboys.

Organization of a ladies' auxiliary was instigated at the dinner when officials announced that the names and addresses of all Catholic women of the city were desired and that plans were under way looking toward the formation of the auxiliary the latter part of the month.

G. B. Adair, talented Atlanta soloist, rendered several musical selections among them being "Side by Side," a late song hit. He was accompanied at the piano by his wife. A duet was also offered by the couple.

Father Railey, chaplain of the council and assistant pastor of the Sacred Heart church, offered a blessing preceding the dinner. The attendance joined in singing "America" as an opening number.

Dancing was participated in following the dinner.

DAY IS OBSERVED IN 35 STATES.

New York, October 12.—(AP)—Columbus day was observed as a legal holiday in 35 states today with ceremonies commemorating the discovery of America in 1492.

Banks and schools, public buildings and many private businesses in many cities were closed and exercises marking the 435th anniversary of the voyage of Columbus were held.

The major event of the day on the program in New York was the dedication of Casa Italiana, a center for Italian culture, presented by Italians in America to Columbia university. The list of speakers included Guglielmo William Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraph, who was the official representative of the Italian government, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the university.

Business was suspended in the financial district. The New York Stock exchange and all other securities and commodities markets closed their doors.

Fascists Attack Italians' Parade On Columbus Day

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Hoboken, N. J., October 12.—A small riot, reported by witnesses to have been a row between fascists and anti-fascists, almost broke up a parade of Italians here in honor of Christopher Columbus.

When the battle had ended Sergeant Joseph Pantialino, of the Hoboken police, who had waded in to stop the fight, single handed, was found clinging blindly to two prisoners. Both the sergeant's eyes were closed from blows and his captives, too, were badly battered.

The fight started while the paraders, who later carried a statue of Columbus through the streets, were assembling. Bricks were hurled, banners were torn, and many were bruised before police reserves broke up the melee.

Pantialino's prisoners were Salvatore Salustio, 21, and Joseph Marzucca, 32. Salustrio was taken to jail, but Marzucca went to St. Mary's hospital with a broken jaw, and the sergeant also went there to have his wounds treated.

CANADIAN PARTY PASSES MEASURE TO BAR ORIENTALS

Winnipeg, Manitoba, October 12.—(AP)—An immigration resolution endorsing "Oriental exclusion" was adopted today by the conservative party convention after the committee had submitted it a second time. An effort to change the phraseology to eliminate the word "Oriental" prevented action on the resolution yesterday.

R. B. Bennett, former minister of justice, was elected leader of the conservative party in Canada today to succeed Arthur Meighen, former premier, who resigned after his defeat at the polls a year ago.

Bennett's election came on the second ballot when he was given 780 votes, two more than the required number. His election was later voted unanimous.

Hugh Guthrie, temporary leader of the party, who received 345 votes on the first ballot, dropped to 320 on the second, while Bennett rose from 594 to 780.

WOMAN KEEPS BROTHER'S BODY HIDDEN 5 DAYS

Baltimore, Md., October 12.—(AP)—An investigation to determine why Annie Austin kept the body of her 66-year-old brother, Theodore Austin, secretly locked in their apartment for five days after his death is being conducted by authorities.

The body was discovered today when police summoned by the landlady broke into the Austin rooms.

No marks of violence were found on the body, Austin, physicians said, was suffering from an organic ailment and had been undergoing treatment.

STURTEVANT ELECTED GRAIN DEALERS' HEAD

Omaha, October 12.—(AP)—C. C. Sturtevant, Omaha, was reelected president of the Grain Dealers' association at the closing session of the annual convention today. A. S. Macnald, Boston, was named first vice president; John S. Green, Louisville, Ky., second vice president; Charles Quinn, Toledo, Ohio, secretary-treasurer.

The association reaffirmed its opposition to the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill and outlined proposals for farm relief. A resolution opposing the Frazier bill to bring grain trading under federal inspection was adopted.

MAN HELD IN MACON ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

Macon, Ga., October 12.—(AP)—An alleged check forger caught here Saturday and who gave the name of W. E. Falconi, has been identified as Anthony J. Rosa, an escaped convict from Jackson, Michigan, according to the police.

Falconi, alias Rosa, was arrested after he had been here only six hours, in which he passed a number of checks on which the name of a Macon plumber appeared. He was accompanied by his 19-year-old wife.

VESSELS TO AID FLORIDA CELEBRATE NAVY DAY

Key West, Fla., October 12.—(AP)—Four destroyers have been assigned to Florida ports for the celebration of Navy day, October 27, it was announced today at the offices here of Captain R. W. McNeely, commandant.

The U. S. S. Sands will be at Jacksonville; the U. S. S. Kane at Miami; the U. S. S. Humphries at Key West, and the U. S. S. Gilmer at Tampa.

122nd Infantry Officers Honor Col. Kimbrough

More than 60 officers of the 122d infantry, Georgia national guard, bid farewell Wednesday night to their senior instructor, Colonel James H. Kimbrough, on the eve of his departure for a two-year period of service in the Philippines. The affair was in the form of a dinner in the civic room of the Ansley hotel and a beautifully engraved watch was presented by the regimental commander, Colonel Charles H. Cox, as a token of the esteem in which the departing instructor is held.

Colonel Cox presided and introduced speakers, including General "Zeke" Williams, of the thirtieth division; Colonel Percy L. Jones, of the medical corps; Captain Robert L. Ennis, junior instructor, and Sergeant Murray, also an instructor. Colonel Cox paid high tribute to the work Colonel Kimbrough has done for the national guard of Georgia.

Colonel Kimbrought told of his love for his native state and for its national guard. He mentioned his first duty for the state at the University of Georgia twenty years ago, as commandant, and later in various capacities in the instructor's corps.

This assignment will be the second Colonel Kimbrough has served in the Philippines. For four years he has been senior instructor for the Georgia guard and Wednesday night he heard his proteges pay him high tribute. "It is easier to go," he said, "when such spirit is shown and this token of your affection will go with me as a constant reminder of as loyal citizens and guardsmen as any national guard boasts."

Other speakers highly commended the work which Colonel Kimbrough has accomplished in the state in placing its national guard among the leading military organizations in the country.

Colonel Kimbrough will leave today for Camp Benning, where he will take a lecture course prior to taking up his service abroad, early in the new year.

ACTRESS DIVORCES MATE BUT PLANS TO REMARRY HIM

Los Angeles, October 12.—(AP)—Adamae Vaughn, featured motion picture actress and sister of Alberta Vaughn, has been married, divorced and will be married again within a few weeks, all to the same man.

Filing of a final decree of divorce yesterday disclosed for the first time to members of the movie colony here Miss Vaughn's excursion into the field of matrimony.

Albert R. Hindman, Los Angeles contractor, is the discovered husband and future bridegroom. The first marriage occurred in May, 1926, and ended a few months later because of what Miss Vaughn last night termed "foolish and silly" reasons.

"We intend to be married again as soon as we can," the film actress said. "We are sure this marriage will be successful and happy."

GIRL WINS PLACE IN MAYOR'S RACE

Concord, N. H., October 12.—(AP)—Mayor Fred N. Marden today faced something no New Hampshire mayor seeking reelection has ever encountered—a young woman.

Miss Helen Gwendolyn Jones is his opponent, and hardly had the ballot counting which put her in second place among a filed of four been completed when she told the world that the mayor would have to do some lively campaigning to keep his seat.

"I am going after the election," was the way she put it.

MISS GOODRICH HEADS WAYCROSS MUSIC CLUB

Waycross, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—The Waycross Philharmonic club has elected the following officers: President, Miss Ellen Goodrich; vice president, Miss Annie Laurie Morris; secretary, Mrs. Walter Hill Slater; treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Daniel; parliamentarian, Miss Bessie Maynard; study leader, Mrs. B. N. Sykes; program committee, Miss Challie Miller, Mrs. Will C. Parker and Miss Lillian Price.

Atlantans Attend Power Conference at Chattanooga

A party of 16 well-known Atlantans, headed by Eugene Talmadge, Georgia commissioner of agriculture, left Atlanta Wednesday for Chattanooga, where they will represent the local chamber of commerce at the Southern Appalachian conference, which opens today and continues through Saturday.

Disposition of Muscle Shoals, authority of states over water power in unnavigable streams, relation of power to agriculture, state regulation versus government operation and power distribution will be some of the topics considered at the conference, it is said.

According to the program released a few days ago, Thomas R. Preston, Chattanooga banker and first vice president of the American Bankers' association, will preside over the meetings.

Commissioner Talmadge will speak on the relation of agriculture to industry and the need of decentralization of industry will be presented by Dr. J. S. Thomas, director of the extension division of the University of Alabama.

Other speakers on the program include O. C. Merrill, executive secretary of the federal power commission; Colonel Joseph Hyde Pratt, of Chapel Hill, N. C.; W. H. Onken, editor of The Electrical World; J. C. Williams, of the Southern railway; Henry Mace Payne, consulting engineer of the American Mining congress; Senator F. M. Sackett, of Kentucky; Congressman William C. Wright, of Georgia, and John A. Park, publisher of The Raleigh (N. C.) Times.

It is reported from Chattanooga that a large attendance will be on hand for the conference, which was organized five years ago at Asheville, N. C., at the call of governors of the southern states. At the time of its formation, six states took part in the conference, but since that time six other southern commonwealths have become affiliated with it.

Seaplane Arrives.

Miami, October 12.—(AP)—A seaplane piloted by Cy Caldwell, one of two planes flying from New York to Santo Domingo to inaugurate inter-island mail and passenger service in the lesser Antilles, landed here this morning. Caldwell will take off Thursday for Key West and Havana.

WARREN NAMED AMERICUS MAYOR

Americus, Ga., October 12.—(AP)—J. T. Warren, prominent Americus business man, was nominated for mayor in the municipal primary here today by a margin of five votes over his opponent, Major James A. Fort, attorney. The vote was: Warren, 691; Fort, 676. Nomination is equivalent to election.

Mr. Warren will serve the unexpired term of the late Mayor J. Elmore Poole, who died recently.

The vote was the heaviest ever recorded for a similar election, more than 50 per cent of those balloting being women.

Wallie Mott, Cliff Williams and Evan Mathis were nominated for councilmen, defeating Joe H. Poole, A. F. Fanning and Leon Slappy.

The election was without "issues," but was hailed as unusual because of pledges from each of the candidates to utilize every official means to apprehend and convict persons responsible for a series of midnight attacks on women on their homes here during the last year. To this was attributed the unusually large woman's vote.

Nine women have been the object of attacks by these mysterious marauders, who entered their homes, in most cases, while the intended victims were sleeping, over the 12 months period. One man has been arrested in connection with one of the cases and will be tried in February.

Something New In Laxatives

Acts With Time-Clock Precision in 60 to 90 Minutes; Gives One Thorough Elimination and Does Not Interfere With Duties, Habits or Diet.

These are but a few of the wonderful advantages of this new discovery, known as "Alertox," which flushes the alimentary tract and re-establishes a natural, healthy action of the liver and bowels, and is much quicker, more palatable, and far more effective than calomel, oils or other nauseating cathartics that merely goad the liver and work you to death.

Alertox also alkalines the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause auto-intoxication. Get a bottle from your druggist and if you are not satisfied after taking one dose, get your money back. If your druggist cannot supply Alertox, sent direct by Crystal Carbonic Laboratory, Dept. 19, Atlanta, Ga., upon receipt of price, 60c.—(adv.)

Johnson Prepares to Surrender Affairs of League

Ban's Long Reign Ends November 1

Chicago, October 12—(AP)—President Ban Johnson, of the American league, tonight entered the stretch run of his career as a baseball power after serving the league 27 years.

The retiring president has called a meeting of the board of directors at Chicago next Monday, when the affairs of the league will be presented to them preparatory to his surrendering office on or before November 1. All the records and financial affairs have been checked and audited so as to present a complete record of transactions that have taken place since the one-time czar of organized baseball took up his duties in 1900.

President Johnson gave no hint that he intended surrendering the affairs of the league before November 1, the date his resignation becomes effective. Neither did he give any intimation who would succeed him, declaring he had no knowledge whatever of the club owners' intentions.

Rumblings within the circuit indicate that E. S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland club, is the choice of the club owners and that his election will be announced when President Johnson's term of office expires. The headquarters will be maintained in Chicago.

"I am turning over the office in such shape that a child could read its history," President Johnson said. "My successor, whoever he is, will have no trouble.

"I hope my successor will be a strong man for the good of the league. Without one the league can easily go on the rocks. Factions form in all groups and one man must dominate all factions and have real authority. A rubber stamp president will be a mistake. He must rule with an iron hand without regard for friendship or factions."

President Johnson, peering into the baseball future, can see no sign of waning interest, but he feels that the sources of baseball supply are drying up and that new schools for baseball development must spring up.

Good Rookies Scarce.

"Year after year it becomes more difficult to maintain the playing standards of earlier years," he said. "Colleges do not produce many baseball players because there is only a lukewarm interest in the college game. The timber is scarce because there are fewer younger players coming up and the veterans are dropping out without proper replacement. You can see it all around. The old-timers are hanging on long past their time.

"The season just finished has proved that the fans are just as keenly interested in professional baseball as ever, but the game must be kept free from taint, away from gambling and from syndicating."

No Difference.

"What we need are curves and speed." And it doesn't make any difference whether it is pitchers—or chorus girls.

Boozer Pitts Made Head Coach At Auburn

Auburn, Ala., October 12.—(United News.)—The appointment of J. E. "Boozer" Pitts as head football coach at the Alabama Polytechnic institute was announced tonight by J. V. Brown, director of athletics.

Pitts succeeds Frank Morey, who resigned last week after serving as head coach for three years. Pitts was coach here before Morey came to Auburn.

Crimsons Sent Through Long Scrimmage

University, Ala., October 12.—(Special.)—As the time draws closer for the Tech game the Crimson Tide is frantic in its work to perfect its plays and get the team work down pat for the invasion of Atlanta this week-end.

Coach Wallace Wade is not letting his men rest at all, but is pushing them for all they are worth. Tuesday afternoon a short scrimmage was held but Wednesday night caught the team on the field. A long session was held with the dummy and other blocking and tackling practice as the Tide is not so well up on its fundamentals. Wade means for any football team of his to be able to block and tackle most effectively and enough work is being done in that department to make the Crimsons deadly tacklers.

Earl Smith, Beale and Spitz have been showing up well in scrimmage this week. They are the foremost ends and are going good, as they should be for the work on hand this Saturday.

McClintock has been playing end on defense and Smith has been playing in the backfield, where he is good at breaking up passes. Last Saturday Moley Smith started off the game at tackle. He was soon relieved but played a good game. This week's game should see him in action again.

The line is okeh. The regulars are fine and they have several to relieve them, but the backfield is still weak. Taylor may play in the Tech game, but Hicks and Holm are still out, and the other reserve backs are rather light to go up against such a line as Tech has this year. Brasfield, McClintock and Red Brown with Tuck, Taylor and Holm on deck are the best bets Alabama has in the backfield, how much more will be needed is yet to be seen. Holm is not out in uniform yet but will be this week.

TO SELL CHURCH TO HIGHEST BIDDER

Waycross, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—J. M. Williams, G. W. Cameron and Eugene Williams, trustees for the Concord Methodist church in Lanier county, announce that the church will be sold to the highest bidder at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, October 15.

Rain Slows Up Practice Of Bulldogs

Athens, Ga., October 12.—After a long slow practice on Wednesday the Bulldogs of the University of Georgia evidenced the fact that they have not yet recovered from the effects of the long trip and strenuous battle with the Bulldogs of Old Eli. Weather conditions made it almost impossible to put in the afternoon to the best advantage and while the scrimmage was long, three entire teams were used and no certain individuals were kept at it for any great length of time. The rain-soaked field greatly slowed up the practice.

Coach Woodruff hopes and believes that Thursday's scrimmage will bring out more results in preparation for the coming conflict with the Furman Purple Hurricane, which plays here Saturday.

Almost an hour of the Wednesday workout was devoted to setting up exercises and to running down and tackling under punts. The punts of Captain Shiver, who received much praise from Coach Tad Jones on account of his kicking ability, and of Roy Estes continue to hold the limelight. Experts express the opinion that no two better punters can be found on any one team in the south. Besides these two there are other kickers who can put up a good exhibition. Harvey Hill, H. F. Johnson and Bobby Hooks. The Red and Black is especially well cared for in this field of gridiron warfare.

It is expected that a great crowd of Furman supporters will swarm into Athens for the Saturday game. The Hurricane is equally anxious to repeat its victory over the Georgia Bulldogs this year as the Bulldogs are anxious to avenge their first defeat at the hands of the purple-clad warriors of Billy Laval.

The Red and Black gridiron warriors have a hard several weeks ahead of them. After Furman comes Auburn, in Columbus, followed by Tulane, in New Orleans, and Florida, in Jacksonville. Globe ttroters might be the term applied to the Athenians.

Scrimmages were held both against the freshmen and the Red Devils on Wednesday. The opposition proved very weak, especially on such a wet, soggy field. The frosh have one of the lightest teams in years, although some of them are showing up well, in spite of this weight handicap.

CURIOUS INDIANA GIRLS WALK MILES TO SEE FLORIDA

Jacksonville, Fla., October 12.—(AP) "We had a good home, but we just wanted to see Florida, especially the orange trees," Naomi Anderson, 19, and her sister, Alma, 17, told Jacksonville police today.

The pretty girls, clad in overalls, left Indianapolis last Thursday, they said, and reached Deland yesterday. Police there took up collection to buy them railroad tickets to Jacksonville. Here the Travelers' Aid turned the girls over to the police. Relatives in Indianapolis have been notified that they are being held here.

PURPLE HURRICANE BLOWS UNDER DIRECTION OF A BRILLIANT LEADER

BY WHITNER CARY.

Ever hear of the famous Purple Hurricane, the name of the Furman university football team? Of course you have, if you keep up with southern football. In fact, you have not only heard of one hurricane, but of many. For since 1920 these Purple Hurricanes have blown with a ceaseless regularity each autumn over South Carolina football. Of late the scope of their wake of destruction and ruin has been enlarged to take in many of the southern states with the result that many conference teams have felt the fury of the whirlwind from Greenville.

But it may be that you are unacquainted with the really remarkable football record made by this school since the war and of the man behind the gridiron destinies of that team. If so, lend me your ears and I will tell you a little about it and about William L. Laval, often spoken of as the mirical man of South Carolina football, and since 1915 coach at this school.

There have been instances where men little known to gridiron fame have returned to their alma mater and fashioned football teams of destiny. But it is probably a fact that no coach in this country ever had the success with as little real football training as has the man who directs football at Furman. High school football and one inter-class game at Furman in 1904, in which he led the soph-fresh team to victory over the junior-senior aggregation, is his record as a player. His second year at Furman saw the abolishment of the great fall sport among the classes.

But Billy was an athlete in other lines. He was a great college pitcher and later made quite a reputation as a professional baseball player and as a college baseball coach. But his athletic ability in other lines would not have carried him very far as a gridiron coach had he not possessed two attributes that are indispensible to a successful gridiron mentor, namely, a splendid brain and the knack to get every ounce of ability out of his charges. Add to these gifts of wonderful concentration a keen memory and painstaking study of football from the ground up and you gain some idea of the make-up of the man who has been for 13 years at the same school.

Success of Furman.

Statistics are boring at all times, but right here allow this writer to inject a few to show just what success Furman teams have had under the Laval school of training.

Although his team from 1915, the first year he went to Furman, until 1920 wrote creditable football history in the Palmetto state, it was not until the latter year that the full fury of the Purple Hurricane was felt. That year saw it blow through the state without a defeat. The following year was a repetition, and although there was no such thing as an official state championship awarded in those years it was the general opinion that Furman was entitled to the honor. No such haze of doubt hung over the teams of 1924, '25 and '26, however, as the brilliant Furman teams of those years were officially awarded the Focus cup, the trophy emblematic of the state gridiron championship. Furman barely missed the title in 1923, a 7-to-6 defeat at the hands of Clemson taking away the honor.

A Good Record.

Since 1919 Furman has played 43 games against South Carolina colleges. Thirty-eight of these have gone in the won column, two have resulted in ties and three were lost. An imposing record indeed! But the strength of the Hurricane has not been confined to state institutions as many a conference school knows to its sorrow. Among the notable triumphs over out of state teams since 1919 might be mentioned victories over Georgia, Virginia, Washington and Lee, Florida, Duke, Davidson, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, University of Mississippi, Mercer and Oglethorpe.

Some idea of what a thorn Furman is in the flest of conference teams may be gathered from the fact that last year saw North Carolina State, Georgia, Clemson and South Carolina, four conference teams, go down to defeat in front of the Purple clad machine of destruction.

In face of such a record as this little is needed in the way of tribute to the coach. You notice the word coaches is left out. For while Laval has several splendid assistants, it is the Laval system, plus the Laval personality, plus the Laval plan of battle that is the ultimate answer at the conclusion of each victory.

The man is really extraordinary in his methods of attack and defense. He is the synonym for resourcefulness. True, he has good material and is able by his personality to get everything out of his men, for they all swear by him in an almost holy manner. But there have been times when his machines lacked a drive, when his backs could hardly gain their age in yards all season and when it looked like an impending game would see his outfit annihilated. At such times the Laval brain, plus the Laval resourcefulness came to the fore and instead of a dismal defeat, a sensational victory was achieved.

Pulls Surprise.

Laval always does the unexpected. If the opposition expects a passing attack right there is where his backs hit the line and skirt the ends. If some particular player is looked upon as the big threat in a certain game that certain game sees that player having more or less of a vacation and some other ball carrier doing the gaining.

His methods of attack and defense are almost Napoleonic in conception and execution. His teams get beat at times it is true. But when this takes place the opposition knows they have met a real football team, trained to the second, coached to the last letter and possessing a spirit that will lay down its life's blood if need be for Furman and Laval.

CHAIRMAN MADDEN, WILL HALT RAIDS ON U. S. TREASURY

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—A warning that any attempt "to raid the treasury" would meet with stonewall opposition in the forthcoming congress was issued today by Chairman Madden in announcing that he had called the house appropriations committee to meet November 15 to begin hearings on the batch of annual supply bills.

"This is a political year and judging the future by the past," the chairman declared, "it is not improbable that some will attempt a raid on the treasury. We wish to have those who would like to conduct a raid to know that we are still on guard."

Philadelphia, Pa., October 12.—(United News.)—An $800,000 bonfire sizzled, popped and crackled at the Philadelphia navy yard today while a few sad-eyed sailors watched the assorted whiskys, wines and champagne seized on the steamship Bulko go up in smoke.

Federal agents supervised the destruction. Twelve of the Bulko's crew of 16, arrested a month ago when the rum runner was captured, disappeared after release on bail at a federal hearing.

Lakeland Sales.

Waycross, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—Several business sales have been made in Lakeland the past several days. W. E. Smith has purchased the R. E. Howell property of 245 acres. R. L. Patten has bought the Hinson property. W. J. Carter, of Nayor, has purchased from Perry Carter the Carter Grocery company.

Petrels Leave For Opener With Citadel

Coach Robertson To Carry 22 Men With Him to Charleston Tonight.

BY FRED M'EACHIN.

Tonight at 8 o'clock will find the Stormy Petrels of Oglethorpe boarding a Pullman en route for Charleston, S. C., where they take on the strong Citadel eleven Saturday afternoon.

This contest will mark the initial tilt of the season for the Petrels while the Cadets have played three games. It has been the misfortune of the Charlestonians to bow in defeat in each of these encounters and it is the hopes of the Oglethorpe boys to increase the string of losses to an even four. With this fact in mind and with it their paramount purpose to cop the opener, the Petrels will fight desperately to bring home the bacon.

A slight cloud of gloom gathered over the Peachtree road institution Wednesday afternoon when Clement, varsity end, received an injury to his arm during scrimmage with the rats which is expected to keep him out of the game Saturday. The extent of his hurt has not been definitely reported but little hope is held for his recovery in time to make the trip.

The injury list also reveals the names of Vaughn, Bass, Bell and Aldridge, all of whom will be unable to appear in the opening conflict because of recent injuries.

The Birds will be put through their final practice of the week this afternoon under the direction of Coach Robertson. The workout will be light, special attention being paid to the perfection of passes, signals and other finer points of the game.

It is very obvious that Robertson has decided upon a back field quartet that fulfills his requirements in the personages of Garlington, quarterback; White and Wall, halves, and Shepherd at fullback. It is possible that Taliaferro will be shifted to one of the halves before the final lineup is announced.

The linemen for the Saturday struggle is expected to be as follows: Hancock and Burford, ends; Sims and Perkins, tackles; Captain Guthrie and Goldsmith, guards, and Hutson at center.

The other men to make the trip have not been announced yet but it is understood that Robertson is carrying a roster of 22 gridmen.

SCORES WOUNDED AS CHINA STUDENTS EXPEL GRAFTER

Foochow, China, October 12.—(AP)—Scores were injured in a street battle today between parading students and soldiers of Tang Hsuching, the provincial military chieftain. The students were demanding the immediate expulsion of Tang Hsuching, following upon the latter's demand for a million Mexican dollars for leaving. He is accused of wholesale graft.

The populace have paid a half million and refused to pay more. Tang Husching has fled to a monastery in the countryside and threatens further reprisals against the district unless the other half million is paid. The inhabitants are alarmed and fear more serious clashes.

RELATIVES VISIT WOMAN IN JAIL.

Tientsin, China, October 12.—(AP)—After Madame C. C. Wu, wife of the Nanking (nationalist) foreign minister, had been held incomunicado for more than 36 hours, the authorities this afternoon permitted her mother, Lady Kokai, and other female relatives to visit the prisoner. They talked with her for more than an hour.

The military police officers told Lady Hokai that they had wired the Manchurian general, Chang Tsungchang, urging that he give them permission to release the prisoner, against whom no charge could be brought.

Military guards have been posted outside the room where Madame Wu is a prisoner but the wife of a military officer is in constant attendance on her.

MACON ADOPTS METER SYSTEM FOR WATER

Macon, Ga., October 12.—(Special.) Macon's waterworks department has been such a big financial success, especially through the establishment of the meter system, more than half of the consumers being on meters, that it has been decided to place all service on meters as soon as possible.

The consumers, however, are to buy the meters. Less water will be pumped and greater returns will be had for the water consumed, according to the officials of the department, than heretofore.

Dempsey To Make Peace With Kearns

BY JACK FARRELL.

By Leased Wire to The Constitution. Copyright, 1927, The News, New York.)

New York, October 12.—Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, and his old manager, Jack Kearns, who have been bad, bitter enemies for the past three years, are about to make peace. It was learned tonight that negotiations for a lasting and permanent peace between the pair have been progressing spiritedly for weeks and that everything points toward a reconciliation within the next ten days.

From the same unimpeachable source it was learned also that just as soon as the peace pact is signed Dempsey will return east to talk over plans for a barnstorming trip that Kearns has mapped out. The program is without doubt one of the most pretentious ever undertaken by a dethroned ring champion.

If it meets with Dempsey's approval Jack will engage in no less than four fights this winter, in Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles and New York, all of which will create a popular demand, if not a big national clamor, for a third meeting between Dempsey and Gene Tunney next year. Dempsey is said to have already signified a willingness to carry out such a program.

Billy Duffy, well known fight manager and Broadway cabaret owner, who has been mentioned from time to time as Dempsey's next manager in the event that the former champion cut adrift from Leo P. Flynn, is said to be the go-between in the peace negotiations. Duffy made an effort to effect a reconciliation before Dempsey left New York last week but the former champion pleaded for more time to think the matter over.

Dempsey considered and when he indicated to Duffy that he was in a receptive frame of mind and willing to listen to peace proposals Duffy immediately went to work on Kearns, with satisfactory results.

KILOCYCLES FAVORED OVER WAVE LENGTHS

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—Classification of radio broadcasts by kilocycles instead of meter wave lengths was approved today by two subcommittees of the technical committee of the international radio telegraphic conference.

Owing to the unanimity with which the motion was approved, delegates anticipated adoption of the new classification by the conference later. Kilocycle allocations are already being used by the United States.

Experts today said that a uniform margin between station frequencies could be established to avoid interference. Kilocycle classification is more practical, they said, despite the fact that complaints are expected to be filed by manufacturing concerns and consumers accustomed to the wave length graduation.

The American delegation today resisted an effort to amalgamate the radio and telegraph conventions by moving to pass over a French resolution to that effect, which was introduced in the technical committee. The American delegation considers that the telegraph convention interferes too much with internal administrative affairs of the radio concerns.

Interest has been aroused regarding the necessity of safeguarding American rights to communicate freely with overseas possessions. During a debate in the convention committee, the suggestion was made that all radio activities which extended beyond the three-mile territorial limit or interfere dwith the domestic wireless activities of another country should be considered international in scope. No discussion or action resulted, however.

COLORADO AND UTAH STATIONS ON NEW WAVES.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, October 12.—In order to bring the 60-day broadcasting licenses now in effect into conformity with the calendar months, the federal radio commission today issued a blanket order extending the permits, which would have expired next Friday, until October 31. New temporary licenses will be issued at that time, it was announced.

Another order, issued by the commission, designed to end the interference between broadcasting stations in Colorado, completely rearranges the power, frequencies and time schedules assigned to nine stations in that state as well as one in Ogden, Utah.

The stations affected are KLZ, Denver; KOW, Denver; KXKF, Denver; KFUM, Colorado Springs; KOA, Denver; KGEY, Denver; KFXJ, Edgewater; KFKA, Greeley; KGEW, Fort Morgan, and KFUB, Ogden, Utah.

COLOMBIA EDITOR, DIPLOMAT, STAGE DUEL WITH GUNS

Bogota, Colombia, October 12.—(United News.)—Two political enemies—one a diplomat, the other a newspaperman—fought an old-fashioned pistol duel today.

Congressman Alberto Velez-Calvo, former diplomatic representative of Colombia in Paris, proved a better shot than Alfonso Restrepo, well-known newspaperman and republican leader. Restrepo was wounded but is expected to recover.

NO CHANGES PLANNED BY PEAY'S SUCCESSOR

Nashville, Tenn., October 12.—(AP) So far as Governor Henry Horton now knows, no changes are contemplated in his "cabinet" of eight state commissioners, bequeathed to him following the death of Governor Austin Peay.

At his first session with the commissioners this afternoon since his inauguration, the question of resignations was not broached. "We got acquainted, found out where we were, and exchanged pledges of cooperation," Governor Horton said.

400 BALES OF COTTON DESTROYED BY FIRE

Columbus, Miss., October 12.—(AP) Approximately 400 bales of cotton was destroyed or badly damaged today in a fire which swept the warehouse of T. A. Noland at Gordo, Ala., 20 miles east of Columbus. The loss was estimated at $40,000.

Jackets Meet 'Bama Plays In Scrimmage

BY BEN COTHRAN.

The Jackets met the Tide Wednesday.

The Tide in this instance consisted of Hank Bjorkman's scrub team, each member bearing a number corresponding to that of the Alabama man who plays his position.

Following the meeting a scrimmage ensued. And more than once the psuedo Tide, using, however, actual Tide plays, found a leak in the Jacket forward wall and trickled through for a fair gain. This forward wall consisted of Crowley and Wadley, ends; Hood and Thrash, tackles; Drennon and Martin, guards, and Pund, center. In the backfield were Bob Horne, at quarter; Thomason and Mizell at halves and Randolph at fullback. It is entirely probable that this combination, with the exception of Durant for Horne, will start Saturday's game against the real Tide.

Alex used this varsity combination for a scant half hour, part of which time was spent with the varsity lugging the ball. Stumpy Thomason, of course, made some good gains. Randolph and Mizell met with fair success. Horne was smothered two or three times while attempting to pass, and did little ground gaining.

Signal Drill.

After being jerked from the scrimmage, the first stringers were sent to another part of the field and from that time until after dark ran signals while a team of reserves went in against the scrubs.

Alabama, as you have probably learned in the past two or three years, likes to pass. This same Alabama team has a way of sending out five eligibles for a pass, spread in fan formation, making it hard for an opposing team to break up these aerial flips. Coach Alex worked three or four backfield combinations for more than an hour Wednesday perfecting a defense against this form of attacking from the air, and the Jackets should know at least what's going on when Alabama begins flipping Saturday.

While the backfield men and centers were going through this drill, the linemen were taking lessons from Bill Fincher in how to break through a couple of charging forwards and attempt to get a backfield man. Charbing and blocking, perfect in their execution, will be required of the Tech linemen Saturday afternoon and they have had plenty of it this week.

Muddy Field.

The field was wet and muddy Wednesday, but the sun was shining. With a dry field for Saturday it will be a good battle when Alabama's line mixes with Tech's line. Alabama has the heavier of the two, but an attack is being planned to take care of that. How it works out will be ascertained Saturday.

Another scrimmage is probably on the books for this afternoon. It might be against more Alabama plays, presented by the same fake Tide of Wednesday, or it might be against the freshmen. Or there might not be any scrimmage.

The same wave of pessimism continues to roll out of Tuscaloosa, and reports have several backfield men all bunged up. That is being taken with a grain of salt at Tech and preparations are being made to meet a Tide with its full strength. And it will probably be at its full strength next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

HOMESTEAD BANK TO BE REORGANIZED, OFFICIAL DECLARES

Miami, Fla., October 12.—(AP)—E. M. Porter, chief state bank examiner, announced today after a conference with officials of the Bank of Homestead that reorganization of the institution virtually is assured.

At the conference it was agreed to postpone action on the appointment of a receiver until Monday, giving the additional time for completion of reorganization plans.

Mandamus action against Ernest Amos, state comptroller, had been brought, seeking to have him show cause why a receiver should not be appointed.

Girl To Gallop From Gotham

:: WILL MAKE BRITISH PEER SWALLOW HARSH WORDS ::

ToLosAngeles on $25,000Bet

New York, October 12.—(United News.)—In accordance with a $25,000 wager with his grace, the Marquis of Donegal, no less, a pretty 22-year-old girl will mount her horse at the city hall Thursday noon and set sail in a cowboy saddle for a lone jaunt to Los Angeles, 3,011 miles distant as the hoof beats.

The equestrienne, Miss Vonceil Viking, anticipates no trouble in accomplishing the coast-to-coast trot, she said today.

"I'll show his grace," said Miss Viking, "that American women are as hardy and hardier than the English."

She explained that it was one of the Mayfair wagers—the kind that have caused Michael Arlen to prick up his ears, listen, and become famous. Describing the marquis as "just a good friend," Miss Viking said that while he was dallying over his demitasse during a visit to London she made recently, the marquis turned the conversation to women in general and American girls in particular, and called them a pretty worthless lot, not so capable as their grandmothers by any means.

Horse Called Broadway.

Miss Viking admitted resenting this with such heat that the conversation got down to cases. The marquis, she said, proposed to wager 5,000 pounds from his privy coffers that she, personally, couldn't ride a horse from New York to Los Angeles if she spent the rest of her life at it. She told him 130 days would be ample.

"I cabled a friend over here to start preparations that night, and I came over here myself as soon as I could," said Miss Viking.

Miss Viking obtained her horse from Idaho and christened him "Broadway." Shen then bought supplies weighing 200 pounds, which will give "Broadway" just a trifle over 330 pounds to lug across the continent while dodging flivvers.

Supplies include two blankets, a set of spurs, saddle bags, a .32-caliber automatic pistol, assorted riding togs including several scarlet bandana handkerchiefs, a kit bag for camping out accessories and a road map.

Miss Viking, saying that her real name wasn't Viking although her first name is Vonceil, said she was born near Ardmore, Okla., moved to Tinie, N. M., at the age of two and grew up on a ranch where she spent a happy girlhood busting bronchos and roping steers.

"I'll make it in 100 days," she said. "I'm taking the southern route to avoid cold weather. I'll cross on the ferry to New Jersey, stop first at Newark, then Perth Amboy, Philadelphia and Washington. My route will take me through the Carolinas, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. I'm going to stop and surprise my mother in Rosewell, N. M., my home town."

Then, added Miss Viking, she is going to surprise the Marquis of Donegal by cabling him for that 5,000 pounds and make him eat his words about the decadence of American girlhood.

Miss Viking does not anticipate encountering Aimee Feliz Tachifely, an Argentine cabalerro, who started from Buenos Aires in April, 1925, to ride to the United States and reached Oaxaca, Mexico, Wednesday afternoon.

Avera, Webb In Auditorium Semi-Windup

38 Rounds To Be Presented by Matchmaker Abelson Tonight.

The Card

Place, Auditorium, time 8:30. Referees, Jake Abel and Jack Denham.

Tonight at the city auditorium local fight fans will have their first look at the former light-heavyweight champion of the world, Paul Berlenbach, who not so awfully long ago put a rude end to Young Stribling's dreams of some day becoming champion of the world.

Berlenbach is here to fight Joe Lohman in the ten-round main event of the fight program at the city auditorium, a card that calls for a total of 38 rounds of boxing at popular prices. This show is billed as the first of a series of big fights calculated to restore Atlanta's interest in prize fights.

Although chief interest centers about the appearance of Berlenbach against an opponent, whom Matchmaker Max Abelson declares capable of putting up a good fight, all of the action is not likely to be confined to th main event.

For instance, there is the ten-round semi-windup, which has as its principals two such well-known pugilists as Larry Avera and Spike Webb. They are expected to put on a rousing good show, particularly as Larry has been promised a main event shot here if he beats Webb decisively.

Avera Is Clever.

Avera, recognized as one of the cleverest boxers ever developed in this immediate section, has a habit of mixing slugging with his boxing tactics, while Webb resorts to slugging almost exclusively. Such a meeting is bound to provide excitement for the cash customers.

Billy Lotz, who handles the ring affairs of Avera, is confident that his boy will dispose of Webb, while the latter's manager was around yesterday telling any who would listen just how quickly Webb will knock Avera into the care of the referee. If he accomplishes that it will be the first time that it ever happened.

In the eight-round mill on the card Johnny Vickers, the Buckhead choir singer, will dispute superiority with Jimmy Hogan. Vickers has been coming along at a rapid clip and Hogan wants to spoil it all by licking him.

Casey Jones takes on Happy Smith in a six-round match, while the opening number of the show is a four-round setto between Homer Reid and Battling Maddox. The latter are youthful and courageous opponents who care more for a knockout finish than a referee's decision.

The advance sale of tickets has been handled exclusively at Chess' Place and they do say that the advance orders were right brisk. The doors of the auditorium will be opened tonight at 8:30 o'clock, while the ticket office will be opened several hours in advance of that. At that time general admission ducats will be available.

The officials for the evening's card are Jake Abel, referee main go; Jack Denham, third man in the preliminaries, and "Fat" Elrod, behind the megaphone.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

·BY· DICK· HAWKINS·

The Reward of Advertising.

There is no truer axiom than the one which reads, "It pays to advertise." Several months ago we advertised the fact to a friend of ours that we enjoyed flying of the safe and sane type which places us in a neutral seat with a good pilot at the stick.

Saturday night, with the big Lindbergh day on the horizon, we heard a familiar voice on the long distance telephone and it proved to be Curly Burns, our flying friend who was at that time running the Thomason flying circus in Millen, Georgia.

Result—we chased Lindbergh into Atlanta Tuesday and in addition to having a glorious ride we saw the Georgia flight of the famous "Lone Eagle" from an entirely different angle.

Let us mention at this juncture that Pilot Fritz, who handled the stick on the little Travel Air ship is a past master at blind navigation and in the handling of a ship in comparatively rough air. He is a credit to the organization which boasts the greatest of all stunt fliers—Mabel Cody, the woman who has stumped the world in perilous stunts.

It pays to advertise one's hobbies and we sincerely hope that Curly Burns will remember us the next time he is sending a ship from anywhere to anywhere else.

While on this subject it would be an oversight to leave the subject of Millen, Ga., without extending our thanks to the citizens of that city who made the short stay of Ben Cooper and the writer a most pleasant memory. Millen knows just what hospitality means and does not hesitate to exercise that knowledge.

Again our dear friend and compatriot in crime, Whitner Cary, has been ruthlessly attacked. A columnist for the opposition who bears the name of a famous Scotch poet berates Mr. Cary for a statement which obviously Mr. Cary did not make or even have in mind when writing the piece in question.

An over-zealous copy reader made a mistake in writing a head on Mr. Cary's story and the head never came to the notice of the writer. The head states that college spirit is lacking nowadays and the story says that betting on college football in these parts is on the wane.

There is absolutely no mention of college spirit in the article. It deals with the betting gentry who are not usually college men. Any newspaper man should know that the writer of a story very seldom, if ever, writes a head on that story and the attack on Mr. Cary for a statement which he most certainly DID NOT make seems entirely uncalled for. Oh dear, oh dear, there "ain't no balm in Gilead."

We poor scribes make enough mistakes for the public to light upon without having one of the brethren make false statements.

Billy Dugan Kayoes Canton Heavyweight

Jacksonville, Fla., October 12.—Billy ("K. O.") Dugan, Georgia heavyweight, scored a sensational knockout over Marine Toliver, Canton, Ohio, heavyweight in an exciting bout held here. The two warriors battled toe-to-toe for the greater part of the time, slugging away at each other. Dugan showed his greater hitting power when he landed a right-hander to the point of the marine's jaw in the early part of the ninth round, knocking him out for the full count.

EASTERN GRID TEAMS PREP FOR SATURDAY

New York, October 12.—(AP)—Varying degrees of success marked the work of varsity elevens in the east today as they pounded away in scrimmage in preparation for their roles in Saturday's busy schedule. Yale, Princeton and the Army were held to one touchdown each in their tussles with second teams, while in the Harvard camp a fighting varsity, trying to unearth a scoring punch for the Holy Cross contest, rushed the ball up and down the field to score three touchdowns against a team of ineligible players.

Some of the squads worked in adverse weather conditions. Coach Bill Ingram at the Navy welcomed a high wind and rainfall as it gave his players opportunity to show what they can do in handling a slippery ball, carried along in cross currents.

The powerful Lafayette team concluded its work for the West Virginia game with a stiff workout in which several players were shifted about in various positions. Dartmouth worked until dark set in, trying out a set of plays and perfecting a forward pass attack. Only one change in the lineup was made by Bill Roper at Princeton. But two regulars were missing from the Yale team, due to minor injuries. Two stars of other years took positions with the second team to test out Penn's line for the game with Penn State.

Columbia and Colgate both went through a long drill for their important clash and Syracuse worked behind locked gates for the Georgetown encounter.

Bostonian Wins Laurel Feature

New York, October 12.—(AP)—H. P. Whitney's Bostonian, with Jockey Workman in the saddle, today accounted for the Columbus day handicap, feature of Laurel's program. Canter finished second, two and one-half lengths ahead of Dolan. Five went to the post for the mile and one-eighth race. As the barrier lifted Joy Smoke wheeled and was left at the post.

It was a neck-and-neck run all the way around, Canter leading by a head, in front of Bostonian, until 20 yards from the finish, where their positions changed as Bostonian got a wider stride and beat Canter by the same margin, a head. Dolan was in third position all the way.

The track was sloppy and the time was 1:54 2-5.

Ariel galloped home with the Columbus day feature at Jamaica, doing six furlongs in 1:12 2-5. Sortie was second and Nusakan third.

Hawthorne's six-furlong event for all ages went to May Cooper, with Jack Alexander beating out Gotham for the place. The time was 1:18 3-5.

Guest captured the fourth race for 2-year-olds at Thorncliffe, with Partake second and Ellen O. third. The time for the six furlongs was 1:16 4-5. There were 11 starters.

Geneva College Downs Boston by 13-0 Score

Boston, October 12. — (United News.)—Geneva college, of Beaver Falls, Pa., defeated Boston college by a 13-to-0 score in a Columbus day game here. A forward passing combination which the Boston team could not stop won for the visitors.

The first tally came in the third period when a 30-yard pass by Fienniken was caught by Schachern behind the Boston team's goal line. In the fourth period Fienniken went through left tackle from Boston's 10-yard line for a touchdown. Schackern got the extra point with a neat drop kick.

Great Battle Looms In Athens Saturday

BY WHITNER CARY.

Greenville moves on the classic city of Athens Saturday.

That is, every person in that thriving South Carolina town who has ever heard of a football seen a gridiron or read about the great fall sport is going to head for the Georgia line, Athens and Sanford field this coming week-end. For on Saturday afternoon the Bulldogs of Georgia, fresh from their sensational victory over Yale, will be called upon to repel the torrid blast from that great football team known as the Purple Hurricane of Furman. And Greenville people, who look upon the Hurricane as part of Greenville and sometimes in an almost reverential manner, are going to be present to add vocal and moral support to their team.

It should be a great game. Last year the Hurricane blew across Sanford field with such force that the Bulldogs were sent down to a 14-to-7 defeat. This year both Georgia and Furman are stronger.

Georgia has victories over Virginia and Yale to its credit, while Furman has brushed aside Duke, North Carolina State and Mercer this season.

The Hurricane, always possessing a mighty drive, is said to have one of the greatest backfields in its history this season. This writer was talking a few days ago to a former college star, a close football follower and a splendid gridiron official. "Furman," said that man, "has a backfield that I believe could score on any team in the south."

With Georgia showing the best offense the Bulldogs have flashed in some time, Furman carrying its great offensive weapons into battle, the affair should produce attacks worth going miles to see.

In Whitey Rawl, Furman unquestionably has one of the greatest backs in the south. In Pipkins the Purple has a line plunger and defensive player who will take high rank. Latest dispatches say there is doubt if this great back will play. I have little faith in such reports and firmly believe that the Furman captain will see action.

Georgia will doubtless be very confident since its victory over Yale. But there is little chance of the Red and Black warriors taking Furman lightly. The Georgians realize what happened last year and are out to avenge that defeat.

Conversation on the way back from Yale clearly indicated that they did not underestimate the Hurricane and also that they wanted to make up for that sting administered by the Laval forces on Sanford field last year. They know that Furman has a great team. They are prepared to see a mighty machine in action. But they are also bending every effort to meet that great machine.

So judging from all this, the little argument next Saturday afternoon is going to be well worth the trip to Athens to see. And judging from all reports there are thousands who are of this same opinion. So come on dust, get ready to fly on all roads leading to the classic city. The result of that game is still in doubt, but there is no uncertainty about the crowd, it will be there in full force.

FURMAN GRID CAPTAIN LOST FOR GA. TILT

Greenville, S. C., October 12.—(Special.)—The outlook is not so bright in football circles on the Furman campus. It is almost certain that Captain Bood Pipkins will not be able to play in the game against Georgia this week. His inspiring leadership will be greatly missed.

Actual scrimmage began Tuesday afternoon when the "B" varsity offered the offense against the big team in running their secret plays that have been prepared for the Bulldogs to diagnose.

The big tussle will take place Wednesday. It is usually the midweek when Coach Bill Laval sends his "A" varsity into an afternoon devoted entirely to battle. The big eleven scrimmaged the Bohunks, who were instructed in the Georgia plays by Assistant Coach Scaley Carson.

When asked about the condition of the players, Coach Laval frowned. He admitted that some of the players were not in the best of condition but did so reluctantly. If the Furman mentor had not been pressed for a direct answer the probabilities are he would have evaded the question. He is very much opposed to what is usually called "blue dope" being sent out from his training camp.

The Purple Hurricane will make the journey to Athens this week with a determination to win. Every player on the entire squad has entered into the work of preparing for the contest with an earnestness that has been most pleasing to the coaches. The Hurricane may lose this game, in fact, the dopesters have placed the odds against them, but they promise the fans that it will not be a victory for the Bulldogs until the powerful Georgia eleven has overcome them with superior football.

Sports writers have praised the Hurricane for its offense. The Bulldogs are said to have the greatest offense of any conference team. Rawl, of course, will be one of the bright and shining lights. He has displayed remarkable ability this season as the quarterback of the Hurricane and is expected to show a fine brand of football against the Bulldogs.

Petrels To Meet Citadel Saturday

Charleston, S. C., October 12.—After meeting three of the strongest opponents on its schedule, the Citadel Cadets will play their first game at home on Saturday when the Oglethorpe Petrels come as opponents. There will be several features connected with this event in addition to the game itself.

It will mark the opening of Charleston's municipal stadium, which has a seating capacity of more than 10,000. This handsome plant will be the scene of all of the athletic contests here in the future and will provide ample accommodations for everyone. The seats are arranged in the form of a horseshoe.

Oglethorpe is opening its season with the Citadel. The Petrels began their training late and will play two or more games after the customary Thanksgiving day close. Persons are interested to see how this system will work out, for it may be that other southern elevens will follow the example of the Atlanta team.

Maybe.

Here's a Football Team That Doesn't Want Any Shoes

Lunchburg, Va., October 12.—(United News.)—Rain today deprived the "Shoeless Wonders" football team of the Presbyterian orphanage here from a possible victory over the Virginia Episcopal school eleven.

The sturdy 17-year-old urchins of the orphanage found the rain-soaked field, which squashed between their toes, much to their liking but their cleated-shoe "dude" opponents could not stand up on the slick grass so the the game was postponed.

The fame of the "Shoeless Wonders" is spreading so fast that Lynchburg football fans expect them to outrival the honors heaped upon the "Prayin' Colonels" of Centre college, Kentucky.

The orphanage team possesses but one football shoe, discarded by the Lynchburg High school. This shoe is used by the player who does the kicking and as soon as the pigskin starts flying through the air, the shoe is discarded.

They Don't Want Shoes.

"You couldn't put shoes on those kids, if you wanted to," Dr. William Megginson, superintendent of the orphanage, said. "I offered to buy shoes for the team but they refused.

"They wouldn't know how to run if they were hampered with shoes. Barefoot they can run like deers."

But the ability of the 115-pound orphanage team is not confined to running alone. It can buck the line and tackle with the best of them as opponents of last year will testify. Out of the entire season of ten games last year, the orphanage eleven was not scored on once. It even took the Lynchburg High school team on after the close of the season and administered a sound beating without allowing the high school team to cross their goal line.

L. S. U. RENEWS GRID CONTRACT OF DONAHUE

Baton Rouge, La., October 12.—(AP) President T. W. Atkinson, Louisiana State university, announced today that the university had renewed its contract with Coach M. J. Donahue to direct athletics at the state institution for the next six years. Every term of the original contract which expires at the close of this year, is retained.

President Atkinson's announcement definitely killed rumors that were rife following Donahue's visit last week to Birmingham with the Tiger team to the effect that the Beggal mentor was considering a return to his first college love, Auburn, where he was coach for 19 years.

The six-year contract signed today gives Donahue remuneration as the first-year contract. He came to L. S. U. at the highest salary then paid a coach in the south, $50,000 for five years.

"Mike" went to Auburn from Yale immediately after his graduation in 1904 and built up athletics and school spirit at that institution to a point envied by colleges over the south. For many years Auburn, under his direction, held the football championship of the south.

Fans Try To See Babe; Riot Begins

Dexter Park, N. Y., October 12.—(United News.)—Two fans were trampled and slightly injured and several others are sporting black eyes as the result of a boisterous riot which followed the last out of the exhibition game between Babe Ruth's touring ball troupe and the local Bushwick nine today.

The Busting Babes had won the game, 3 to 1, when the first of hundreds of shouting fans broke through the ropes onto the field in an effort to get close to the home run king before he could escape to the showers. The crowd wanted autographs and handshakes from the Babe. Milling and manling, the fans swirled about the field, fist fights starting and men and boys, caught in the crush, shouting. Police reserves finally restored order, when it was found that Babe Ruth had made his way to the locker room in safety.

Morehouse Team Preps For Howard Saturday

With the second team running Howard signals and formations against the varsity team in scrimmage Wednesday, Coach Harvey, of Morehouse, sent his charges through the third day of hard training in preparation for the game Saturday when the Maroon Tigers meet the Bisons, of Howard university on the Morehouse athletic field at 2:30 o'clock.

Railroads over the state of Georgia have offered a special reduction in fares to Atlanta, providing the passenger can reach Atlanta by 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Return tickets will be good until Monday midnight. With this opportunity on hand it is expected that over 5,000 colored fans will attend the game.

The Trouble.

IN TONIGHT'S MILL

Y Church Loop Meets Tonight

The "Y" Church Athletic association will hold its first basketball meeting Thursday at the Y. M. C. A., at 7:30 o'clock. Any church considering sponsoring a team is invited to have a representative present at the meeting.

About 24 teams made up the basketball leagues last year and there were six teams in each of the four leagues. The teams were classified according to their merits and including age and weight; in this way the teams were placed in the fast or slower league best suited to them.

Schedule.

Dempsey now plans second comeback. Say, that guy ought to work out a schedule—coming and going.

Pretty Big.

England's newest heavyweight is said to be so tall that if he is ever knocked flat in Dover he will have swum the channel.

Notre Dame Off For Navy Tilt

South Bend, Ind., October 12.—(United News.)—Another Rockne football company — three complete teams and substitutes—leaves Thursday for Baltimore to play the Navy.

Neimic and Chevigny, halves; Morrissey, quarter, and Dew, fullback, will probably be the first set of backs to face the Navy Saturday.

Navy formations were closely studied this afternoon, although the workout was slowed considerably by a soggy field. Notre Dame's squad has come through early games and scrimmages without injuries to players considered vital to Rockne's system.

Never.

Berlenbach Meets Walker November 21

BY BEN COTHRAN.

Mr. Paul Berlenbach, another one of these boys hitting the come-back trail—this Mr. Berlenbach, in this instance, seeking the light heavyweight title which was acquired from him by Mr. Jack Delaney in New York in 1926—arrived in Atlanta Wednesday night to announce that he had a fight Monday night in Miami with Tom Robson, of Boston, and a fight on November 21 in Los Angeles with Mickey Walker. Incidentally Mr. Berlenbach will mill around a ring at the city auditorium tonight with Mr. Joe Lohman, of Toledo.

Mr. Berlenbach, it will be remembered, on June 10, 1926, pounded excellently and unmercifully upon the frame of a Mr. W. L. (Young) Stribling, Georgia's schoolboy boxer, and sometimes Georgia's schoolboy fighter, in New York, putting to a temporary end Mr. Stribling's aspirations fo further renown as a championship contender.

Mr. Berlenbach is quite proud of the fact that he fought eight times during the year that he reigned as champion of the light heavies. Came, however, Mr. Jack Delaney, on July 16, of 1926, and in 15 rounds he succeeded in pushing and pummelling Mr. Berlenbach enough to acquire the title.

Delaney Withdraws.

Shortly thereafter Mr. Berlenbach quit the ring tried a comeback, and quit again. Then Mr. Delaney abdicated his championship to try the heavyweight division for the heavyweight purses which are quite prevalent among the big boys. Whereupon Mr. Berlenbach announced that he was coming back again, this time under a new manager—Ben Stern—and now Mr. Berlenbach is in Atlanta to mix with Mr. Joe Lohman, the fighting blade of Toledo, or words to that effect. It is alleged that Mr. Lohman—never a championship contender—is something of a fighter and that there should be a merry scrap when the two meet. That will be discerned, if ever, tonight.

Mr. Berlenbach seems to be a nice young man and he doesn't talk out of the side of his mouth. After his two bouts here in the south he expects to return to New York for a while. Then to the coast and a fight with Mickey Walker in Los Angeles. This Mr. Walker was managed to the middleweight title by Mr. Jack Kearns, winning in Chicago from Tiger Flowers. Mr. Walker, however, will be fighting in the light-heavy class when he meets Mr. Berlenbach.

Then Mr. Berlenbach intends to have a round at fisticuffs with Georgia's Mr. Stribling. Wednesday night Walk Miller, who handles Mr. Stribling's affairs, intimated that the bout would be held either in Atlanta or Miami. But a majority of Atlanta fans have shown a decided propensity for reading about their local prize fights in next morning's paper, and not paying out money to sit in the auditorium and get their information first-hand. Therefore, knowing Mr. Miller as we do, we can practically assure you that the fight, if any, will be held in Miami.

After fighting Stribling—Mr. Berlenbach and his manager assuming always that Mr. Berlenbach will win, a common failing of prize fighters and their manager—the next step in Mr. Berlenbach's climb up the comeback ladder is another bout with Mr. Delaney.

It would seem that Mr. Delaney, who is fighting Friday night as a heavyweight, in a match with Jack Renault, may regain his title by getting back to the light-heavyweight limit. Mr. Berlenbach would naturally insist very stridently that this be done.

It's a very nice program that Mr. Berlenbach and Mr. Stern have mapped out, and if someone like Mr. Joe Lohman doesn't step in and ruin it, Der Paulie may come back.

THE CONSTITUTION EXPRESS

It's Easy

ONLY 3 NEW { Daily and Sunday } SUBSCRIPTIONS NEEDED

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION makes it possible for thousands of boys and girls in Georgia, and especially the city of Atlanta and suburbs, to possess the "Constitution Express."

This smooth-running, balloon-tired COASTER WAGON wins its way into the heart of every child that sees it. It's the dandiest COASTER WAGON ever given away by any newspaper. It has a large-sized hardwood body (16x36 inches) finished with glistening varnish and brilliant paint. Heavy steel bolsters front and rear are extra braced. Silent running roller bearings and extra heavy single disc wheels make this the fastest and handsomest COASTER WAGON that you have ever seen. Tires are solid rubber and are of the full one-inch balloon type.

Strong—Swift—Silent

You cannot surpass this handsome "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagon for strength and durability. No old-fashioned wood bolsters to split and crack — The "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" has bolsters of heavy steel. Wheels have roller bearings, just like the big automobiles, and the full one-inch balloon-type tires make the coaster whiz by almost without a sound.

Read These Instructions:

New subscriptions must be from persons not at present subscribers to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, nor have been for the last thirty days, and must not, directly or indirectly, take the place of someone who is now or has been a recent subscriber.

Such new subscriptions will be acceptable in Atlanta and in any town where The Constitution has a carrier delivery service, provided the new subscriptions are acceptable to the carrier.

No. ..... Street or Avenue

P. O. .....Box No.....State.....

Balloon Tires

HOW TO EARN ONE

If you want one of these beautiful "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons, the first thing to do is to clip out the coupon at the left, bring or mail it to The Constitution for a Contest Book. When you get the book, if "Dad" isn't a subscriber to the Daily and Sunday Constitution, get his subscription first and then you will need two more.

THREE DAILY AND SUNDAY NEW SIX-MONTHS' SUBSCRIPTIONS.

That's all! Just three new Daily and Sunday six-months' subscriptions are required to earn one of these beautifully finished "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS" wagons. You are not to collect any money.

IT'S EASY WORK!

It will take you only a short time to get three new subscribers to The Constitution, because everyone knows that The Atlanta Constitution is Atlanta's outstanding newspaper. Besides helping you earn your "CONSTITUTION EXPRESS," the people who sign the agreement or contract for you are receiving the news of the world, interesting reading articles and features for every member of the family for six months.

Start out right now! It's more like fun than work. Get a contract book, secure from good, reliable, financially responsible subscribers, "signature of each," bring or send it to The Constitution office. After the subscriptions are verified and found "O. K.," the wagon is yours.

Read These Instructions Carefully:

Out-of-town workers must turn their coupon book of subscriptions, after it has been filled out with the required number of subscriptions, each signed by the subscriber himself, over to the local Constitution dealer for his acceptance of the new subscriptions.

Newsdealer will indicate his acceptance by writing on the back of the subscription agreement "O. K., accepted by me," and sign his name. Then the book with required number of accepted subscriptions to be sent to The Constitution.

COASTER WAGONS will be shipped by express (collect) to out-of-town workers. Those who live in Atlanta and suburban towns will get the wagons at The Constitution office.

O'Beirne-Milner Wedding Centers Wide Social Interest

Cordial social interest centers in the marriage of Miss Eleanor Wuerpel O'Beirne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. O'Beirne and Benjamin Charles Milner, which was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at All Saints Episcopal church on West Peachtree street. Dr. W. W. Memminger, rector of the church, performed the service in the presence of a representative assemblage of southern society. Dr. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, assisted.

The altar of the church was banked with palms and Easter lilies interspersed with cathedral candelabra holding lighted tapers which cast a soft glow over the picturesque scene. Huge lighted candlesticks tied with ribbands of contrasting shades were placed at intervals along the artistically decorated chancel rail which formed a circular mass of flowers before which the bridal party assembled.

Shubert's Serenade formed the theme of an exquisite nuptial program of music, featuring many of the favorite selections of the bride. At the first strains of the wedding march the bridal party entered, the ushers coming first. They were Paul Brown, Spann Milner, Willis Milner, of Asheville.

Bridal Party.

Miss Virginia Milner, lovely young niece of the groom, who acted as junior bridesmaid, entered next, wearing a becoming frock of yellow chiffon fashioned with tight bodice, bouffant skirt with uneven hem line, which was offset with two deep ruffles of tulle bordered with seed pearls. The bodice, which was fashioned with a cape effect also bordered with seed pearls, was cut low in the back. A band of French flowers in pastel shades finished the attractive waistline. She carried a corsage of lavender roses tied with streamers of yellow ribbon.

Miss Harriet Turman came next, wearing a gown of hydrangia blue fashioned along similar lines. Her corsage was of roses, the shades of pink predominating, with streamers of contrasting shade.

Entering next was Miss Mark Orme, the other bridesmaid, who was charming in an apple-green chiffon frock made along similar lines and artistically offset by her corsage of yellow roses tied with ribbands of contrasting shade.

Miss Mimi O'Beirne, sister of the bride, acted as her maid of honor. She wore a similar model of flesh chiffon and carried a handsome corsage of pink roses tied with silver.

Beautiful Bride.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the parents of the bride on Wesley road. The handsome home, which was thrown en suite, formed a picturesque scene for the occasion with its artistic decorations of ferns and autumn flowers. A large epergne of flowers in pastel shades, occupying the center of the handsome table which was overlaid with a magnificent lace cover, was surrounded with silver candlesticks containing pinkish white tapers, which were artistically ornamented with dainty bunches of roses and valley lilies in pastel shades tied with lovely streamers of silver ribband.

Mrs. E. S. O'Beirne, grandmother of the bride, was lovely in a gown of black lace fashioned along straight lines. Her corsage was of roses and valley lilies.

Out-of-Town Guests.

Out-of-town guests for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Milner, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Milner, Jr., of Asheville, N. C.

Brandon-Candler Wedding Is Solemnized at Richmond

Richmond, Va., October 12.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Louise Brandon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Brandon, to John Howard Candler, son of Asa Candler, of Atlanta, took place tonight in the Church of the Holy Comforter at 8 o'clock.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory satin, embroidered in pearls. Her veil, a heirloom, was of rose point lace held in place by orange blossoms. Her flowers were lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Miss Florence Hoffecker, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of pale pink satin and carried an arm bouquet of blue and purple delphinium and yellow and pink snapdragons. The bridesmaids wore delphinium blue satin dresses with slippers to match and carried arm bouquets of yellow and pink snapdragons and purple and blue delphinium. They were Misses Mary Peyton Grymes, of Richmond, and Harriett Page, of New York. The groomsmen were: Guy A. Dunlop and Newton Miller, of Richmond; John Hurt and Edgar Chambers and James Candler, of Atlanta. His best man was his cousin, Howard Candler, of Atlanta.

Miss Lutie May Hooten Will Give Recital.

Miss Lutie May Hooten, well-known soprano and pianist of note, will give a recital in the new building of the College Park Woman's club on Friday evening, October 14, at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Hooten is a daughter of the late Henry Cox Hooten, well-known educator and philanthropist, a native Georgian, and a first cousin of Atlanta's own General John B. Gordon. Her mother was Miss Nancy Jane Stakely, a worthy representative of one of the oldest and most prominent families of east Tennessee and later of Alabama.

Miss Hooten, herself, inheriting talent, has enjoyed unusual privileges, having had the advantage of training in a wide number of fields. Besides her successful career as a teacher and performer on more than a dozen instruments, she possesses a voice of unusual compass; and her audience will look forward with interest to hearing on this occasion, some of her creative work, since her program is to include some of her own compositions, both for piano and for voice.

Having held office in a number of patriotic and religious organizations, Miss Hooten is at present a member of the choir of the College Park First Baptist church, first vice president of the Business Girls' Bible class and pianist of the Senior B. Y. P. U. No. 2.

Miss Vittur Weds Tasco Ayers At Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Rosalind Vittur and Tasco Ayers was solemnized Wednesday at high noon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Josephine Vittur, on South Pryor street, before an assemblage of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. Sprole Lyons in the large central hall of the residence, under a beautiful wedding bell of white roses.

Mrs. W. E. Craig, accompanied by Mrs. Weyman Gower, sang "Because" and "At Dawning," changing to the wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the bridal party approached. "To a Wild Rose" was softly played during the ceremony. The double ring form was used, the ring given the groom by the bride being the one given her father by her mother at their marriage. The brother of the bride, Charles E. H. Vittur, gave the bride in marriage. The only attendants were Miss Winnie Colvin and George R. Eaton, of Athens.

A wedding breakfast was served immediately after the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Ayers left for a honeymoon motor trip through the Shenandoah valley. They will be at home after November 1 at 673 Pryor street, S. W.

The lovely bride was smartly gowned in woods brown transparent velvet, fashioned in a one-piece model and finished with collar and deep cuffs of exquisite lace in an ecru shade. The bodice was caught at the waistline with a rhinestone buckle and her hat was a French model of gold sequins and brown velvet. Her brown suede shoes, piped with gold kid, were finished with bronze buckles and she carried a shower bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

Miss Edna Epps Weds Dr. Mosley.

Mrs. Callie Epps announces the marriage of her daughter, Edna Sarah, to Dr. McRone V. Mosley, of Meridian, Miss., in Birmingham, Ala., Saturday, October 1.

Oglethorpe O. E. S. To Celebrate Anniversary.

Oglethorpe chapter, No. 122, Order of the Eastern Star, will celebrate its thirteenth anniversary Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Masonic Temple on Peachtree road at Buckhead. A splendid program has been arranged, featuring vocal and instrumental music and readings. Members of the order and the public are invited.

Miss Wolcott Is Feted Bride-Elect.

Miss Shirley Wolcott, a popular bride-elect of autumn, was guest of honor at the bridge-tea at which Misses Margaret Pyburn and Martha Elizabeth Williams were hostesses Wednesday at the Avondale club.

Before Baby Comes

Mother's Friend is a comfort to expectant mothers. Externally applied, it relieves prenatal distress by relaxing tight tissues and muscles. And it is so soothing. Its daily use makes the skin soft and pliable.

Three generations of mothers have praised Mother's Friend. "I think it is worth its weight in gold," writes Mrs. Lelah Mabe, Lawsonville, N. C. "My baby was born without hardly any pain and it was all due to Mother's Friend."

Minstrels To Be Given in College Park.

A minstrel will be given in the College Park city auditorium Thursday evening, October 13, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the local klan chapter and directed by Miss Mary Freeman, graduate of the Boston School of Expression. Songs, dances and crossfire witticisms by black-face comedians will feature the performance.

A note of real artistry will be introduced in a white-face act, "A Break in the Honeymoon," put on by Miss Mary Freeman, Miss Kitty Vance and Edgar Longino, supported by Misses Mary Busha, Laura Vance, Anna Price, Martha Ison, Eloise Duncan and Annie Ray Thompson in chorus numbers.

Solo groups will be given by Roy Jones and Clarence Wall. A male quartet and a stringed orchestra will render other musical numbers.

The hour for Mrs. Potter-Spiker's class in physical and mental development has been changed from 11 o'clock Thursday morning to 9:30 o'clock, at the Atlanta Woman's club.

The course arranged by Mrs. Spiker will require the assistance of her dancing director and accompanist and the course will not be given at the club unless 20 names are enrolled in the class. A fee of $10 for 12 lessons is being charged for this course and through the courtesy of Mrs. Spiker this special rate has been obtained as private lessons for the same work would entail a much larger fee.

The course offers a study in the correction of physical mistakes, exercises to music, modern dancing, talks on diets and diet lists. Other notable features will be lectures on mental development, the study of lines, dress, poise and all the social graces. For registration call Mrs. Tom Brooke, Hemlock 2512-J, chairman of the education department, sponsoring this class.

New Creme Whitens Skin Quick

Bad Complexion Only a Mask

Never again need you let your skin lay clouded or masked. Never again need you permit sallowness, roughness, muddiness, blotches, blackheads, pimples, freckles, tan or other imperfections to spoil your pretty skin. Science has discovered that such blemishes are only a film that conceals your schoolgirl skin of natural beauty. Now—a new creme dissolves that film almost before your own eyes. Practically overnight, this marvelous beauty help brings back to you a clear, smooth, youthful and glowing white complexion.

Try this 3 Minute Test: Before retiring apply a thin coating of Concentrated Marsha Bleach Creme. No massage. No rubbing. The secret is in the creme. The next morning, look into the mirror and see the change—note the absence of pimples, blackheads, freckles. Gaze on a beautiful, soft, white skin you can hardly believe is yours—and best of all—it's real. It's your own natural youthful skin that is there right now but hidden.

RADIO-ING The Air Waves.

BY WILL SMITH

We do not mind radio-ing the air waves a bit when we are able to take advantage of a combination of circumstances such as we had Friday night, notwithstanding the barrage of static old Dame Nature let down on the listening public.

In the first place, thanks to the Sears-Roebuck company, the Maxwell House coffee hour, and the Goodrich Silvertown organization, we had a most excellent program that came to us with perfect modulation from our local station. And, in the second place, we had our faithful little Fada Special that Cochran-Radio sent us to listen in with.

It was a fine combination, for it not only makes the Dial Twister's work lighter but far more enjoyable. It is no wonder, when we continue to get good local programs such as were offered last night, that folks generally are taking more and more to radio.

We will admit that if we had had to step out and hunt up a distant program to while away the evening, we would have shut off the current and called it a day without expending any more energy than was required to locate static.

We tuned in on WSB at 7 o'clock to hear the Sears-Roebuck hour with its playlet, "Betty's Butler." While we cannot get enthusiastic over the spoken "dramer" as it comes to one via the air, we can and do enjoy the kind of singing put out by Paul and John, the two disciples of harmony, who bedeck the Sears-Roebuck payroll.

Paul and John sang "Highways are Happy Ways," and "Dew Dew Dewy Day," as well as any performers we have heard locally or from any of the big eastern or northern stations. They put these two new numbers over Wednesday night with "wim and wigor," if you know what we mean.

We like to hear George Biggar do his announcing for the Sears-Roebuck programs. He has a way all his own that makes one feel he thoroughly enjoys his work. You can almost hear him chuckle, so when we heard his familair voice taking lines in "Betty's Butler," the entire effect was lost on us. Hereafter, we hope George sticks to the announcing end of his job and gets someone else to do his aerial acting for him.

It was a real treat to listen in on "The Beggar's Opera," put on the air during the Maxwell House coffee hour. As we said before, the dialogue had small appeal. It was the music in its various arrangements that intrigued us.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE OPENS AT CUTHBERT

Cuthbert, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—The southwest Georgia annual conference of the A. M. E. church convened in Payne Chapel church, this city, today. Rev. C. Johnson is pastor and Bishop J. S. Flipper, Episcopal head of the A. M. E. denomination of Georgia, is presiding.

Drs. J. I. Stringer, J. B. Lofton, John Cooper, J. T. Barr, J. H. Bryant and F. M. Johnson assisted the bishop in conducting the devotional exercises. The conference perfected the organization in the election of Drs. H. E. Davis, E. D. Baldwin and G. C. Thomas, secretaries, and Revs. B. J. Shackleford, G. W. Richardson and J. T. Shumake marshals of the conference; Drs. C. P. Hobbs and Frank Moore, reporters to church periodicals; Drs. J. A. Hadley and W. O. P. Sherman to the secular press news.

Drs. J. T. Wilkinson, representing the Book Concern, and M. A. Fountain, of the A. M. E. Review, Philadelphia, addressed the body today in behalf of their departments.

Bishop Flipper in his annual address to the conference spoke on the educational drive, the missionary work and the young people's state work which is carried forward by Rev. C. A. Wingfield and Professor C. H. Harrold. Drs. F. H. Smith, treasurer college funds; I. G. Glass, A. B. Walton, G. B. Lancaster, L. A. Townsley, W. B. L. Clark, W. Boyd Lawrence, John Harmon, David Morris, W. O. Slade, B. S. Homer, representing the state work in the campaign drive for education, are attending the conference. Dr. H. B. W. Wilson, agent of the American Bible society, New York, and a special delegation from Florida, including Revs. R. A. Grant, Dr. A. B. Cooper, President Edward Waters college; Dr. G. E. Curry, J. D. Jennings and E. C. Hatcher were present today.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the valuable properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real healing power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Big Time Entertainment For Everyone

A Chronicle of Recent Phonograph Record Releases

BY WILLIAM HENRY,
The Night Watchman.

Beyond punching the time clock every hour or so during the night, there isn't much to this job of ours and we just naturally expect to have a few odds and ends unloaded on us as we wend our way from basement to roof, but when the boss told us we would have to play some of these new records he had in the office we thought he was spoofing.

It seems that he had decided, on the spur of the moment, to start a new column in the paper and tell the world about the various new records that you and other phonographically inclined musicians were being asked to buy but something went wrong with his plans at the last minute and the Night Watchman had to be drafted for the work.

A nice, shiny new phonograph had been installed in the boss' office and with it the Brunswick folks had delivered a bunch of new records to be released Thursday. All your old Night Watchman had to do was play these records, about a dozen in all, between clock-punching times.

We played them all, from "Sax-o-trix" to "Dew Dew Dewy Day," both sides, forward and back, and while we wouldn't care to take them all home with us, three, or four maybe, sure made a hit with us. Being a Night Watchman, we aren't supposed to know a whole lot about music, if you know what we mean, so the records we picked out may not be the records you want in your library.

If our selection doesn't suit you the best thing for you to do is to drop in at M. Rich & Bros. Co. or the Cable Piano company where you can hear them all.

In the first place, we liked the way Chester Gaylord, the "Whispering Serenader," with his deep voice, sang "Dew Dew Dewy Day." On the other side is recorded his rendition of "You Don't Like It—Not Much," which also appealed to us. The words of that song sure reminded us of our job which we don't like—not much.

Another record that hit a responsive chord in our breasts was a well played jazz number, "Highways Are Happy Ways," recorded by Frank Black ad his orchestra. On the other side of this record was "I'd Walk a Million Miles." Believe me, the man that wrote that song never did any night watching around a newspaper office. We sure hope they play both these dance numbers Saturday night.

"OLD-FASHIONED" REVIVAL IS NEEDED, SAYS REV. ERICKSON

An ardent appeal for an old-fashioned revival that will spread to every church in Atlanta was voiced by Rev. R. L. Erickson, evangelist, Wednesday night at the Gospel Tabernacle on Capitol avenue. "This town needs a gospel revival," he said. "Go home and pray. Get down upon your knees and ask God to give us the victory."

Rev. R. D. Kilgour, of Minneapolis, Minn., is scheduled to arrive in Atlanta today and will join the revivalist in his campaign. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Moburg, soloists, are assisting at each service, and the musical program was augmented by an orchestra Wednesday night. Services will continue daily at 2:30 and 7:30 o'clock.

ATLANTA ARCHITECTS SELECTED IN TIFTON

Daniell and Beutell, Atlanta architects, have been selected as the architects for the new school building to be erected by the Tifton Consolidated School district, in Tifton, Ga., it was learned Wednesday, following a meeting of the board of trustees of the school district.

The Atlanta architects now have three buildings under construction in Cook county, a grammar school building at Sparks and Adel and the new Cook County High school building.

GIBSON PRESIDENT OF CIVIC WORKERS

J. S. Gibson was elected president of the Cascade Heights Civic club at a meeting held recently. Other officers are Hilliard Way, vice president; Mrs. W. G. Whisanaunt, secretary, and Morris C. Foster, treasurer. The club was organized in September and 45 new members were added at the last meeting.

Goodies Are Barred To the Fat

Over 20 years ago medical science discovered a great cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of a substance which controls nutrition. A factor which Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat.

Then that factor was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Now people have used them for two decades—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. Today everyone can see that excess fat is nowhere near as common as it was. In almost every circle slenderness prevails.

The use of Marmola requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. Users simply take four tablets daily until they correct the cause. They know what they are taking, and why. The formula is given in every box, also the reasons for all results. Every user knows why the benefits come, and why they involve no harm.

You should try Marmola. Consider what it has done for so long, for so many. Watch what it brings to you in new beauty, new health and vitality. Learn the easy, pleasant, right way to a normal figure. As long as you live you may be glad that you found this scientific method. Order now—before you forget it. Do not wait.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

For Men Who Get Up Cross In the Morning

Lots of men are like that. Won't speak a pleasant word—if indeed they'll speak to you at all—until they've had their breakfast. No matter what you say to them, it's the wrong thing.

The way to treat men like that is not with conversation. They are the men who, like most Americans, live on their nerves. They work too hard. They don't get enough sleep. And when they have to get up in the morning, they are not completely rested. So they're cross.

What they need is a good hot drink that will refresh them—that will taste delicious and satisfying without setting their nerves on edge—that will give them a comfortable sense of well-being—that will put them in harmony with themselves, with you, and with the rest of the world—and that will make them fit for the strenuous day before them.

Any one of the three perfect RIDGWAYS blends can do this. Try it! Compare its effects with those of any other drink. You'll notice the difference in one day. You'll be calmer, happier, and easier to live with. And you'll love the delicious, full-bodied flavor.

"The First Thing You Thing of"—Ridgways Teas

THREE perfect blends to meet all demands:

Lost for Eight Hours, Jimmie Odum, 3, Found Four Miles From Home

After being lost for about eight hours, Jimmie Odum, Jr., 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Odum, of 940 Piedmont avenue, N. E., was found late Wednesday afternoon by his father on Peachtree road about four miles from home.

The lad when found had a handful of chewing gum and candy, "bummed" from drug stores along the way. "I thought I'd catch a street car back home," the little fellow told his daddy. "I was trying to catch a train to see grandma, but it rained so hard and I'm tired," he said. His grandmother lives in Greensboro, Ala., Mr. Odum stated. The lad wandered away from his nurse shortly after 8 o'clock Wednesday morning and was traced by the sweet stuffs he had been given by drug stores and persons along the way.

JUNIOR CHAMBER HOLDS LUNCHEON MEET TODAY

Dr. Sidney L. Davis will have charge of the regular weekly luncheon of the junior chamber of commerce today at 12:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce building. An interesting program has been arranged, including a number of novelty dances by Jeanette Kelly, talented Atlanta dancer. Plans for the Community Chest drive, which will start October 21, will be discussed at the meeting.

Do you feel like going back to bed?

AFTER YOU have dressed your children, fed them, and sent them off to school, do you feel like going back to bed? Do you shrink from your daily task of dish-washing and house-cleaning? Are you tired? Discouraged?

Many women have found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for that tired feeling. It builds up the appetite. It induces natural sleep. Read what these two women say about it.

GAINED 18 POUNDS

Cleveland, Ohio:—"After having my first baby I lost weight no matter what I did. I went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble." Mrs. M. Reissinger, 10004 Nelson Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

NERVOUS SPELLS GONE

St. Paul, Minn.:—"I used to get nervous spells that would last a couple of days and were so bad that I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight. One day a little booklet was left on my porch and I read it through. I found a case similar to mine. I bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have had fine results. Now housekeeping doesn't tire me." Mrs. Jack Lorberter, 704 Dellwood Place, St. Paul, Minnesota.

SYNOPSIS.

Sandle and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Brierly of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augustus Brierly, Donald's father, presumed to have died on the Titanic, calls on Sandle. Querk suggests to Sandle that he invite Brierly to Harrowby house and there with the assistance of Querk's tool, Wade, dispose of Brierly.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and, going to investigate, she sees Sandle and another man kill Mr. Brierly, whom she recognizes from his portrait. Rushing out of the house, Connie stumbles into Mr. Querk. While telling her story, Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and, calling him, the three proceed to the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she had seen the men place the body. It is empty. Querk accompanies her to the police station, where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk intimates that she imagined the scene and in exasperation Connie goes to see Olive, who believes her story.

Querk requests Sandle to come to the superintendent's office and he presents his alibi, which the police officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wode's office where old man Turle and his son, the spurious heirs, await them. The old man dies just after they walk into the office.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones there. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Turle, Jr. Querk later pretends that Connie imagined she saw young Jones. He tells Olive that Sandle is about to bring criminal suit against Connie unless Olive, as her nearest friend, has her committed to a private sanitarium which she recommends. While Donald is visiting Connie at Maenton house a body is found buried in his garden. Olive, sent out on the case by her newspaper, meets and warns Donald. She arranges a hiding place for him in London. Detective Rason calls on Olive.

INSTALLMENT LII.
A BAD OMEN.

Olive trotted gayly down the stairs, humming the fragment of a revue ditty as if she had not a care in the world.

She went into a telephone booth and made arrangements to take over a room vacated by a girl friend of hers, then took a taxi to Bedford row and asked if Mr. Querk could see her.

"I'm afraid Mr. Querk is engaged at the moment, Miss Weston," Cave told her. "And he's got a rather busy morning. But I'll inquire if he can see you for a few minutes after his present caller has gone."

Presently Querk's voice came faintly to her:

"Tell Miss Weston if she will be good enough to wait five minutes I shall be pleased to see her."

In the inner office Querk was standing astride the hearth comfortably digesting his breakfast. In the clients' chair was Sandle. He had braced himself when Cave had entered, but now, as the door closed, he seemed to collapse.

"That girl!" he almost whispered. "It's a bad omen. I don't like her coming now. What can she want?"

"That girl!" repeated Querk, horrified. "Tut, tut, tut, my dear Sandle! I may be old-fashioned, but I confess I cannot tolerate disrespectful references to ladies I have the honor of numbering among my acquaintances. Miss Weston is a little ultra-modern, perhaps—but a sterling woman, Sandle, with her head screwed firmly on her shoulders."

"I know!" grunted Sandle. "She tackled me once. Fires questions at you like a machine gun—and remembers all your answers. She means mischief, Querk. My God! Everything possible has gone wrong."

"Upon my word, Sandle, I do believe you are one of those men who invent troubles when they have none! You say everything has gone wrong. I ask you what has gone wrong? The identity of poor Mr. Turle, who was so foully done to death, has been established, and there is no impediment to the claim of his son. I thought I had explained that, my dear fellow."

"But——"

"I know what you are going to say, but permit me to tell you you are wrong," interrupted Querk in the tone of one who is harsh in order to be kind. "Mr. Donald Brierly's continued existence—ah—assuming that his existence does continue indefinitely—a very foolish assumption, in my opinion—his continued existence, I say, is no bar to your client's claim. Brierly, Sr., was the first beneficiary, Turle, Sr., the second. As we know that Turle, Sr., was alive until a few days ago, his claim is good—posthumously, of course—and so the estate will go to his son——"

"I wasn't going to say that at all," cut in Sandle. "I was going to say that as long as Donald Brierly is alive there is a risk—a most decided risk. You can't be sure that at some time in the future they won't be able to prove that this girl is as sane as you or I."

"You are forgetting that her condition is materially worse since her incarceration," put in Querk. "You forget that in spite of the ministrations of a most excellent nurse the patient is regularly exhibiting more alarming symptoms."

"Yes, yes, I know. But as long as that fellow is at large we are none of us safe, really. Can't you see someone must have passed the tip yesterday when he was at Maenton house?"

"Very true! Very true!" interrupted Querk. "And a moment's reflection will show you that that tip must have come from one of two sources."

"Eh? What sources?"

"The police," said Querk, softly, "or—the press."

"The police! That's pretty absurd. And why should the press——"

"Precisely!" broke in Querk. "Why should the press? One has to assume that some one employed by the press must have passed the tip to Brierly, thereby impeding the police and spoiling the news. Extraordinary conduct on the part of a person employed by the press, you will say—and I will agree with you. Unprecedented. And therefore—very easy."

"Easy!"

"Good Lord! That girl!" exclaimed Sandle.

"I never make anybody do anything," he said severely. "But we are forgetting our manners, my dear Sandle, in keeping the lady waiting. I take it that you will prosecute the civil claim of your client, Mr. George Turle, without delay. On behalf of my client, Mr. Donald Brierly, I shall, of course, formally oppose the claim. But I will admit to you that it will be little more than a formality. Good morning, Sandle. This chat has been very pleasant."

Querk struck the bell, as Cave appeared Sandle left by the door giving on to the corridor.

The memory of her last visit, in which Querk had scored heavily for his championship of Connie, was strong upon her and she was prepared to eat her share of humble pie.

"Ah, my dear Miss Weston!"

"Good morning, Mr. Querk. Last time I was here you showed me that you were a better friend to Connie than any of us. I have come here on Connie's account chiefly."

"O! Is she—ah—has she had, by any chance, a relapse?"

"She jolly well will have as soon as she reads the news—unless you can see daylight."

Querk glanced helplessly toward the window and was silent.

"What do you make of this murder nonsense, Mr. Querk?"

"To be quite candid Miss Weston, I have not formed an opinion. There are many puzzling factors. Many—puzzling—factors. And the most puzzling of all is the young man's flight."

"D'you believe that he did it, then?" rapped out Olive.

"At all costs I must avoid giving you an insincere assurance merely to comfort you," said Querk ponderously. "As a pure logician, on the facts available, it would be foolish to deny that there is a case against him, but on the other hand all one's reasoning is destroyed by the fact that that one knows the young man. One is therefore quite convinced that such a thing is wholly contrary to his nature—that it is the last thing in the world he would do."

"That's jolly fair," said Olive, her suspicion vanishing. "Now you'll undertake his defense, won't you?" And before Querk could answer she hurried on: "Now, you know in your bones as well as I do that he didn't do it, whatever appearances may suggest. Well, we can start from the point that all this evidence the police have got hold of that makes it appear that he is guilty is faked stuff—that Don—Mr. Brierly—is the victim of a plot."

Erlanger.

Ziegfeld's rollicking musical comedy "Kid Boots," which has won deserved popularity in Atlanta, is upon the final stretch of its engagement, which terminates at the Erlanger theater Saturday night. This play strikes a new note in American musical comedy, and is one of the few productions which satirizes a theme of topical interest. It is a satire set to music on golf and Palm Beach. "Kid Boots" is a real Ziegfeld offering, the many melodies, bizarre costumes and artistic ensembles setting a high mark in offerings of this kind. Pauline Blair, the leading woman, is a treat to look at, dances expertly and sings quite well. Charles Williams dons the title of "Kid Boots" and stamps himself as a comedian of high order. His efforts to instruct the stalwart Dr. Josephine Fitch, played by Harriet V. Miller, in the mysteries of golf, is one of the outstanding features of the performance. Chuna Paul as Jane, and James Donnelly as the society reporter, are high lights in their eccentric dancing.

Coming to Erlanger.

The advance sale of seats for Cecil B. DeMille's "The King of Kings," coming to the Erlanger theater next Monday night for one week only, with showings twice daily thereafter at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m., for the first showings outside Boston, New York and Philadelphia, opens today at 10 a. m. Manager Haase has completed arrangements for taking care of one of the biggest lines that has been seen at the Erlanger theater box office this year. The mail orders from city and out-of-town, received already, indicate the biggest demand for this great road show presentation, which is now in the seventh month of its capacity run at the Gaiety theater, Broadway, New York city. "The King of Kings" is based on the story of the gospels and the life of the Divine Man of Nazareth. The color and warmth of real human interest are here, cojoined with spectacular beauty and the very height of dramatic power. A large 70-foot railroad baggage car is necessary to transport the company's special stage and electrical equipment. The delightful musical score is played by the company's own traveling symphony orchestra of 20. Seats for all performances during the week may be had at the theater box office, at M. Rich & Bros. Co., or Phillips & Crew Piano Co.

Keith's Georgia.

Patrons of Keith's Georgia this week surely get their money's worth in the length and strength of the program. It is probably one of the longest shows ever presented in that theater, consuming in all three hours. Starting with Rod LaRocque in "The Fighting Eagle," a film feature depicting the stirring events of the French soldiers, the bill runs into the historical flight of Colonel Charles Lindbergh to Paris and then the five acts of Keith's big time vaudeville.

Loew's Grand.

Five acts of more than usual pretentiousness are on the bill of vaudeville playing this week at Loew's Grand theater, headed by Lester Lane & Co. Other acts are Scott Bros. & Vernon, harmony singers and comedians; Al and Ted Waldman, blackface comedians; Savoy & Mann in a funny sketch with musical numbers, and Little Pippifax & Co., tumblers and acrobats. Ramon Novarro is star in "The Road to Romance," a stirring sea tale based on one of Joseph Conrad's most popular novels.

Forsyth.

Helene Dumas, quite the most attractive and talented stock leading lady the town has ever seen, is just one of the many reasons why you should see "Loose Ankles," premier presentation of the new Forsyth Players group, at the Forsyth theater. Walter Regan has the leading role, that of a smart, wise-cracking young gigolo who attempts to help the unsophisticated young down-and-outer to fame as a "hoofer." Aileen Meehan, Barton MacLane, Stanley Andrews and Jack Jordon give great performances in the play and one of the finest bits in the entire piece is the comedy characterization of Antoinette Rochte. Don't miss "Loose Ankles!"

Howard.

It is said that the feature picture at the Howard this week is enjoying a most successful run, and many favorable comments have been heard regarding it. Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky are starring in "The Magic Flame," a gorgeous and alluring romance of the screen's most fascinating lovers. The Publix stage show "Iceland Frolics" has also made a decided hit. Little Dorothy Johnston, saxophonist, held over from the "Kiddie Show" of last week has been particularly pleasing.

Metropolitan.

The college athletic coach, that important and popular educational post, is for the first time being given a place on the screen commensurate with its scholastic standards. This is done in Richard Barthelmess' latest triumph, "The Drop Kick," which is playing at the Metropolitan theater. Enrico Leide, and the Metropolitan orchestra, a dandy Hal Roach comedy and the Metropolitan News and Views are other features. Tiffany's latest photoplay production, "Fools of Fashion," will be the feature at the Metropolitan theater next week.

Rialto.

The screen's tallest star will be seen at the Rialto theater the next three days when Gary Cooper, Paramount's new western luminary appears in "Arizona Bound," his first production under his long term contract awarded him for his sterling efforts as a member of the Paramount stock company. "Arizona Bound," was directed by John Waters, famous as the director of Zane Grey pictures, and the feminine lead is played by the "velvet-eyed girl," Betty Jewel.

Ponce de Leon.

John Gilbert, the inimitable star of "The Big Parade," is featured in "Monte Cristo," playing today and tomorrow at the Ponce de Leon theater. And still better, Renee Adoree, who took the co-lead in the "Parade" with Gilbert, is also seen in "Monte Cristo," which is the picturization of the famous Dumas novel of the same name. This film is reissued because of a country-wide demand.

Fairfax.

The screen masterpiece, "Monte Cristo," which has swayed theater audiences the world over, plays at the Fairfax today and tomorrow. John Gilbert enacts the film version of Alexandre Dumas' book superbly, beginning the story with the fiery tempo at which he is best, and subduing with age to masqued calmness. The famous words, "The World is Mine," Gilbert makes ring true.

Tudor.

A new western star flashes across the movie horizon today in his first appearance on an Atlanta screen at the Tudor. The star is young Bob Steele, trained and schooled for western roles, appearing in "The Mojave Kid," the story of a boy who searched for his long lost father, and who matched his wits, speed and strength against grown men. The picture is very thrilling and is excellent entertainment.

Community Theaters.

Tenth Street Theater — Douglas Fairbanks has another trick for all that attend the Tenth Street theater Thursday in "Don Q, Son of Zorro." Doug, as a dashing young hombre with a deadly whip as his weapon, lashes and cuts his way in and out of danger, dashing over walls, taking death-defying leaps all to clear his name in one of the greatest pictures he has ever made.

West End Theater.—Thursday and Friday Greta Nissen and William Collier, Jr., will be co-starred in "The Wanderer," the greatest Biblical story since "The Ten Commandments." The story of a prodigal son who left home to seek adventures in a great city.

Palace Theater.—Today and Friday, "Over the Hills," a story of a mother's trials and tribulations, starring Mary Carr, the renowned mother of the screen, in her greatest role.

GEORGIA BANDMASTERS TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Leaders of municipal, industrial, school and other types of bands will meet Friday, October 21, at the Hotel Dempsey, in Macon, Ga., for the purpose of organizing a permanent Georgia Bandmasters' association, it was learned in Atlanta Wednesday.

J. C. Crews, director of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad Y. M. C. A. band at Waycross, Ga., has issued a call for the meeting, after which definite steps towards the organization will be taken.

An invitation has been extended to all band leaders in the state to attend the meeting in Macon October 21.

100 GEORGIA TECH STUDENTS SEEKING GLEE CLUB PLACES

More than 100 students at Georgia Tech are seeking places on the institution's Glee club, rehearsals for which have begun under the direction of Professor Pinkstaff. Only 45 will be chosen from among this number.

The club's orchestra will be the largest in the history of the organization and will be directed by Frank Roman, author of "Ramblin' Wreck," the college song. A dozen players are candidates for the mandolin club and six soloists are available for the cast. Both classical and popular songs and music will be included in the club's repertoire.

COTTON PICKING MAKES GENERAL GOOD HEADWAY

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—Crop conditions as summarized by the department of agriculture for the week ended yesterday, states that temperatures for the week ranged from moderate in the western to rather high in the eastern portions of the cotton belt, and rainfall was mostly moderate to heavy, except in the northwestern portion. East of the Mississippi river there was slight interruption by rainfall to picking, but this work made generally good progress. In Tennessee bolls opened slowly in many fields, but except in some later sections in the northeastern belt, cotton is mostly open, with picking well advanced. There were further complaints of bolls because of weevil punctures in the piedmont of North Carolina.

West of the Mississippi progress was very good in Arkansas, though bolls opened slowly. In Oklahoma harvest was delayed by rain and wet soil, especially in the central and eastern portions. In Texas weather conditions continued fairly favorable in the west and northwest, but elsewhere too much rain lowered grade, delayed picking and beat out some staple, with insects still active, and prospects for a top crop very poor; late bolls are mostly small and defective.

North Carolina: favorable for harvesting. Condition of cotton shows little change; all mostly open on coastal plain; still complaints of bolls rotting in piedmont due to weevil damage.

Arkansas: progress of cotton fairly good; crop opening slowly and grade damaged some; picking and ginning also delayed.

Alabama: cotton picking practically finished in south and central and nearing completion in more northern counties; ginning well up. Grade generally good, top bloom reported locally in south.

REED OF MISSOURI GETS BIG OVATION

Sedalia, Mo., October 12.—(AP)—United States Senator James A. Reed, who only seven years ago was repudiated by a state democratic convention because of his anti-Wilson utterances, today was acclaimed at a statewide democratic rally and barbecue here as the party's logical presidential standard bearer in 1928.

Senator Reed was given ovation after ovation as he delivered an address denouncing the republican national administration and declaring "the times are ripe and rotten ripe for a change."

The senator's speech was accepted as the opening of a campaign to obtain for the next democratic national convention a Missouri delegation instructed for Reed. Between 10,000 and 15,000 persons, from all sections of the state, gathered in the coliseum at the state fair grounds to hear him speak.

Contrast Strong.

The action of the state democratic committee last night in unanimously indorsing Reed for president and urging him to file again for the senatorship, so he might continue to represent the state if he should not receive the presidential nomination, was in strong contrast to the attitude of his party in 1920. He then was refused the privilege of representing Missouri as a delegate to the democratic national convention and was denounced from one end of the state to another as being no longer a democrat.

Senator Reed declared in his address today that when Warren G. Harding was inaugurated president, "Corrupt and sinister financial conspiracies to all intents and purposes took possession of the government and have ever since exercised a dominant control."

He denounced the foreign debt settlements as schemes forced upon the country by Morgan and Mellon financial interests to enable foreign governments to borrow more money from American bankers by relieving them of the necessity of repaying in full their war obligations to the United States.

Need American Policy.

"What we need," he declared, "is an American policy! What we need is an American administration that thinks only in the terms of America and labors for the interest of our own people. An administration guilty of such transactions as I have described ought to be driven from power and buried in the grave of shame."

In his most dramatic vein, Senator Reed pictured the gathering of alleged conspirators at Washington after Harding's inauguration.

"That conspiracy," he declared, "placed Fall in charge of the department of the interior. The president signed an illegal order turning the oil lands over to the tender mercies of Albert Fall. He (Fall) accepted its bribes, did its bidding and corruptly transferred to it the vast oil reserves of the republic. The scaly hands of the conspirators reached into the navy department and corrupted or deceived certain of its high officers.

Attacks Coolidge.

"The first act of Coolidge was to approve the policies of the Harding administration. A senatorial investigation exposed the infamous oil transactions. In its efforts to ascertain the facts and bring the criminals to book, the senate committee received no assistance from the Coolidge administration.

"Harding appointed and Coolidge continued at the head of the department of justice, Harry M. Daugherty, as vile an insect as ever crawled across the page of time. He consorted with criminals and took as his bedfellow a grafter and bribe taker, who afterwards suicided. As attorney general, Daugherty paralyzed the department of justice so that its arm was not stretched forth to apprehend Fall and his fellow conspirators. Indeed, the secret code of the government was used by a white house employee to keep the malefactors advised.

"While the senate committee under these adverse conditions was laboring to expose the oil land frauds, Coolidge never lifted a hand. He remained as mum and inactive as a Boston oyster stranded on the beach in the month of August.

Mellon Assailed.

"The indignant demand of the senate that the president should compel the resignations of Daugherty and Denby was contemptuously rejected by the president. He publicly stood in their defense and majestically asserted he would not permit his presidential prerogative to be impaired by a presumptuous senate.

"In the face of overwhelming evidence, Daugherty was retained until the blaze of public indignation grew so hot that Coolidge was obliged to backaway from the fire. He then demanded Daugherty's resignation upon an insufficient and immaterial ground, and certified to the integrity of the arch-villain, Daugherty.

"All this occurred when every informed man knew of the gross frauds perpetrated upon the government—frauds which have since been judicially declared by the supreme court of the United States.

"Harding appointed and Coolidge to this day retains Andrew W. Mellon as secretary of the treasury. When Mellon was appointed, the great financial interests no longer exercised a more influence. They moved in and took possession of the fiscal operations of the government."

Harry B. Hawes, junior senator from Missouri, and several other state democratic leaders made addresses lauding Reed. Senator-elect Milliard E. Tydings, of Maryland, indorsed both Reed and Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, for the presidency.

Reed Lauded.

Of Reed, he said: "If the tide of political fortune should place this outstanding son of old Missouri in the white house we may rest assured that the good folks of this land will have no occasion to hang their heads in shame."

Of Ritchie: "In Maryland, he is honored, respected and beloved by all, democrats and republicans, and it is not exaggeration of the facts to say that our people are solidly back of him because of his eminent fitness for the high office of the presidency."

Declaring the republicans must go to the country on the record of the Harding-Coolidge administration, Senator-elect Tydings said:

Coolidge as Cowboy.

"In South Dakota conditions were just twice as bad. Probably the president went up to South Dakota to console the bankrupt farmers with his ten-gallon hat, cowboy chaps and equestrian antics, and to impress upon them the great prosperity of that state."

The only discordant note in the harmony song was a statement issued at St. Louis by Charles M. Hay, a dry leader, who was a candidate for the democratic senatorial nomination in 1920 and has been mentioned as a possible candidate to succeed Reed.

Hay, who was one of Reed's bitterest opponents in 1920, declared: "I disagreed with Reed then and have disagreed with him since on vital domestic and foreign policies and I disagree with him now." Hay said he favored retention of the eighteenth amendment with Reed "announced in speeches in St. Louis in the last campaign that he favored the repeal of the amendment."

'Gimme-a-Sentence' Game

:: NEW WISE CRACKS PROVE SMILES GALORE ::

Is Growing in Interest

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

This fool "Gimme-A-Sentence" game is spreading like whooping cough in a cotton mill. Contributions swamped the desk of the "Gimme" editor Wednesday, coming from many towns out of Atlanta, as well as from this city. Some of the contributions are sent in by executives of big business enterprises, some are written in the scrawling hand of school children, and a number of clever ones were garnered in the crop Wednesday.

Today we'll lead off with one submitted by Henry A. Courtney. He selected the word "diadem" for his crazy sentence. The sentence follows: "People who drink moonshine liquor diadem sight quicker than those who don't." If Courtney springs another one like that he won't last long himself.

Reggie Fears, Station C, Box 51, Atlanta, selected the word "cauterize" for his sentence, which is: "The minute I cauterize I knew s'e had fell for me."

We don't know what Reggie Fears but we know what he'll get if he does that one more time.

Here's a Hot One.

The "Gimme-A-Sentence" game is simple and is being conducted for fun purposes only. It is not a trick advertising scheme or anything of that type, but is designed to raise a laugh or two. So think up something clever or foolish and send it in to the "Gimme-A-Sentence" editor of The Constitution and you may see your name in print.

From Griffin, Ga., Malcolm Williamson sent in a sentence making a play on three words, "defense, defeat and detail," as follows: "When the rabbit jumped over defense, defeat went over before detail."

What a boon the "Gimme" game must be for people who have to live in Griffin.

Why Jack, you naughty boy, we'll tell Mayor Ragsdale on you.

J. F. Ahern, cashier of the Southern railway offices, told of the sentence made by the little negro boy after the teacher had placed the words "delight" and "depot" on the blackboard. The boy's sentence was as follows: "My mamma told me to put cut de-light and put de-pot under de bed."

Now see here, Ahern, if you are going to play rough we won't let you play any more.

Come on in with the contributions, folks! The water's fine.

Family Welfare Society

Is Praised by Mrs. Ottley

Declaring that the Atlanta Community Chest's value to Atlanta is not adequately realized by the majority of its citizens, Mrs. John K. Ottley, prominent Atlanta clubwoman and society leader, Wednesday praised the chest for its benefits in constructive helpfulness.

"I am especially interested in one branch of the work accomplished under the Community Chest, and that is the Family Welfare society," Mrs. Ottley said. "I am more familiar with the work of this worthy agency than any other because I am constantly coming in contact with cases that I refer to it for aid."

"Rarely a month goes by that some unfortunate boy, girl or woman does not come to me for help. These people need more help than the handing out of a meal to them and giving them perhaps some old clothes. They need moral help and guidance to right living. Their cases bear investigation. The Family Welfare society does just this sort of thing. When a case is given to it the society begins with a systematic investigation into the home life of the party involved; the causes for downfall or failure to make a living in life and then renders aid accordingly."

"Often when a boy is brought to my attention who is down and out, unable to keep up his studies in school; unable to work to help out the family budget, and who shows tendencies towards a criminal life, I send him to the Family Welfare society. The society investigates, in a diplomatic way, and sometimes find this boy's physical conditon is responsible for all his troubles. He has bad teeth or he is undernourished. This defect is corrected through the agency and the boy is then put on the right track to happiness and right living."

Many instances of girls who apply personally to Mrs. Ottley for aid were cited by her and in each case she pointed out the advantage of sending them to the Family Welfare society, where they are given the kind of aid that will have lasting rather than temporary results.

"Through the Family Welfare society girls who have through various misfortunes fallen from the right path of society are given moral training and encouragement that puts them on the way to the right kind of living and gives them the chance to make good again," she said.

Ringling Advertising Crews Busy in Atlanta Wednesday

"Greatest Show on Earth" is to come to Atlanta to exhibit both afternoon and night on Wednesday, October 26.

Can't be any mistake about it. The ever-welcome announcement was brought to local juveniles and grown-ups today by an army of bill posters who, loaded with paste, brushes and marvelous picture posters descended on the town to herald the coming of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus combined.

Fifty of these advertising men arrived on an all-steel 80-foot Pullman. Under the direction of the veteran car manager, Colonel George Goodhart, they are turning empty shop windows into boydom's favorite art galleries, rejuvenating "dead" walls with wonder-working pictures of "Pawah, the Sacred White Elephant of Burma" and renewing many a prosaic billboard with the fair faces and furious feats of pretty ladies a-horseback.

First of Kind Here.

The advance press agent is likewise here with the assurance that the posters do not begin to tell the story. He states that the big show of 1927 is the final word in stupendous entertainment. Pawah, the sacred white elephant is but the foremost of "many mighty features." He is the first genuine one of his kind to visit America and the present is to be his only tour of this country, the Ringlings having undertaken to return him to Burma before the snow flies.

Acts of stupendous size and scope predominate in the 700-foot long main tent that will house the "Greatest Show on Earth" when it exhibits here. Of the 43 elephants of common breed and color, 32 will be seen performing in unison on the ascending levels of a gigantic pedestal. On this they drill or dance while the topmost pachyderm executes the latest "black bottom" steps at the pinnacle of the pedestal, 20 feet above the ground. Prior to this formation the big fellows are seen in five herds doing stunts in as many separate rings.

Ninety in Animal Act.

On still another pedestal structure a unique group of 90 zebras, camels, stallions and Shetland ponies perform at one time. This strangely mixed company run, march and drill clockwise and counter-clockwise on a succession of elevations. Of the show's nine hundred horses, almost half are trained. These include five troupes of liberty horses. Two hundred others appear at one time in hippodrome track maneuvers, each ridden by an expert in brilliant costume.

Of the show's human personnel of 1,600 people, more than 800 number the world's foremost aerialists, bareback equestrians, highwire artists, ground and lofty gymnasts and internationally famed athletes. These are presented in almost solid formation in keeping with the new plan of distributing an equal number of features over the entire length of the big-top. One hundred double-length railroad cars are used to transport the big new show of 1927. And juveniles will be delighted to learn that the arrival of 20 European clowns has increased the fun-makers to an even hundred.

CLOWER IS NAMED HEAD OF STUDENT BODY AT EMORY

Emory University, Ga., October 12. (Special.)—Sandy Clower, of Morven, Ga., tonight was named president of the Emory student body by the Student Activities council, of which he also automatically becomes chairman. He defeated D. A. Lockmiller, of Athens, Tenn., by a vote of 10 to 6. The honor is one of the highest that comes to a student here.

George Patterson, of Tallassee, Ala., was unanimously elected vice president and Wallace Alston, of Decatur, was named secretary and treasurer over Melvin Peavy, of Vienna.

The Student Activities council is composed of three representative students from each of the six departmental schools of Emory, law, theology, medicine, liberal arts, business administration and graduate school.

"WOOF" FREES HIM.

Jury Decides Insult Grounds for Negro Homicide.

"Woofing" became grounds for justifiable homicide in Atlanta Thursday when a jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of George Bryant, negro, charged with the murder of another negro, John Harris.

"He 'woofed' me and I shot him," said Bryant on the stand.

Questioned as to the exact nature of "woofing," Bryant explained that at a meeting of the A. M. E. church deacons, during which finances were the subject of discussion, an altercation arose between Harris and himself, in the course of which Harris heartily "cussed" him, winding up the tirade with the "insult unforgivable." This, he said, constituted "woofing."

After a short deliberation the jury returned the verdict, freeing him.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Gettysburg—The Battle Ends. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AFTER CHECKING THE DARING CHARGE OF THE CONFEDERATES UPON CEMETERY RIDGE, THE FEDERALS SWARMED AROUND PICKETT, ATTACKING ON ALL SIDES, AND DROVE THE BROKEN FRAGMENTS OF HIS FORCE BACK DOWN THE SLOPE.

AS THE SHATTERED REMNANTS OF PICKETT'S AND PETTIGREW'S COMMANDS REACHED THEIR OWN LINES, GEN. LEE RODE ALONG THE COLUMN, PRAISING THEM FOR THE GALLANTRY THEY HAD DISPLAYED. LEE EXPECTED A DETERMINED COUNTER-CHARGE WOULD BE THE NEXT MOVE OF THE FEDERALS, AND PREPARED TO MEET IT, BUT MEADE'S PLANS WERE DEFENSIVE AND THE LOOKED-FOR ATTACK DID NOT COME.

PICKETT'S CHARGE WAS THE CLIMAX OF THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG, AND THE END OF LEE'S HOPES OF A SUCCESSFUL INVASION OF THE NORTH. IN HAVING FAILED TO DISLODGE THE FEDERALS ON THE RIDGE, HE ABANDONED HIS OFFENSIVE TACTICS AND DREW HIS FORCES BACK TO A STRONG DEFENSIVE LINE EXTENDING ALONG SEMINARY RIDGE.

LEE WAS DEEPLY GRIEVED OVER THE LOSS OF SO MANY OF HIS BRAVE MEN AND BLAMED NO ONE BUT HIMSELF FOR THE FAILURE OF THE FINAL ASSAULT. HAVING FAILED TO DISLODGE THE FEDERALS ON THE RIDGE, HE ABANDONED HIS OFFENSIVE TACTICS AND DREW HIS FORCES BACK TO A STRONG DEFENSIVE LINE EXTENDING ALONG SEMINARY RIDGE.

CLIFF DWELLERS?
BUY A HOME and become a citizen instead of a sojourner. A child has a right to be born in its own home. Few great men were born in rented apartments. Children have a right to a yard and a place to play. You hear the happy shouts of children where people own their homes. Dogs barking is about the only sound you hear around apartments. Only cowards (financial cowards) are afraid of debt. It is better to pay $50 per month on your home, than to pay it as rent, which pays off the debt on the house you do not own. Look at those Hopkins bungalows on Barnett street, at Linwood place; they are different. Your notes will run four or five years, (not ten or fifteen) and you pay the balance when it suits you. Barnett street is in the fashionable Linwood avenue section, three blocks south of Ponce de Leon avenue. They will rent for Sixty Dollars per month. We will sell you one for $40 to $50 per month.

BOLT HITS OPERATOR.

Lightning Knocks Police Switchboard Man Several Feet.

As he was plugging in a call box number Wednesday noon, Douglas Poole, switchboard operator at police headquarters was knocked several feet by a bolt of lightning which struck a call box at Lee and Campbellton road. He revived quickly.

The lightning caused the box number to flash on at headquarters and while Poole was plugging in, another bolt knocked him backward. A large number of call boxes on the south side were knocked out of commission by the lightning.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR MRS. G. C. ELFE

Funeral services for Mrs. Glover C. Elfe, 56, who died early Wednesday at Grady hospital from the effects of poisoning, according to the report of physicians, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Elfe, who until recently resided at 510 Ponce de Leon avenue with her husband, G. C. Elfe, a traveling salesman, was said to have been in failing health for about two years. Besides her husband, she is survived by a brother, George St. Julian Laurey, of Rock Hill, S. C.

Notable officials of the American Railway Express company from nearly all southern states east of the Mississippi river assembled in Atlanta Wednesday and heard Robert E. M. Cowie, of New York, president of the company, discuss the future of commercial aviation as it affects express transportation. Mr. Cowie appeared as principal speaker on the first forum luncheon of the chamber of commerce handled by the new forum committee, of which James A. Hollomon, associate editor of The Constitution, is chairman.

Mr. Cowie predicted that commercial aviation will provide a new speedy service that modern commerce demands but said progress along this line must necessarily be slow because of the stupendous task of arranging details for handling packages in large numbers for quick transportation by air routes. He said he expected to sign contracts soon, however, which would place the city of Atlanta on an air-express line and said this would come when a properly-equipped airport is provided and when the people of the city become alive to the necessity of giving the new enterprise proper encouragement and support.

"You people here must establish yourselves so that you will be in a position to handle the new service when it comes," Mr. Cowie said.

Officials Presented.

Prior to the speech of Mr. Cowie, the visitors to Atlanta were presented to the forum by William G. Smith, of Atlanta, vice president of the American Railway and Express company. Brief introductory speeches were made by Robert C. Alston, attorney for the company, and Chairman Hollomon. Some of the most prominent officials of the company serving in the southeastern states were present and each was personally presented. The hall at the chamber of commerce was packed to capacity for the first luncheon although a heavy rain was falling when it began.

Mr. Cowie told of experiments his company has conducted in operating several express lines by air. He said the company now has such lines in operation between Boston and New York, New York and Chicago, Chicago and Dallas, Texas, Chicago and San Francisco and between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles.

"Commercial aviation is a hazardous business, but it is not as hazardous as taking a taxicab trip from one of Atlanta's railway stations to another," Mr. Cowie said. "Before the year is out more than 7,000,000 miles of commercial lines will have been flown and in all this distance there has been but one accident. Men in the commercial service are handpicked. They are not up in the air to do nose dives and circus stunts. We have one man in this service who has 160,000 miles to his credit and he has not been one second late on any of his trips. The next great trend of transportation is to the air."

Progress of Express.

Mr. Cowie reviewed progress of express transportation since it first began 90 years ago at Boston. He told of the first transportation by haversack on the shoulders of one man, the later use of the stage coach, the early days of the railroad, down to the present day, when special trains are operated from New York to San Francisco and from New York to Florida carrying nothing but express.

"Commerce demands the swiftest means of transportation," he said. "We have been watching the development of air navigation for several years. There have been many improvements made recently. It was my pleasure to sign the first contract for air express, and we now have five of these lines. We have been besieged by offers from various companies for more lines, but we will not sign any additional contracts until we see if the present lines are successful. It is up to the business men to find out for themselves if they can use this service successfully or whether they have simply been talking hysterically. Commercial aviation will eventually come, with express ranking first, mail lines second and passenger lines third. You must be equipped to handle it, and the closer to the heart of a city the air port is located the better. No living man can predict the extent to which commercial aviation can be developed in the next year or two. We must crawl before we can walk, and we must remember that the present vast service of the country is less than 100 years old."

Among officials who attended the luncheon were the following:

LABOR MEN DISCUSS SCHOOL BUILDING PLAN

Vigorous discussion of the school construction program under the municipal bond issue, with particular reference to the employment of architects, constituted a feature of the meeting of the Atlanta Federation of Trades Wednesday night at the Labor Temple.

A criticism of the action of the municipal authorities in employing G. Lloyd Preacher as architect in charge of the school building program drew vigorous replies from various delegates, including Claude Ashley and Robert E. Gann, both of whom are members of the aldermanic board. Both aldermen expressed entire satisfaction with Mr. Preacher's service to the city now and heretofore, declaring that he had shown himself thoroughly capable as an architect and fair in his dealings with organized labor.

No action was taken by the federation relative to the architectural matter, since the discussion did not originate from introduction of a resolution or proposal to put the central body on record.

By an overwhelming vote the federation adopted a resolution opposing the placing of Atlanta in the eastern time zone.

Some months ago the federation expressed itself as favoring eastern time, but the authors of the resolution adopted Wednesday night, as well as various delegates who spoke and voted for its passage, pointed out that the sentiment of the various organizations affiliated with the central body has changed since the original time changes proposition was introduced. A motion rescinding the previous action of the federation was passed and the resolution opposing eastern time was adopted after considerable discussion.

FUNERAL AT CANON FOR J. H. DUNCAN, PROMINENT CITIZEN

Canon, Ga., October 12.—(Special.) Funeral services were held yesterday for J. H. Duncan, 73, who died at his home here after being in declining health for one year. The services were held at the home and were conducted by Rev. W. A. Duncan, pastor of the Hartwell Baptist church. The funeral was largely attended.

Mr. Duncan was a well-known citizen and business man, being especially active in the republican organization of the state. He was a member of the republican state central committee and was influential in governmental appointments. More than half a century ago Mr. Duncan joined the old Canon Baptist church. He and his wife celebrated their golden wedding in 1925.

He is survived by his widow, a daughter of the late William F. Bowers, and five children, Mrs. L. H. Ridgeway, of Bowersville; Mrs. Fred S. White, of Hartwell; Miss Dewey Duncan, of Atlanta; Miss Sallie Claud Duncan, of Canon, and H. C. Duncan, of Atlanta. Two children, W. A. Duncan, of Bremen, and Mrs. O. L. Agnew, of Canon, recently preceded him to the grave.

SPAIN ARRESTS 500 FOR PLOTS AGAINST RIVERA

Hendaye, France-Spanish Frontier, October 12.—(AP)—Five hundred persons are under arrest in Spain in connection with the recent discovery of a revolutionary conspiracy against the Primo de Rivera government. The arrests centered in Madrid, Barcelona and Bilbao. Several officers are numbered among the alleged conspirators.

At the same time preparations to call a general strike were halted by the police. The strike was alleged to have been hatched at Bilbao by followerers of Indalecio Prieto, extreme socialist leader.

MRS. F. P. HENRY PASSES AT CARL

Winder, Ga., October 12.—Mrs. F. P. Henry, one of the oldest women of Barrow county, died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur J. Durham, at Carl, in the upper part of the county, following an illness of several weeks. Born in 1836, she was a native of Jackson county and lived in that county until a few years ago when she made her home with her daughter. For fifty years she was a member of the Methodist church and always took an active interest in church affairs.

Her body was carried to Dry Pond church, in Jackson county, Wednesday afternoon for funeral and interment at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Henry is survived by four children, Mrs. A. J. Durham, Carl, Ga.; T. A. Henry, Bradentown, Fla.; W. E. Henry, Orlando, Fla., and G. W. Henry, Greenville, S. C., and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Three Negroes Die in Electric Chair on Friday

Milledgeville, Ga., October 12.—(AP) Three negroes, Wilmer Galloway, 26; Mose Parker, 40, and Lee Chamblee, 35, will die in the electric chair here Friday between the hours of 11 and 1 o'clock, according to Warden J. M. Burke, who will supervise the electrocutions. All three have been convicted of murder.

Galloway was given the death sentence after he was convicted in the Bibb superior court, September 13, of slaying W. T. Andrews, of Dodge county, July 24.

Andrews at the time he met his death was on his way to Florida to visit relatives of his wife, who was accompanying him on his trip. The slaying occurred late at night. Mose Parker, another of the trio to go to the chair Friday, was convicted of shooting his daughter and niece to death in June, 1926, in Pike county, near Zebulon. Parker at the time was endeavoring to shoot his wife who had separated from him.

When Lee Chamblee, the third condemned negro, enters the death chair, he will be exchanging his life for five cents. Chamblee was convicted in the Bartow superior court of killing another negro in November, 1924, after a fight ensued between the two, while a crap game was in progress. The argument arose over the ownership of a five-cent piece.

All three of the condemned negroes had clemency pleas before Governor L. G. Hardman, which were denied.

CANCER DEATH RATE SHOWS STEADY GAIN

New York, October 12.—(AP)—The death rate from cancer in the United States is steadily mounting. The Spectator, insurance journal, says in its issue today.

Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance company, author of The Spectator article, attributes the increasing toll from cancer to the "profound alterations in our modern mode of living as compared or contrasted with the more natural mode of living in former years."

This conclusion Mr. Hoffman maintained is "emphasized by a study of cancer in native races which almost invariably yields evidence to the effect that malignant diseases among primitive people are exceedingly rare in contrast to the extraordinary frequency among the more highly civilized races."

The rate in 23 American cities increased from 74.5 per 100,000 in 1906 to 92.3 in 1916 and 114.5 per 100,000 in 1926.

The cancer record for 1926 "is a dismal indictment of the failure of modern effort to check the ravages of this dreadful affliction," Mr. Hoffman writes. "It is amazing to find that most of the cities now have rates in excess of 100 per 100,000 while 20 years ago this was exceedingly rare in the experience of our American mortality."

The eight cities with the highest local cancer death rates, not corrected for age and sex or resident factors, are: Albany, N. Y., 169.3; Chelsea, Mass., 157.7; Pasadena, Calif., 176.4; Portland, Maine, 167.5; San Diego, Calif., 164.5; San Francisco, 159.1; Topeka, Kan., 155.8; and Spokane, Wash., 153.2.

"The enormous sums of money which have been expended on cancer research seem to have yielded thus far not a fragment of evidence of real value toward control and cure of the disease," the article states. "The more thoroughly one is familiar with the situation and the more distinterested one is regarding methods to be followed, the more one becomes convinced of the utter futility of most of the methods at present followed."

Confederate Tag Day Saturday Will Defray Expenses to Convention

Saturday will be Confederate tag day in Atlanta. The proceeds of the sale of the tags will go toward defraying the railroad fare and expenses of the more than 100 veterans to the state reunion to be held in Thomasville, Ga., October 25 and 26.

Friday afternoon between 2:30 and 5 o'clock volunteers who will aid in the sale of the tags are requested to meet at the committee headquarters in the Peachtree Arcade, in rooms 9 and 11. At this time the group of women working under the auspices of the Atlanta camp, No. 159, U. C. V., will complete the plans for the tag day.

The tags will be sold throughout the downtown sections and will bear a portrait of the southland's matchless leader, General Robert E. Lee.

E. L. HARDING HEADS BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

E. L. Harding, a layman of Druid Hills Baptist church, was reelected moderator at the annual election of officers of the Atlanta Baptist association, which is in session at the West End Baptist church on Lee street, near Gordon. Other officers elected are A. W. Reeves, of Grant Park church, vice moderator; H. E. Moody, clerk; F. S. Etheridge, treasurer, and J. M. Harrison, auditor.

Among the outstanding talks of the day were Louie D. Newton, on "Education"; E. E. Ragsdale, of Mercer university, and President Furry, of Shorter college, Rome, Ga.

On recommendation of Dr. C. W. Daniel, Sylvester church, Calvary Baptist and Stewart Avenue Baptist churches, were admitted into the association, making a total of 68 churches in the Atlanta association. It is one of the largest of its kind in the south and with the exception of the old Philadelphia association, the largest in the world.

A number of changes have been made in the churches of the association during the past year, the records show. Among the churches that made changes were: Antioch, no pastor; Ben Hill, W. M. Suttles; Buckhead, Weston Bruner; Carey Park, J. E. Haney; East Point Second, Y. A. Brown; East Point First, Duncan; Center Hill, W. F. Huskey; Cascade, L. M. Jones; Central, R. C. Huston; East Side Tabernacle, R. H. Lamkin; Immanuel, J. P. Glore; Jackson Hill, Ronald C. Young; Mount Parnia, C. C. Boynton; North Side Park, G. W. Forrest; Piedmont, M. B. Wilson; Piedmont Heights, none; Ponders Avenue, J. F. Edens; South Decatur, J. H. Cowan; South Whiteford Avenue, Hugh Latimer; West Merrits Avenue, G. W. Cox; Woodward Avenue, L. E. Smith; Third, J. C. Collum.

Safety Film Creates Interest When Shown In Georgia Towns

Waycross, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—The safety film "Gambling With Death," has been shown in Fitzgerald, Douglas and Waycross during the past week, and is booked for Manchester Saturday and Sunday.

The film is being shown under the auspices of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad safety committee and the Waycross Y. M. C. A. It was first shown at a mass meeting here last week, and later to the students of the Waycross high school.

The picture was shown Sunday in Fitzgerald before employes of the A., B. and C. railroad, C. C. Shedd, secretary of the Waycross Y. M. C. A., and Judge H. D. Reed, of the Waycross judicial circuit, delivering addresses on "Safety." The picture was shown in Douglas Tuesday, with Judge Reed as speaker. Mr. Shedd will speak in Manchester Saturday and Sunday.

LONG ISLAND INN, 200 YEARS OLD, RAZED BY BLAZE

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Great Neck, L. I., October 12.—Red Lion Inn, 200-year-old building, used as a supply depot during the revolutionary war, was destroyed by fire at Success village, near Great Neck, early this morning. The loss was $75,000.

Joseph Cocks, Nassau county policeman, rushed into the burning building and saved $25,000 worth of jewelry belonging to the manager's wife, Mrs. Lillian Hargrave. Recently the old inn was a favorite rendezvous for New York theatrical folk.

Dies on Street.

Cincinnati, October 12.—(AP)—John Adam Reid, of Portland, Oregon, representing the big South Fork Lumber company, of Oneida, Tenn., died in the arms of a patrolman after he was stricken with a heart attack while walking on the streets here today.

GREENSBORO RECORD SOLD; CHANGES MADE

Greensboro, N. C., October 12.—(AP) Sale of the entire capital stock of the Greensboro Daily Record to John Stewart Bryan, publisher of the Richmond News-Leader, and S. E. Thomason, publisher of the Tampa Tribune, was announced here today. The price was not given.

The new owners took over operation of the Record today and announced the appointment of Raymond Hahne, formerly of the Chicago Tribune, as general manager to succeed Major Edney Ridge.

Thomason will be publisher. There was no announcement as to who would succeed Arthur H. Taylor, the editor, who retires.

Announcement of the sale was made by Julian Price, president of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, former owner, who said in a statement this afternoon that while several offers had been made for the property, he had waited to find buyers who would be helpful in the upbuilding of the city and that he wanted to congratulate the city that Bryan and Thomason had decided to buy here.

Bryan and Thomason are joint owners of the Tampa Tribune, and the former is president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, having succeeded Thomason in that post last year.

KINGSLAND RATIFIES NEW CITY CHARTER

Waycross, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—The voters of Kingsland, by a vote of 54 to 39, have ratified the new charter passed by the last legislature. The people in Kingsland believe that the opening of the Coastal highway means many new enterprises for this little city.
